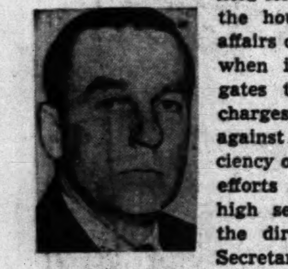
ORDER PUBLIC INQUIRY ON DUD SHELLS IN NAVY

Admiral Will Face Agronsky Charges.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—A hearing open to press and public will be held tomorrow by the house naval affairs committee when it investigates the latest charges leveled against the efficiency of our war efforts on the high seas under the direction of Secretary Frank Knox and the navy's high command.



Rear Adm. Blandy.

The new accusations were made Saturday night by Martin Agronsky, National Broadcasting company correspondent, in a broadcast from Sydney, Australia.

He said a navy lieutenant told him that anti-aircraft ammunition on an American warship convoying American troopships to Java was 11 or 12 years old and only 30 per cent efficient.

Unable to Get Range.

He quoted the lieutenant as saying that as a result it was impossible for American naval gunners, using this defective ammunition, to get the range of attacking Japanese airplanes because "the bursts were too ununiform to enable the gunners to work out a fire pattern."

Apprised of these charges, the navy department ordered its customary inquiry, which is conducted in secret and by naval officials. Rear Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the navy bureau of ordnance, promised a "thoro investigation."

Eventually, in these cases, a report is made public in which the secretary of the navy decides how much the public is entitled to know.

Admiral to Be Quizzed.

In this case, however, congress, thru the naval affairs committee, decided that it was time to hold an open hearing. Adm. Blandy was summoned to appear and submit himself to questioning by committee members.

The admiral still may decline to answer queries on the ground that the information would be of value to the enemy, but committee members noted that a precedent has been set by congress which in the future may permit the public to know more about the progress of the war program.

Adm. Blandy said the navy has received no official report of the supposed defective ammunition.

"Not Likely," Says Blandy.

Asked whether it would be possible for anti-aircraft ammunition to deteriorate as much as 70 per cent in 11 or 12 years, rendering it only 30 per cent effective, as charged in the broadcast, Blandy said:

"It is possible, but it is not likely. The effectiveness of ammunition depends to a large extent on storage conditions. Great care is exercised by the navy to detect any deterioration. For instance, daily records of temperature in the ammunition magazines aboard warships are kept. The navy has on hand at this time some ammunition that was made 20 years ago. It is just as good today as the day it was made."

Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, said it was important to clear up the matter of deteriorated ammunition immediately.

Must Have Best: Vinson.

"It goes without saying," Vinson said, "that our navy must have the best ammunition that money can buy. Otherwise we can't kill the Japs and our other enemies. If it is found that any of our ammunition has deteriorated, it must be replaced at once."

Rear Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of the bureau of navigation, appeared before the committee today. Vinson refused to comment when asked whether Jacobs was questioned about Walter Winchell's radio and gossip column activities while Winchell is on active duty as a lieutenant commander in the navy.

Secretary Knox had referred the

F.D.R. Reports to Country on State of War

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Conceding grievous reverses to American arms up to date President Roosevelt in his Washington birthday radio "fireside chat" tonight asserted that the war with Japan is being fought as planned and will be won by the process of attrition of the enemy.

Altho more losses are to be expected before the turn of the tide the President, addressing the world on behalf of the United States, asserted that the united nations are committed to the destruction of the militarist régimes of Japan and Germany and will regain the ground lost.

The President disclosed that we already have "a large number of bombers and pursuit planes, manned by American pilots" and "thousands of American troops" in the thick of the battle in the southwest Pacific.

Calls Production First Job.

"Soon we, and not our enemies," said Mr. Roosevelt, "will have the offensive; we, not they, will win the final battles, and we, not they, will make the final peace."

To accomplish this colossal task our first job, said the President, is to produce the armament that will give us not a slight but an overwhelming superiority on the seas and in the air. A survey of progress since Jan. 6, when he proclaimed the goals of victory production, convinced him that the object will be attained on schedule. These goals were 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 planes next year and commensurate production of other arms.

Announces a Program.

To avoid any slowdown of production Mr. Roosevelt enunciated this program of no strikes and of sacrifices to be subscribed to by every American:

"1. We shall not stop work for a single day. If any dispute arises we shall keep on working while the dispute is solved by mediation, conciliation, or arbitration—until the war is won.

"2. We shall not demand special gains or special privileges or advantages for any one group or occupation.

"3. We shall give up conveniences and modify the routine of our lives if our country asks us to do so. We will do it cheerfully, remembering that the common enemy seeks to destroy every home and every freedom in every part of our land."

Must Hunt Enemy, He Says.

The President spurned all urgings to bring our ships and planes back from overseas and concentrate on home defense. He defended the dispersion of our forces thruout the world as necessary to circumvent the axis plan to separate the allies on the principle of "divide and conquer."

We fight at great distances, he said, because that is where our enemies are. We must strike them wherever we can meet them even if compelled to yield ground temporarily. But, he asserted, our forces are taking a heavy toll of the enemy every day.

The President hotly denied that the Pearl Harbor disaster had made pos-

Sugar Registration Basis for Other Permits.

Registration for the first war ration books some time next month will be a virtual census of the city's population, involving every man, woman, and child, Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan rationing administrator, indicated yesterday after receipts of sample registration forms and sugar ration books.

A test was made by Mulcahy and Oscar F. Hewitt, commission of public works, of the time required to fill out the registration forms. About 10 to 15 minutes will be average, they found, which means that more than 25,000 persons, working eight hours a day for four days, will be required to complete the task of registering the city's 3,396,808 inhabitants.

Basis of Other Permits.

"The documents received," Mulcahy said, "show clearly that the registration soon to be conducted is a registration for all materials and supplies which may be rationed. In a word, the approaching registration will be the basis of issuing permits not only for sugar, but for anything else which may later by rationed."

The sugar allowance is expected to be three-fourths of a pound a person a week.

Every person in the city must be registered to receive a ration book, Mulcahy said. Under tentative plans, it is believed, the head of the family will be permitted to give information for each of its members at the time of registration.

Information to Be Given.

Those registering will be required to give the following information:

1. First, middle, and last names, address, city, county, and state.
2. Height in feet and inches, weight, color of eyes and hair, age and sex.
3. Relationship to each member of the family such as father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter, cousin.
4. Number of persons in the family.
5. Amount of white or brown sugar in any form which is owned by the family unit.
6. Signature of registrant.

The registration is to be held in schools and courthouses.

Lawyer's Love Life Slaying Is Told at Trial of Woman

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 23.—Every Bloomington resident who could crowd into the courtroom heard today the story all Bloomington has been awaiting—the official account of how Charles O. Mattingly was shot to death in the city's most celebrated love triangle.

The shot by shot account came from Mrs. Nellie Nickas, thru whose kitchen screen five bullets brought death to the debonair Mattingly last July 5.

The listeners conceded that Mrs. Nickas was well qualified to recount the shooting, since one of the bullets came past her face so close, she said, that she could feel it burn, presumably after it had passed thru Mattingly's body.

Widow Weeps in Court.

The courtroom fans saw drama, as well as heard it. They watched Mattingly's youthful, big eyed widow weep upon the heart shaped pink and white neckpiece which fell down over her blue coat as if it might have been an enormous valentine. They saw Mrs. Caroline Payne, the woman on trial for Mattingly's murder, listen collectedly to the blunt testimony and prompt her attorneys.

Moreover, the spectators heard the lawyers trace the entire history of Mattingly and Mrs. Payne's 17 year romance in Bloomington. It began when Mattingly came to town to study law at Indiana university. It ended when Mattingly, risen to counsel for the Indiana Public Service commission and a place in politics in which he is said to have won the sponsorship of Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security administrator, was shot down before the eyes of the bride for whom he forsook Mrs. Payne.

Wears Black and White.

Mrs. Payne, who is 44 years old, has been the business manager of a Bloomington newspaper for years. Tall, with dark hair and flashing eyes, she came to the Monroe county Circuit court today in a black dress with small white squares.

Mrs. Nickas and her husband, Gus, were entertaining the Mattinglys with a sandwich lunch when Mattingly was shot. She and her husband were friends of Mattingly, who had brought his bride, Lurayne, to town from their home in Indianapolis for the first time since their wedding.

Mrs. Nickas' testimony came shortly after Dr. R. A. De Motte, acting coroner when Mattingly was killed, had told of Mattingly's dying moments. Asked by Prosecuting Attorney Sylvan Tackitt to tell what had happened in those moments, De Motte replied that he asked Mattingly:

"Any idea who shot you?"

"Yes. Caroline Payne," he said Mattingly answered.

H. W. Cooper, a jeweler Mrs. Payne knew, testified that she telephoned him shortly before the shooting, saying:

"This is Payne. Is my better half in town?"

No Witnesses to Firing.

There were no eye witnesses to the firing of the shots. Joseph Koontz, who was in a gasoline station near the scene, testified that he saw Mrs. Payne in the station telephoning soon after the shooting. Other witnesses testified that they saw a woman whose description resembles that of Mrs. Payne in the neighborhood. A taxicab driver, Gerald Carr, testified that he drove a woman from Mrs. Payne's home to the vicinity about the time of the shooting and later drove this woman back to Mrs. Payne's home.

Mrs. Payne is pleading both not guilty and insanity. Her attorney, Q. Austin East ["Q" to Bloomington] told the jury in his opening statement today that she had a mental blackout the day of the killing when Mattingly and his bride drove past the Payne home and the bride giggled and then turned to Mattingly.

East pictured Mrs. Payne as a poor Monroe county farm girl, motherless since she was 5 years old, who was, as he said, kicked from pillar to post.

Robert F. McCrea, youthful deputy prosecutor, said it was just the other way around, in the state's opening statement. He said that Mattingly was a country boy from the coal mines of Jasonville, Ind., who fell under the influence of a business woman of position and prestige.

ENEMY U-BOAT SENDS MANY SHOTS INTO OIL FIELDS NEAR SANTA BARBARA

Piece of Refinery Equipment Is Struck, but No Casualties Are Reported; Entire Area Is Blacked Out.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23 (Special).—An enemy submarine appeared off Santa Barbara in the twilight about 7:15 tonight and pumped from 15 to 25 shells into the heart of the Elwood oil fields. Only slight damage and no casualties were reported. Elwood is about 12 miles west of Santa Barbara.

An immediate blackout was ordered in Santa Barbara, and in Los Angeles, 98 miles away, all radio stations were ordered off the air at 7:52 p. m., Pacific war time.

The Elwood oil fields are located right on the beach front.

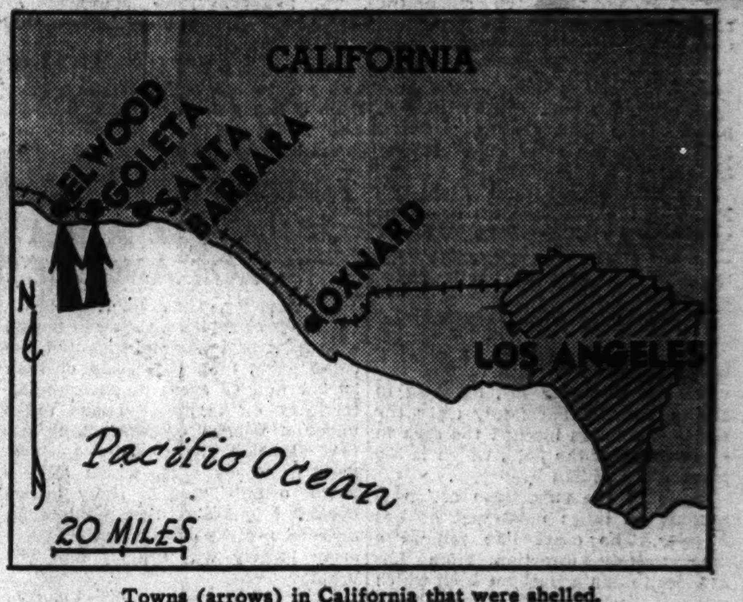
The shelling started shortly after President Roosevelt began his address to the nation, but radios did not go off the air until he had finished.

Earlier in the day Stephen Early, secretary to the President, said Japanese short wave propaganda stations were attempting to sabotage Mr. Roosevelt's speech in advance.

'Too Busy Dodging Shells' to Talk.

One source said that two submarines stood an undetermined distance off the beach and pumped shells in both Goleta, a small town about eight miles west of Santa Barbara, and in the Elwood oil fields. Eight shells were fired at each point this source said.

Length of the shelling action along with the number of shots fired varied. Some said the shelling lasted five minutes, others 20. Some witnesses placed the number of shells fired at 15, others as high as 25.



Towns (arrows) in California that were shelled.

Asked by police about damage, the manager of the refinery, who reported the incident, replied:

"I don't know. I'm too busy dodging shells."

At Los Angeles L. L. Aubert, president of the Bankline Oil company, which owns the refinery in the field, said there was practically no damage and only one piece of equipment was hit. He declined to say what the equipment was.

Fired at Regular Intervals.

Lawrence Wheeler, proprietor of Wheeler's inn, situated on highway 101 in the very midst of the Elwood oil field, gave a graphic account of the shelling.

"It started about 7:15," he said. "I know it was about that time because we were serving dinner to customers and listening to the President's speech, and he was about half way thru.

"Suddenly we heard a loud report, followed in a few seconds by another, another. Some soldiers, who were in my place, said it probably was just target practice.

"We heard, a bit later, that the oil fields were being shelled. I went outside and walked over to a point from whence I could see the ocean. It looked like a submarine, about a mile offshore, cruising slowly down the coast and firing at regular intervals.

"I could see the flashes as the gun went off.

Aimed at Absorption Plant.

"The sub, or whatever it was, seemed to be aiming at the Barnsdall Oil company's main absorption plant, located almost on the beach.

"They missed with all their shots at this plant, tho some of the shells landed awfully close, throwing up geysers of dirt and sand near the building.

"One shell hit a well and blew the pumping plant and derrick to bits. That was the only real damage they did.

"There must have been 20 or 25 men working in the field at the time and nobody was injured.

"One of their shots whistled over my inn, which is a good mile from the shore line, and burst up the canyon on the Hollister estate across the highway.

"We notified the sheriff's office and they said planes would be here in 10 minutes, but we never heard any planes.

"It seemed to me as if the enemy vessel was firing a 5 or 6 inch gun. Their shooting wasn't very good, because that absorption

NEWS OF MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

American flying fortresses pounded Jap air bases on the Island of Bali and are believed to have destroyed six enemy bombers, the war department reported, without the loss of an American plane. Recapitulating Jap losses in the Netherlands East Indies since Jan. 1, the department said United States planes have sunk 9 Jap vessels, damaged 24 others and destroyed 48 planes. In addition, the Jap fleet which invaded and landed troops in Bali has been destroyed, damaged, or diispersed, the Dutch announced from Java. A British radio report said the Indies governor general had announced the complete occupation of Bali. Japanese landings on the island of Timor were confirmed, and the enemy was still advancing in Sumatra in its march toward Java.

On the Bataan front Gen. MacArthur reported a cessation in the fighting as well as the bombardment of the Corregidor and other Manila bay forts, giving the American and Filipino troops a respite after almost constant attacks since the fall of Manila.

British Holding in Burma.

In Burma, despite British admissions that their hopes for holding this British colony are dwindling, Rangoon reported the allied troops were holding their ground and inflicting heavy casualties on the Japs between the Bilin and Sittang rivers, 20 to 50 miles east of the strategic highway. British airmen supported by American volunteers again aided the ground troops.

A freighter bringing sugar to the United States was reported torpedoed off the coast of Cuba.

A Panamanian tanker was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Island of Aruba in the Dutch West Indies. Off Iceland the United States coast guard cutter Alexander Hamilton was torpedoed and capsized, forcing her crew to sink her with gunfire. She was the first United States warship sunk in the Atlantic since the war began.

Reds in Big Offensive.

Moscow reported that a full scale offensive on the central front had carried the Red troops to within 50 miles of the German winter headquarters at Smolensk. Following a tremendous artillery barrage the Russian tanks and massed infantry attacked the Germans and threw them back. In the Ukraine the Russians announced that more than 14,000 Germans had been killed in recent fighting. There was another battle near Leningrad, where the Reds are trying to lift the Nazi siege of the city.

On the Libyan front the British announced heavier resistance to their patrols from the axis armies and increased air activity by the enemy.

Stories on pages 3 and 5.

plant was a beautiful target and they didn't hit it."

Mrs. Wheeler didn't hesitate in saying that when the shelling started she was "scared to death."

"I saw several shells explode on the beach," she said. "Great fountains of dirt were shot into the air, just like pictures in news reels. The shelling was so heavy it shook our house, just like an earthquake."

G. O. Brown, an oil worker in the Elwood field, who lives on the Staniff place, was one of the first to report seeing the submarine.

Sub About Mile Offshore.

"It was about a mile offshore," he said. "I could see it very clearly. It was so big I thought it might be a destroyer or cruiser. I have seen many submarines and this was larger than any of those in the United States navy that I have seen. It was lying idly on the surface.

"Then it began shelling, shot after shot, with great regularity. I counted 12 shells that burst, most of them on the Staniff place and the Barnsdall Oil company. The first shot was fired at 7:15 and the firing continued for 20 minutes. I spotted the last shell at 7:35 p. m."

"It started to get twilight. I watched it as long as I could distinguish its form and then it grew dark. It didn't submerge, and there were no airplanes heard.

"There were a couple of horses in the pasture near where I watched the shelling. They went mad. Shells were exploding in their pasture and the horses screamed and raced about."

Persons at the oil field at the time of the attack said no fires were started. A fire truck was stationed one mile north of Wheeler's, but no glow in the sky indicated that any fire had been started.

Flares at Sea Reported.

Between 8:30 and 9 o'clock, after the shelling, observers here reported sighting three flares above Santa Barbara channel, 25 to 30 miles south of Elwood. At about the same time the Rev. Arthur Basham of Pomona, who was visiting here, said he observed a boat flashing signal lights at the south end of Santa Barbara channel.

The Ventura county sheriff's office was informed that flares had been sighted at several points along the coast near Hueneme, south of here.

Coinciding with reports of mysterious signal lights in the Santa Barbara-Ventura area were accounts of flashlight signaling in various points of Los Angeles reaching the police complaint board. One witness said he saw flashlight beams flashing at the end of the Venice pier. Police crews dispatched to locations given found all suspicious persons gone.

All Stations Leave Air.

At 7:58 p. m. upon orders of the 4th Interceptor command all radio stations in southern California abruptly left the air. A few minutes later the coastline was completely blacked out from Carpinteria near the Ventura-Santa Barbara county line to Goleta. The blackout area covered a distance of about 25 miles. The yellow alert flashed simultaneously in police headquarters in Los Angeles.

Air raid sirens screamed in Santa Barbara and within a few minutes entire city was dark.

First reports of the submarine reached the sheriff's office from Mrs. George Heaney of San Marcos Pass, northwest of Santa Barbara. She informed authorities that she heard the first cannon report shortly after 7 p. m. With field glasses, she said she sighted the submarine. It was lying about a mile off shore.

The next report came from Bob Miller of the Bankline Oil company, who gave a similar report. By this time, the guns of the submarine were speaking repeatedly and shells shrieking overhead.

Soldiers Block Area.

Eyewitnesses said many of the shells exploded in a field and one went over highway 101, bursting in the foothills. Immediately after the shelling, soldiers blocked the area in the vicinity of the field, which is 350 miles south of San Francisco.

Scene of the submarine action is roughly 98 miles northwest of Los Angeles. The coast line follows a northwesterly direction from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara from which point it flattens out to run almost due west for about 40 miles before it runs sharply northward at Point Arguella.

U. S. highway 101, one of the state's major north and south highways, follows the coast not more than a few miles away from the beach for most of the distance between Los Angeles and Gaviota, 30 miles west of Santa Barbara. Eyewitness accounts spoke of the shells screaming over the highway to explode in the hills behind. At Elwood the highway is a mile and a half from the surf.

In many places the Southern Pacific railroad's coastline route, a mainline track, parallels the highway or runs even closer to the beach.

Coastal Towns Are Small.

Except for Santa Barbara and Ventura, the coastal towns are small. Numerous small beach colonies hug the coast between Ventura and Santa Barbara, but except for oil fields concentrations at Carpinteria, the population is thinly scattered. Immediately back of the coast the Santa Inez mountains rise.

West of Santa Barbara the coastline is even more sparsely settled, the rolling coastal foothills being given over mostly to grain raising.

It was the first time that enemy shells have fallen on soil of the continental United States in World war II.

The initial appearance of the raiders here, however, caused uneasiness lest the Japanese had secret bases somewhere along the little populated Lower California coastline.

The Japanese have a number of long range submarines, some of them capable of traveling 16,000 miles without refueling. This would enable them to cross to the Santa Barbara area from Japan proper, or what is more likely, from one of the Japanese mandated islands in the mid-Pacific.

TROOPS OCCUPY JAPANESE AREA IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—Hundreds of soldiers, riding in trucks with fixed bayonets and mounted machine guns, took possession of Fish harbor and 40 acres of surrounding territory on Terminal Island today under a federal condemnation writ that signaled the clearing of Japanese from the area, which adjoins naval establishments. Navy planes overhead lent a further warlike atmosphere to the move, but the evacuation largely was orderly and voluntary.

As Japanese began moving out of the Fish harbor area, 142 enemy aliens from 220 taken in custody by the FBI over the week-end were placed aboard a special train for internment in Montana and North Dakota.

ELWOOD, GOLETA ARE LINK IN WEST COAST OIL CHAIN

The oil properties at Elwood and Goleta in California, which were bombarded from the sea last night, are relatively little links in a long chain of many oil fields on the California coast, according to Chicago petroleum experts.

The Elwood oil field is one of the oldest and one of the many fields working off shore and under the ocean floor. Both the Elwood field and the Goleta field are operated by the Bankline company, an independent organization not identified with any of the most widely known oil corporations.

Both oil fields deal with crude oil in the main, and so far as could be learned possess few if any refining equipment.

U-BOATS ATTACK TOTAL OF 10 SHIPS OFF WEST COAST

Score: 3 Vessels Sunk, Two Damaged.

The bombardment from the sea of the oil wells of the Bankline company near Santa Barbara, Cal., last night marked the first enemy attack off the west coast since December when enemy submarines attacked 10 shipping vessels, sinking three and damaging two.

Submarine attacks prior to last night's land shelling, in chronological order are:

Dec. 7—Freighter Cynthia Olson, sunk by a torpedo about 1,200 miles off Seattle, Wash. All 33 crew members and two soldiers reported lost.

Schooner Escapes Sub.

Dec. 18—Schooner Samoa, attacked but escaped shells and a torpedo fired at close range off the California coast.

Dec. 20—Tanker Emidio, torpedoed and shelled 200 miles north of San Francisco and 20 miles off shore. Five crew members lost, five injured, and 36 survivors landed. Two United States bombers dropped depth charges and possibly hit the attacking submarine.

Tanker Agwiworld, zigzagged to safety in a 30 minute chase 20 miles off Cypress Point, Cal., in which eight shells were fired at the tanker.

Flees in Smoke Screen.

Dec. 22—Tanker H. M. Storey, escaped an attack of three torpedoes behind a smoke screen off Point Arguello, 45 miles north of Santa Barbara.

Dec. 23—Tanker Montebello, sunk by a torpedo and shells about six miles off San Luis Obispo, Cal., all hands rescued.

Tanker Larry Doheny, reported to have escaped an attack in the same general locality and time that the Montebello was sunk.

Hit by Torpedo.

Dec. 24—Freighter Absaroka, damaged by a torpedo about two miles off Long Beach, Cal. One crew member killed by shifting cargo. Two lumber schooners also attacked. One, the Dorothy Phillips, reached port damaged. The other escaped.

On Dec. 25, the war department announced that a Japanese submarine had been blasted out of the water by an American army bomber off the California coast.

JAPS TELL CLASH WITH U. S. FLEET IN SOUTH SEAS

TOKIO, Feb. 24 [Tuesday] [from Japanese broadcasts] — (AP).—Authorized naval sources declared today that Japanese aircraft had broken up an attempt to attack Japanese mandated islands in the South seas by inflicting heavy damage on United States fleet units discovered steaming westward toward the islands last Friday.

These sources said the Japanese aerial attack forced the United States ships to turn around and flee to the east.

"The United States must be dumbfounded by this defeat which followed the crushing losses suffered in the Marshal Islands area and elsewhere," these naval sources said.

CAPE COD RAKED BY SUB'S SHELLS DURING LAST WAR

First U-Boat to Fire on Soil of U. S.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23 (AP).—A German submarine, disguised as a freighter, shelled the Cape Cod shore in the first World war—the first enemy sub shells ever to land on American soil.

Painted a dirty gray, with a dummy smokestack over the conning tower, the U-boat attacked a tug and a string of barges off Orleans, Mass.—southeastern cape resort town—on the afternoon of July 2, 1918.

Vacationing crowds along the cape shoreline saw the attack. The only casualty was suffered by the helmsman of the tug who lost part of his hand.

The German submersible was identified as the U-156 under command of Kapitanlieutenant von Oldenburg.

It was a calm summer afternoon as the Lehigh Valley tug Perth Amboy moved along slowly only a few hundred yards off shore, dragging a string of barges.

Suddenly, with both guns blazing, the U-boat charged. The first shell struck the tug's wheelhouse. Shrapnel bursts followed. The tug wallowed and explosions set her afire.

The U-boat, turning from the sinking tug, approached nearer and raked the shore. Navy hydroplanes attacked the submarine with aerial bombs, but the German commander defiantly continued his fire for a few minutes before sailing away.

BIDDLE MODIFIES 'ENEMY' CURB OF ALIENS IN ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Attorney General Francis Biddle today announced three important modifications in the regulations covering alien enemies, effective immediately.

Simultaneously, the treasury department announced that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has been empowered as alien property custodian by President Roosevelt. Such property in the United States totals approximately 7 billion dollars in value.

The modifications announced by Biddle provide as follows:

Removing from the category of alien enemies persons of Greek and Turkish extraction who emigrated from the Dodecanese and other islands of the Aegean sea; removing from the category of alien enemies all aliens of German, Italian, and Japanese nationality during their term of service in the armed forces of the United States, and, the granting of permission under certain conditions for an alien enemy to use an assumed name for business or professional purposes.

REVEAL JAP MAP SHOWING PLANS FOR U. S. INVASION

Congress to Get Report from Dies Group.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—A Dies committee aid disclosed tonight that committee agents have seized a detailed map from a Japanese agent, apparently designed for use in a possible invasion of the United States by way of Alaska and Canada.

The aid said the may obtained 10 days ago from "an important Japanese" who was arrested in Arizona by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Japanese still is in custody. The map was turned over to the army intelligence service for study and translation of Japanese characters.

Congress to Get Copy.

Agents obtained the map, committee sources said, when the committee subpenaed personal documents of the Japanese which had been filed away in another city on the west coast.

A photostatic copy of the map will be contained in the committee's report on Japanese activities in the United States and its possessions. This report is expected to be placed before congress this week.

The aid said the map contained information on defenses of the northwest Pacific, possible infiltration methods, overland routes by which defense points could be reached and mileages.

"Planned Fever Epidemic."

A summary of evidence of Japanese activities in the United States, Hawaii, and the Philippines before the Pearl Harbor attack will be included in the report, the aid said, including a contention that Japanese fifth columnists had planned to start a yellow fever epidemic on the islands.

Information concerning electric and water supplies in west coast cities has been gathered by Japanese agents, the aid said the report would state.

REPORT SUGAR SHIP TORPEDOED OFF CUBA COAST

'ear Vessel Was Bound for United States.

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Cuban navy department said tonight it had received a vague report that a sugar freighter named the Cofresi or Cafreci had been torpedoed off the Cuban coast while en route to the United States, but the lack of supporting confirmation cast doubt on the authenticity of the report. Naval officers were unable to identify such a ship by either name.

Commodore Julio Diez Arguelles, who made the announcement after conferring with President Fulgencio Batista, said the nationality of the vessel was unknown to him. It is not listed in Lloyds' register of shipping

The ship was torpedoed within 60 miles of Cienfuegos, the commodore said.

He did not announce the port of embarkation or to what port the Cofresi was bound in the United States and there was no mention of the fate of the crew or whether the ship was still afloat.

Tanker Torpedoed Off Aruba.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Panamanian tanker Thalia was torpedoed today near the Moncos Islands, 100 miles from the Dutch island of Aruba, Aneta News agency reported. It said three lifeboats carrying members of the tanker's crew were sighted about 50 miles off the Moncos Islands.

The Thalia, an 8,329 ton motorship tanker owned by the Panama transport company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, was built in 1926 at Kiel, Germany.

Discount Martinique "Base."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Official sources today discounted reports from London that an enlarged German U-boat fleet was using the French island of Martinique as one of its bases.

In London a foreign source said best estimates from continental informants were that the Germans now have 230 ocean going submarines in service, about 30 more than were in use last spring.

An authoritative British source said it was regarded as "not improbable" that Germans were using Martinique and possibly Guadaloupe. It was pointed out that an oil tanker hidden around either island could easily refuel and supply U-boats.

The source said the U-boats were "bound to be using some place closer to the American coast than L'Orient," a port on the south coast of France.

U. S. Observer Is There.

Washington quarters reported that there was no evidence of any use of Martinique by axis subs, and that a naval observer, Commander Ernest J. Blankenship, is on duty there.

International law provides that any belligerent warship may put into a neutral port because of unseaworthy condition or other distress. Use of Martinique as a base would entail much more than use of a port as a refuge, however.

At the navy department it was said that such activity would immediately result in vigorous counteraction on the part of the United States.

AXIS ARMY GIVES A STIFFER BATTLE ON LIBYAN FRONT

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 23 (AP).—Heavier scale resistance from axis columns has been encountered by British imperial fighting patrols operating over a wide area east of El Mekili and south of the El Mekili-Tmimi line, the British announced today.

A communique added that "considerable movement was observed in the afternoon [yesterday] from Martuba toward Tmimi."

"Enemy air activity against targets in our forward area was also on an increased scale," the war report said.

Naval aircraft successfully attacked an enemy tanker in the central Mediterranean Saturday night, the RAF said. A torpedo hit was followed by a large flash.

Claim Two Ships Sunk.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Two merchantmen were sunk from a British convoy in German air attacks off Sidi Barrani, on the Egyptian coast, and 15 British planes were destroyed by Italian air attack on an airdrome in eastern Cirenaica, the German high command said today. [The Italians told of a raid on Acroma airdrome near Tobruk.] Malta was bombed again.

STORY OF FINDING $10,000,000 IN GOLD ON OCEAN'S FLOOR

Divers Count 150 Mines in Hunt for Ship.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Feb. 23 (AP).—A daring, year long hunt for sunken treasure has been completed with recovery of $10,000,000 worth of gold bullion from the hulk of the sunken British liner Niagara in mine and shark infested waters off Auckland.

With the bars of precious metal stored away safely in a bank vault, the full story of the recovery became known today.

The treasure hunt was organized shortly after the Niagara, bound from New Zealand to Canada, struck a mine and went down 60 miles off Auckland June 19, 1940. But it was not until Feb. 2, 1941, that the wreck was located.

Divers Guaranteed Percentage.

A Melbourne salvage company took over the operations under contract to the Commonwealth bank.

Veteran divers were enlisted and guaranteed a percentage of all the gold they retrieved. Besides risking their lives, they staked their assets on the success of their task. Some mortgaged their homes. But today "they're in the money."

In diving to the ocean floor they counted 150 mines. Chief Diver John Johnstone of Melbourne established a world record with a 528 foot descent in an observation bell.

This record was made in the search for the ship. The vessel was found later at a depth of 400 feet.

Found Lying on Side.

The divers found the Niagara lying on her side. It was necessary to blast a hole thru her plates and cut away the decks to reach her strong room.

A special explosive of gelignite with a core of gun cotton was used. Charges were lowered in a container slit on one side, which was placed against the part to be cut away.

The first of the yellow bars was brought to the surface last Oct. 13, the last on Dec. 7, the day Japan struck in the Pacific.

Swedish Army Starts Sham War; Blacks Out Province

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 23 (AP).—Units of the Swedish army began extensive winter maneuvers today in the province of Jämtland. Tank, heavy artillery, cavalry, and ski troops are participating in the four day exercises. The entire province will be blacked out for the first three days of maneuvers.

RUSSIANS LAUNCH NEW FULL SCALE SMOLENSK DRIVE

Win Town 50 Miles from Nazi Headquarters.

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Soviet forces have driven to within 50 miles of the German winter headquarters at Smolensk in a full scale central front attack which started yesterday morning, the Russians announced today.

The soviet information bureau said the spearhead of this drive had reached Dorogobuzh, east of Smolensk on the Dnieper river. This town lies about 15 miles south of the main Smolensk-Moscow railroad and is the terminus of a connecting branch line. Dorogobuzh also is beyond Vyazma, one of the key Nazi winter defense pivots.

The midnight communique which told of stubborn battles in this area said that in addition to Dorogobuzh, a number of other populated centers were liberated.

Heavy Aerial Fighting.

Heavy aerial fighting accompanied the Russian advance and the full scale assault toward Smolensk included tank squadrons and masses of infantry.

Thruout Sunday, it was said, soviet troops were massed for the attack while heavy artillery laid down a massive barrage against the Germans in preparation for the zero hour at dawn yesterday.

The springing of the central front attack followed reports that large reserves have been moving up along the entire front for days for an accelerated general offensive.

Powerful new reserves were reported ready to join the battle against the Germans after completing rigorous training back of the Ural mountains.

14,000 Germans Killed.

In the southwest, the Russians announced last night that more than 14,000 Germans had been killed in a recent eruption of savage fighting at the approaches of a large populated center—possibly the great Ukraine industrial center of Kharkov.

On the northern front large scale fighting continued around Leningrad with Red troops redoubling their efforts to smash the German siege around the old czarist capital.

The Baltic fleet, which has fought beside the army before Leningrad, was reported last night to have destroyed a thousand enemy positions and silenced 1,500 batteries. Earlier, the Moscow radio said the navy had sunk 81 German warships and 276 auxiliary vessels laden with war materials since the war began. Red sailors were operating armored trains on the Leningrad front.

Use Chutists at Leningrad.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 24 [Tuesday] (AP).—German parachutists have been used for the first time in the Leningrad area in an effort to stop the Russians from breaking thru Nazi defense lines, the Berlin correspondent of Dagens Nyheter reported today.

Claim Red Attacks Fail.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 [from German broadcasts]—(AP). — The German communique said today that "the enemy repeated fruitless attacks in several sectors with heavy losses" on the Russian front.

Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, arrived by special train today at Bratislava, capital of the Nazi-protected state of Slovakia.

[Apparently as part of the German campaign to enlist large allied forces for the spring drive against Russia, German leaders have been visiting capitals of the satellite states and chiefs of these states have been summoned to Germany to confer with Adolf Hitler. King Boris of Bulgaria is expected to visit Berlin soon.]

Train Grade School Boys to Run Vienna Street Cars

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 23 (AP).—Because of the labor shortage in Vienna, Germany, seventh and eighth grade school boys are being taught how to operate the city's street cars. A dispatch today said the boy motormen will wear badges of the "student service," but will have the same responsibilities as regular motormen who in some cases have been working 11 hour shifts, seven days a week.

HEADLINE NEWS FOR LONDONERS: FRUIT FOR SALE!

War Takes Back Seat for Food Items.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Despite military action on numerous war fronts announcment today of the food minister, Lord Woolton, that he is distributing thru grocers 120,000,000 tins of fruit and vegetables is given a six column spread in the four page Evening News.

It was very good news, too, for housewives who flocked to shops, surrendering ration card points for apricots, pineapples, peaches, plums, blackberries, peas, and tomatoes.

No More to Be Imported.

The food minister announced that Britain would not import any more canned fruit until the war is over.

Food made other headlines. Hilda Diana Henley, famous partner in a vaudeville act, was fined 25 pounds [about $100] today for obtaining four pounds of margarine from a factory in which her husband is director.

William John Barker, motor engineer who had just purchased a restaurant at Maidenhead, was fined 20 pounds [about $80] for buying 100 cases of Irish stewed steaks at a price exceeding the maximum.

A Dare Proves Expensive.

It cost George Frederick Charles Hawk 3½ pounds [about $14] for accepting the dare of a waitress who had served a scrambled egg on toast. He had complained that it was not good, and she suggested he throw it away. He did. The charge was "wasting food."

Abie Glazier and Mark Leigh, clothiers, were charged with conspiring to contravene clothing rationing when 305,000 clothing coupons were found in their possession.

Many persons are worried over reports that launderers may have to start rationing, owing to a labor shortage.

AUSSIES BOMB JAP HOLDINGS ON NEW GUINEA ISLE

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 24 [Tuesday] — (AP). — Australian planes bombed Japanese shipping and airdromes yesterday in an attack on Rabaul in New Guinea and shot down one Japanese fighter plane and probably destroyed two others, it was announced officially today.

The Australians lost one plane in the raid on the island in the Bismarck archipelago, 800 miles off the northeast tip of Australia.

The strategic and threatened Northern Australia area clustered around Port Darwin, twice bombed naval oiling station, went under military control last night as the continent braced itself against the Japanese now less than 400 miles away.

Report Adm. Darlan Plans Naval Coup to Help Hitler

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—The officers and younger seamen of the French navy are ready to take their sailing orders from Adm. Jean Darlan and Adolf Hitler for a war against Russian communism, a former petty officer, now in the crew of the French freighter Ile de Noirmoutier, just arrived from Morocco, said today.

He believes that French naval veterans have not been sold on the idea, but that the enlisted personnel may be unable to prevent several important naval units from "going over."

The 47 other members of the Ile de Noirmoutier, he said, are convinced that the issue of the French navy's allegiance will soon come to a stormy and bloody showdown, with ships dashing for the ports of different belligerents.

First to Leave Morocco.

The Ile de Noirmoutier was the first trans-Atlantic vessel to leave Casablanca, Morocco, following America's entrance into the war. She left there on Jan. 24.

"The Gestapo [German secret police] has done a very smooth job on the French naval crews in Oran, Toulon, Marseilles, and everywhere else," said the French seaman, who insisted that his name be withheld.

"The Germans have seen to it that every youngster taken from the French schools and added to the French navy is 100 per cent for Adm. Darlan and Hitler's new order. Troublesome crew members have been replaced by these pink cheeked kids or by carefully selected French seamen released from German prison camps.

Warns of a Ruse.

"The test of the French fleet is expected any day. Possibly it will come by the issuance of a Darlan signed order, announcing that a treaty has been signed, that the armistice is over, that henceforward Russia is France's enemy. The order might even be a spurious lie—but you can be sure it will start the fireworks.

"In the event of such a showdown, I think it would be a good thing for the United States to pass the word that French ships would be welcome here and free to carry on with their own crews. Men who would never enter a British port would be glad to work with Americans."

U. S. WATCHES MOVES OF REPAIRED FRENCH WARSHIP DUNKERQUE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said today the United States was watching closely all developments bearing on the French fleet, including the recent arrival of the repaired battleship Dunkerque at Toulon, France.

Discussing at a press conference the reappearance of the Dunkerque, which was badly damaged by British bombardment at Oran, Northern Africa, in 1940, Welles said the United States government frequently has made known to the French government at Vichy the concern with which it would view any relaxation of control over the French fleet by the French government itself.

He repeated that the department was doing its best to keep abreast of all developments.

ENGINEER WITH NAZI CONTACTS IS OUSTED FROM HIS NAVY JOB

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The navy today branded George T. Deatherage, former national commander of the Knights of the White Camellia, as "an undesirable person" to work on navy contracts, and ousted him from the Hampton Roads naval establishments where he was employed as a construction engineer.

G. T. Deatherage.

Deatherage acknowledged contacts with the German embassy and with Nazi propaganda sources when the Dies committee investigated his activities in 1939. He has recently been employed by the contracting firm of Doyle & Russell on a $7,000,000 project at the Norfolk, Va., naval base.

Deatherage told the Dies committee, at a stormy hearing, that the Knights of the White Camellia, which he headed, was designed to combat communism and "the Jew problem."

At Norfolk today Deatherage had no statement to make immediately. John W. Russell, a member of the firm, said that Deatherage would be dismissed.

"He has done a splendid job while working for us," Russell said.

SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS STOLEN.

Dr. Julius Levy, 653 Cornelia avenue, a physician, reported to police yesterday that a case of surgical instruments was stolen from his automobile in front of his home.

U. S. COAST GUARD SHIP TORPEDOED NEAR ICELAND

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The first sinking of a United States warship in the Atlantic since this country entered the war Dec. 7 was disclosed today with announcement by the navy department that the coast guard cutter Alexander Hamilton had been lost.

The 2,141 ton patrol vessel, one of seven known as "the pride of the coast guard" was torpedoed by a submarine and crippled in the waters off Iceland. Efforts were made to tow her into port, but en route she capsized and had to be sunk by gunfire.

There was a "moderate" loss of personnel when the torpedo exploded, the navy said. The complement of the cutter was 202 officers and men.

The skipper of the vessel, Commander Arthur Graham Hall, 45 years old, of Washington, D. C., survived the attack and is safe. The names of other survivors, and of the casualties, were not made public.

TRUCK DRIVER ROBBED OF $150.

Frank Leventhal, 3831 Fremont street, a driver for the Murphy Butter and Egg company, was held up by two Negro bandits in front of 2159 Roosevelt road last night, and robbed of $150.

U. S. AND BRITAIN URGED TO KEEP ON FIGHTING FOR JAVA

BY F. TILLMAN DURDIN.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

BATAVIA, Java, N. E. I., Feb. 23.—"The United States and Great Britain must continue to make the strongest possible effort to hold Java," Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, lieutenant governor and "strong man" of the Netherlands East Indies, emphasized here today.

"Any diminution of support for the fight for Java in favor of building bases of resistance to attack elsewhere would be a disastrous mistake with dire political and military consequences to the allied cause," he declared.

"It is not too late to stop the Japanese in Java," Van Mook said, but he stressed that the men and materials now on the way or earmarked for the Indies must be kept coming in a steady stream and not be diverted to some other part of the world.

He pointed out that much of the materials that have been consigned to the Indies has been bought and paid for by the Dutch.

Tells of F. D. R.'s Assurance.

Van Mook has just returned home—he was born in Java—after a month's visit in the United States. He flew to Batavia by the way of Australia. He said that he had received assurances from President Roosevelt of the greatest possible American help in the fight for the Indies.

He declared that if the Japanese conquered Java, Japan would be in a position to consolidate its position in the Indies and from the mineral and agricultural wealth of these islands build strength that will be difficult for the allies to overcome.

"If the allies should lose the Indies they would be driven back to bases so far away from the centers of Japanese power that counterattack would be hardly possible," he said.

Van Mook asserted that Australia would be much less suitable as a base for counterattack against Japanese than the Indies and said he did not believe that the Japanese would invade Australia.

Oil Big Prize for Japan.

Analyzing the consequences of an allied loss of Java, Van Mook said the most serious of them would be Japanese acquisition of the oil resources of the Indies.

"We know that Japanese stocks of oil are limited," he stated. "If we kept our hold of Java we could prevent the Japanese from ever obtaining any Indies oil but if the Japanese occupy Java they 'would then have a free hand and eventually could restore the production of the Indies fields."

Van Mook stressed the psychological and political effects which an allied loss of Java would have, especially if the allies relinquished Java without fighting to the utmost to hold it.

"The loss of Java would mean that the western nations will have been virtually expelled from the far east," he said. "The effect on China would be very depressing."

Visions Jap-China Deal.

Van Mook said he believed that if the Japanese took Java they would be in a strong position to offer a deal to a China discouraged by the weakness of her allies. China has held on for many years against Japan with the hope ever before her that if the United States went to war with Japan, victory would be certain, he said.

The Indies leader stressed that the defense of Java was not a problem involving the sending of tremendous forces here.

"It is not that scores of battleships, dozens of cruisers, thousands of planes are needed," he said.

"Only comparatively small reënforcements of men and materials would make all the difference in the world. It is only a question of hundreds of more planes, and a few tens of thousands of men. The position here is still quite tenable; if strengthened it still can be held.

"The reënforcements must come continuously. There must be an end to the wavering and uncertainty which wastes time and weakens morale."

The Indies leader expressed confidence in final victory and certainty that American industrial output would turn the tide but called for an offensive spirit.

"We cannot be continuously fighting on the defensive," he said.

COMMONS STILL CRITICAL ON NEW CABINET AND INDIA

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Ministers affected by the recent cabinet changes were sworn in by King George VI. at Buckingham palace today. They were Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council; Clement Attlee, secretary of state for dominion affairs; Lord Cranborne, secretary of state for the colonies; Sir James Grigg, secretary of state for war; Sir Andrew Duncan, minister of supply, and Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal.

Members of parliament indicated that the changes were welcomed, but said there are still certain things to be ironed out between the prime minister and the house of commons.

While the refusal of the prime minister to relinquish his post as minister of defense is disappointing to a good many, a good case can be made that it is impossible for Churchill to delegate this important office, and that now, with the prime minister relieved of the necessity for continual appearances in the house of commons, by Cripps and Attlee, who will act as his deputies, he will be able to concentrate all his energies and attention on permanent problems.

"Ax the Whitewashers."

The Evening News makes other suggestions. "Now that the government is taking shape to prosecute the war with new efficiency, it is hoped that Churchill will use his ax on all official whitewashers and all distributors of official eyewash," it editorializes.

"Admiralty spokesmen seemed to assume during the week-end that the public is still in kindergarten. A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, was busy explaining away as of little account the fact that 'two or three German ships got thru the English channel the other day.'

"Such casual dismissal of the loss of a golden opportunity to deal the German navy a crippling blow, calls for some clear comment."

Question Dropping Beaverbrook.

Members of parliament are asking why Lord Beaverbrook, formerly minister of war production, has not been included in the present government. Beaverbrook spent hours persuading Cripps it was his duty to accept his present post. Many want to know the real story of Beaverbrook's withdrawal.

The prime minister's opening speech in the war debate, in which he is expected to deal with the situation in the western Pacific is to be made publicly, it was announced tonight. The house of lords is also staging a two day debate in which Lord Cranborne, the new secretary of state for the colonies, will make the first speech as leader of the house.

Demand Action on India.

In both lords and commons debates, the India question will likely be brought up. Many members of parliament favor the government making whatever concessions are necessary for full Indian collaboration in the war effort. Now that India is fortified by the recommendations of the Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and is reaffirming demands for complete independence and dominion status, both houses are anxious to hear the prime minister's reaction.

Political sources suggested that India may become one of the main issues of the discussion. Disappointment is being freely expressed that Churchill left L. S. Amery as secretary of state for India untouched, and members of parliament were said to be concerned at the delay in defining government policy toward India. It is understood as unlikely that any definite move to satisfy the Indians will be announced in the debate.

Bombay Expects No Change.

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 23 (AP).—The retention in the British cabinet of L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India and Burma, despite strong protests from India, was interpreted tonight in political circles here as an indication there was no change in Prime Minister Churchill's attitude toward India's independence demands.

ROOSEVELT SIGNS LAW FOR LOANS TO BELLIGERENTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed legislation suspending for the duration of the war a restriction against loans or credits to belligerent nations by American citizens.

The President had asked congress to suspend this restriction of the neutrality act on the ground that it hampered normal trade relations with certain belligerents, especially Canada.

The new law would not change the so-called Johnson act which prohibits loans to foreign belligerents in default on obligations to the government of the United States.

TOP GRADE OFFICE SUPPLIES ARE CHEAPEST

Bargains today are the top grade office supplies that conserve operating time and do not require frequent replacement or repair.

Today's uncertainty of raw materials . . . the reduced man-power to produce replacements and to service existing units, clearly show the wisdom of buying durable, serviceable goods of known repute.

Results just as startling as the following pencil example can be shown with many generally used office supplies. Lower grades may require more frequent replacement and reduce operating efficiency.

Let Horder's recommend what will be best for you.

It isn't what You Pay . . . It's what You Get

Each of five girls was given 6 identical pencils every Monday. All were doing identical work. Pencils were picked up Saturday and a different priced pencil issued to all on the following Monday. Three price lines were used and the records repeated, with these results:

Of forgetful husbands and loving wives!

A LOT of husbands are apt to be forgetful on the eve of a business trip. A sudden flurry of office detail often erases the best of intentions to phone home before leaving for the station.

To these men the telephone located in the Observation Lounge of the Century is a positive blessing in assuring a warm welcome on their return.

A minute detail? Certainly! But it typifies the service that has long made the 20th Century Limited the world's most famous train.

Busy executives, under a heavy strain these days, find that an overnight vacation on the Century assures a morning that is always "good morning." So now—more than ever—they will tell you: "when tomorrow looms important, take the Century tonight!"

U. S. FLYING FORTS BOMB AIR BASE OF JAPS ON BALI

Believe Foe Lost 6 Planes; Runways Hit.

BULLETIN.

New York, Feb. 24 (Tuesday) (Special).—In a broadcast from London, heard here at 12:34 a. m. today (11:34 p. m., Monday, Chicago time), the British Broadcasting corporation relayed a report of the "complete fall of the Isle of Bali" into Japanese hands. The London announcement said the admission came from the governor general of the Netherlands East Indies.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The war department announced today that a formation of American army heavy bombers were believed to have destroyed six enemy medium bombers in a raid on the Japanese held airdrome at Denpasar on the Netherlands Indies Island of Bali.

The war department said several direct hits were scored in the raid, damaging the airdrome's runways. The planes, identified as the four-motor, flying fortress type, returned undamaged to their bases.

Recapitulating operations of the army air forces in the Netherlands Indies since Jan. 1, a communique said that in that period American planes had sunk at least nine enemy vessels, damaged 24 others, and destroyed 48 enemy planes in the air or on the ground.

The communique said the estimate was incomplete. It listed these shipping losses inflicted on the Japanese:

One battleship and 12 cruisers damaged, two tankers and six transports sunk, eight transports and one aircraft carrier damaged, one destroyer sunk and two damaged.

In planes, 13 bombers and 35 fighters were destroyed.

American losses were not listed.

Officials said the summary probably excluded some losses inflicted in the latest air and sea fighting, on and near the Island of Bali.

Japs Overrun Part of Bali.

BANDOENG, N. E. I., Feb. 23 (AP).—The Japanese have overrun part of Bali and control the airport at Denpasar on the southeast of the island near its only good harbor, the Dutch announced tonight. However, it was stated that the enemy's entire invading fleet has been destroyed, damaged, or dispersed, and his landing troops are isolated.

Thus was summed up the first phase of the invader's thrust at the near approaches to the Java keystone in the allied arch—a thrust in which Japanese sea power suffered, under coördinated American-Dutch bomber warship fire, its gravest wounds since the battle of Macassar strait off Borneo.

News was scarce of the delaying actions still being fought aground on Bali and on the Island of Sumatra, the base of the enemy's right flank, in the slow march on Java.

Admit Invasion of Timor.

However, Japanese landings on the part Dutch and part Portuguese Island of Timor, far to the east and flanking the Australian mainland, were for the first time officially confirmed here.

There, it was said without amplification, "the enemy is meeting with strong resistance." His troops were known to stand in the vicinity of Keopang, Dutch Timor.

The allies extended a counterair offensive northward to Sumatran waters.

From its headquarters Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's supreme allied command for the southwest Pacific announced that dive bombers swooping over Bangka strait off Sumatra had squarely hit and left ablaze a 10,000 ton enemy merchant ship and that other large ships in that area were machine gunned.

Denpasar on Bali also was attacked, as were Japanese concentrations near fallen Palembang on Sumatra.

The Japanese remained in intermittent action against the airdromes of Java and at least four of their planes were shot down.

Hit—and it was acknowledged that there was some resulting damage here and there—were airdromes in the vicinities of Batavia; of Buitenzog, on the Batavia-Bandoeng railway; of Jogjakarta, near the Java south coast; of the naval base of Surabaya, and of Malang, about 100 miles from the Bali shore.

Pincer Closing, Japs Say.

TOKIO, Feb. 23 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Two extreme ends of a Japanese pincer movement aimed against the island of Java were slowly being consolidated into occupied bases, the high command announced today.

On Bali Japanese forces were reported to have occupied Denpasar on the southern peninsula and only a scant 70 miles from the nearest point in Java. The Japanese said the town was "an important strategical point."

[Denpasar's importance apparently lies in its position in control of Bali strait and as a jumping off point for possible future attacks against Banjuwangi, the easternmost town in Java.]

West of Java, in Sumatra, the Japanese claimed they had spread out from Palembang along the railroad to reach Lahat, 110 miles inland.

Gen. MacArthur Taking Command

BATTLE IN LUZON AND SHELLING OF FORTS DIE DOWN

Quezon Decorates Two MacArthur Aids.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Hope that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's little army had succeeded in checkmating Japanese attacks in the Philippines completely for the time being mounted in the capital today as fighting came to a virtual halt.

Some informed quarters inclined to the belief that the defenders could hold their Bataan positions and the Manila bay fortifications until the enemy brings in additional reënforcements, particularly bombers.

A war department communique reporting that "fighting has died down on all fronts on Luzon" climaxed four successive weeks of feeling out assaults and artillery dueling since MacArthur's men smashed the last full scale enemy offensive.

The siege dueling of the last several days between the big guns of the forts safeguarding Manila bay and hidden Japanese batteries ceased entirely, the communique said.

Hold Artillery Superiority.

To some cautious observers the lull appeared to be a calm before a renewed assault. They noted, however, that the war department four times in as many weeks had warned specifically that the foe seemed to be preparing for a new all-out assault, and each time the threat was quickly mastered.

Altho the Japanese have landed new reënforcements on Subic bay just north of Bataan and have increased at times the volume of shelling and air bombing, there have been no hints that the defenders have lost the superiority in artillery fire which has helped smash repeated assaults.

The lull gave a welcome respite to the American and Filipino troops which have been under almost continuous day and night pressure since the abandonment of Manila.

Two Generals Decorated.

Two of MacArthur's officers, Maj. Gen. R. K. Sutherland and Brig. Gen. Richard Marshall, received from Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon the distinguished service star of the Philippines, the highest military decoration of the commonwealth. Sutherland, MacArthur's chief of staff, and Marshall, deputy chief of staff, both were members of the American military mission which organized the Philippine army.

BRITISH HOLDING GROUND IN BURMA, RANGOON CLAIMS

Heavy Jap Casualties Are Reported.

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 23 (AP).—British forces today were reported to be holding their ground and inflicting heavy casualties on attacking Japanese along an undisclosed line between the Bilin and Sittang rivers, an area from 20 to 50 miles east of the Burma road.

An RAF communique said British airmen with support of American volunteers again gave close support to the ground troops in stemming the Japanese advance. Three Japanese planes were shot down in battles along the front, in which there were no allied losses, the communique said.

All Burma in Peril.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—All Burma was threatened gravely tonight as Japanese assaults units, probably reënforced by troops from Singapore, were reported to be still smashing against the swaying British lines between the Bilin and Sittang rivers.

British authorities admitted that hopes for holding Rangoon were dwindling and that its fall probably would open the way to Japanese invasion of the whole colony, the barrier to India and gateway to China.

British Forced Back.

Meager accounts of the fighting in Burma said the greatly outnumbered British were fighting desperately in a triangle at the top of the Gulf of Martaban, but slowly were being forced back upon the Sittang. This stream is only 20 miles from the important Rangoon-Mandalay-Lashio railway. That railroad until last week fed supplies to the Burma road.

Burma road—supply line to embattled China—already was virtually sealed, because the entry port of Rangoon was mined nearly a week ago and it appeared probable that Japanese bombers had cut the railway. Storied Mandalay, near its northern terminus, had been bombed severely and there were reports of explosives falling on Toungoo and Pegu, cities on the railroad.

Considerable war supplies, however, were believed to be piled at Lashio for highway transport to Kumming over the mountain road.

British Aid Held Unlikely.

British reënforcements for their hard pressed Burma army seemed unlikely because the port was mined, and because there were no satisfactory overland communications between the battlefront and India.

Then, too, it was questionable how many Indian troops were available of the million under arms. A considerable proportion of these have been sent outside India but it is believed most of them went to the British 8th, 9th and 10th armies in Libya and the Bible lands.

Military experts expressed the view that the British soon would have to rely on India's defenses, in view of the ease and speed with which the Japanese had negotiated the difficult jungle terrain between the Salween and the Bilin.

Mountains Stand in Path.

Should the British lines be shattered, the Japanese still would have difficult mountains to cross before reaching the gates of India. It appeared probable that British imperial troops could take to the hills for effective guerrilla warfare, delaying the Japanese until a formidable force could be gathered in India to parry their thrust. Burma is about the size of Texas.

Japs Tell of Bombings.

TOKIO, Feb. 23 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—The Domei news agency today said Japanese planes had bombed Toungoo and Bassein in Burma.

Sir Douglas Hacking Quits Conservative Party Job

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—Sir Douglas Hacking resigned today as chairman of the dominant Conservative party and will be succeeded March 6 by Maj. Thomas L. Dugdale, deputy chief government whip since last year.

INJURED WORKER SUES ICKES FOR LOSS OF AN EYE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Suit has been filed in nearby Montgomery county, Maryland, it was disclosed today, for $20,000 damages against Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes by Clarence Walker, 35 years old, colored, former hired hand on the Ickes estate. Walker was injured while working in the Ickes barn. The secretary of the interior, at his own expenses, the suit said, had an eye of the plaintiff removed by a surgeon, other injuries treated, gave Walker a glass eye and got a "release" from him for a payment of $100. Ickes is charged in the suit with carelessness in storing in the barn dynamite which exploded.

REPORT ON WAR GIVEN TO NATION BY PRESIDENT

Tells of Thousands of Troops in Pacific.

sible Japan's gains in the Philippines. In any event Japan's island bases would have held our fleet away from the Philippines, he said.

With no less heat he denied that the Japanese had wiped out our entire Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor. He said that only three combatant ships were put out of commission. Those damaged have "either rejoined the fleet or are undergoing repairs." He denied that the Japanese destroyed more than 1,000 airplanes and asserted that, including Pearl Harbor, "we have destroyed considerably more Japanese planes than they have destroyed of ours."

President Roosevelt Refers to Map for War Speech

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

President Roosevelt pointing to map in the oval room of the White House, from which he broadcast "fireside chat" last night. He discussed the effect of faraway battles on American life and asserted that the war with Japan is being fought as planned and will be won by the process of attrition.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's address tonight follows:

"Washington's birthday is a most appropriate occasion for us to talk with each other about things as they are today and things as we know they shall be in the future.

"For eight years, Gen. Washington and his Continental army were faced continually with formidable odds and recurring defeats. Supplies and equipment were lacking. In a sense every winter was a Valley Forge. Thruout the 13 states there existed fifth columnists—selfish men, jealous men, fearful men, who proclaimed that Washington's cause was hopeless, that he should ask for a negotiated peace.

"Washington's conduct in those hard times has provided the model for all Americans ever since—a model of moral stamina. He held to his course, as it had been charted in the Declaration of Independence. He and the brave men who served with him knew that no man's life or fortune was secure, without freedom and free institutions.

"The present great struggle has taught us increasingly that freedom of person and security of property anywhere in the world depend upon the security of the rights and obligations of liberty and justice everywhere in the world.

New Kind of War.

"This war is a new kind of war. It is different from all other wars of the past, not only in its methods and weapons, but also in its geography. It is warfare in terms of every continent, every island, every sea, every air lane in the world.

"That is the reason why I have asked you to take out and spread before you the map of the whole earth, and to follow with me the references which I shall make to the world encircling battle lines of this war. Many questions will, I fear, remain unanswered; but I know you will realize I cannot cover everything in any one report to the people.

"The broad oceans which have been heralded in the past as our protection from attack have become endless battlefields on which we are constantly being challenged by our enemies.

"We must all understand and face the hard fact that our job now is to fight at distances which extend all the way around the globe.

"We fight at these vast distances because that is where our enemies are. Until our flow of supplies gives us clear superiority we must keep on striking our enemies wherever and whenever we can meet them, even if, for a while, we have to yield ground. Actually we are taking a heavy toll of the enemy every day that goes by.

LONG LINES TO PROTECT

Axis Tries to Divide and Conquer United Nations

"We must fight at these vast distances to protect our supply lines and our lines of communication with our allies—protect these lines from the enemies who are bending every ounce of their strength, striving against time, to cut them. The object of the Nazis and the Japanese is to separate the United States, Britain, China, and Russia, and to isolate them one from another, so that each will be surrounded and cut off from sources of supplies and reenforcements. It is the old familiar axis policy of "divide and conquer."

"There are those who still think in terms of the days of sailing ships. They advise us to pull our warships and our planes and our merchant ships to our own home waters and concentrate solely on last ditch defense. But let me illustrate what would happen if we followed such foolish advice.

"Look at your map. Look at the vast area of China, with its millions of fighting men. Look at the vast area of Russia, with its powerful armies and proven military might. Look at the British Isles, Australia, New Zealand, the Dutch Indies, India, the near east and the continent of Africa, with their resources of raw materials and of peoples determined to resist axis domination. Look at North America, Central America, and South America.

Pictures Result of Isolation.

"It is obvious what would happen if all these great reservoirs of power were cut off from each other either by enemy action or by self-imposed isolation:

"1. We could no longer send aid of any kind to China—to the brave people who, for nearly five years, have withstood Japanese assault, destroyed hundreds of thousands of Japanese soldiers, and vast quantities of Japanese war munitions. It is essential that we help China in her magnificent defense and in her inevitable counteroffensive—for that is one important element in the ultimate defeat of Japan.

"2. If we lost communication with the southwest Pacific, all of that area, including Australia and New Zealand, would fall under Japanese domination. Japan could then release great numbers of ships and men to launch attacks on a large scale against the coasts of the western hemisphere, including Alaska. At the same time, she could immediately extend her conquests to India, and thru the Indian ocean, to Africa and the near east.

"3. If we were to stop sending munitions to the British and the Russians in the Mediterranean and Persian gulf areas, we would help the Nazis to overrun Turkey, Syria, Iraq, Persia, Egypt, and the Suez canal, the whole coast of North Africa and the whole coast of West Africa—putting Germany within easy striking distance of South America.

"4. If, by such a fatuous policy, we ceased to protect the North Atlantic supply line to Britain and to Russia, we would help to cripple the splendid counteroffensive by Russia against the Nazis, and we would help to deprive Britain of essential food supplies and munitions.

Rejects "Turtle" Policy.

"Those Americans who believed that we could live under the illusion of isolationism wanted the American eagle to imitate the tactics of the ostrich. Now, many of those same people, afraid that we may be sticking our necks out, want our national bird to be turned into a turtle. But we prefer to retain the eagle as it is—flying high and striking hard.

"I know that I speak for the mass of the American people when I say that we reject the turtle policy and will continue increasingly the policy of carrying the war to the enemy in distant lands and distant waters—as far as possible from our own home grounds.

"There are four main lines of communcation now being traveled by our ships: The North Atlantic, the South Atlantic, the Indian ocean, and the South Pacific. These routes are not one way streets—for the ships which carry our troops and munitions outbound bring back essential raw materials which we require for our own use.

SAYS JOB NEEDS DARING

Certain America Will Prove It Can Succeed in Aims

"The maintenance of these vital lines is a very tough job. It is a job which requires tremendous daring, tremendous resourcefulness, and, above all, tremendous production of planes and tanks and guns and of the ships to carry them. And I speak again for the American people when I say that we can and will do that job.

"The defense of the world-wide lines of communication demands relatively safe use by us of the sea and of the air along the various routes; and this, in turn, depends upon control by the united nations of the strategic bases along those routes.

"Control of the air involves the simultaneous use of two types of planes—first, the long range heavy bomber; and second, light bombers, dive bombers, torpedo planes, and short range pursuit planes which are essential to the protection of the bases and of the bombers themselves.

Bombers Can Fly to Front.

Heavy bombers can fly under their own power from here to the southwest Pacific; but the smaller planes cannot. Therefore, these lighter planes have to be packed in crates and sent on board cargo ships. Look at your map again; and you will see that the route is long—and at many places perilous—either across the South Atlantic around South Africa, or from California to the East Indies direct. A vessel can make a round trip by either route in about four months, or only three round trips in a whole year.

"In spite of the length and difficulties of this transportation, I can tell you that we already have a large number of bombers and pursuit planes, manned by American pilots, which are now in daily contact with the enemy in the southwest Pacific. And thousands of American troops are today in that area engaged in operations not only in the air but on the ground as well.

"In this battle area Japan has had an obvious initial advantage. For she could fly even her short-range planes to the points of attack by using many stepping stones open to her—bases in a multitude of Pacific islands and also bases on the China, Indo-China, Thailand, and Malay coasts. Japanese troop transports could go south from Japan and China thru the narrow China sea which can be protected by Japanese planes thruout its whole length.

Draws Attention to Pacific.

"I ask you to look at your maps again, particularly at that portion of the Pacific ocean lying west of Hawaii. Before this war even started, the Philippine Islands were already surrounded on three sides by Japanese power. On the west, the Japanese were in possession of the coast of China and the coast of Indo-China which had been yielded to them by the Vichy French. On the north, are the islands of Japan themselves, reaching down almost to northern Luzon. On the east, are the mandated islands—which Japan had occupied exclusively, and had fortified in absolute violation of her written word.

"These islands, hundreds of them, appear only as small dots on most maps. But they cover a large strategic area. Guam lies in the middle of them—a lone outpost which we never fortified.

"Under the Washington treaty of 1921 we had solemnly agreed not to add to the fortification of the Philippine Islands. We had no safe naval base there, so we could not use the islands for extensive naval operations.

PHILIPPINES ENCIRCLED

Japan Moves Quickly to Cut Off Re-enforcements

"Immediately after this war started, the Japanese forces moved down on either side of the Philippines to numerous points south of them—thereby completely encircling the islands from north, south, east, and west.

"It is that complete encirclement, with control of the air by Japanese land-based aircraft, which has prevented us from sending substantial reënforcements of men and material to the gallant defenders of the Philippines. For 40 years it has always been our strategy—a strategy born of necessity—that in the event of a full scale attack on the islands by Japan, we should fight a delaying action, attempting to retire slowly into Bataan peninsula and Corregidor.

"We knew that the war as a whole would have to be fought and won by a process of attrition against Japan itself. We knew all along that, with our greater resources, we could outbuild Japan and ultimately overwhelm her on sea, on land, and in the air. We knew that, to obtain our objective, many varieties of operations would be necessary in areas other than the Philippines.

"Nothing that has occurred in the past two months has caused us to revise this basic strategy—except that the defense put up by Gen. MacArthur has magnificently exceeded the previous estimates; and he and his men are gaining eternal glory therefor.

Essential Tasks Being Done.

"MacArthur's army of Filipinos and Americans, and the forces of the united nations in China, in Burma, and in the Netherlands East Indies, are all together fulfilling the same essential task. They are making Japan pay an increasingly terrible price for her ambitious attempts to seize control of the whole Asiatic world. Every Japanese transport sunk off Java is one less transport that they can use to carry reënforcements to their army opposing Gen. MacArthur in Luzon.

"It has been said that Japanese gains in the Philippines were made possible only by the success of their surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. I tell you that this is not so.

"Even if the attack had not been made, your map will show that it would have been a hopeless operation for us to send the fleet to the Philippines thru thousands of miles of ocean, while all those island bases were under the sole control of the Japanese.

"The consequences of the attack on Pearl Harbor—serious as they were—have been wildly exaggerated in other ways. These exaggerations come originally from axis propagandists; but they have been repeated, I regret to say, by Americans in and out of public life.

Denies Reports of Huge Losses.

"You and I have the utmost contempt for Americans who, since Pearl Harbor, have whispered or announced 'off the record' that there was no longer any Pacific fleet—that the fleet was all sunk or destroyed on Dec. 7—that more than 1,000 of our planes were destroyed on the ground.

"They have suggested slyly that the government has withheld the truth about casualties—that 11 or 12 thousand men were killed at Pearl Harbor instead of the figures as officially announced. They have even served the enemy propagandists by spreading the incredible story that shiploads of bodies of our honored American dead were about to arrive in New York harbor to be put in a common grave.

"Almost every axis broadcast directly quotes Americans who, by speech or in the press, make damnable misstatements such as these.

"The American people realize that in many cases details of military operations cannot be disclosed until we are absolutely certain that the announcement will not give to the enemy military information which he does not already possess.

Believes in Public Morale.

"Your government has unmistakable confidence in your ability to hear the worst, without flinching or losing heart. You must, in turn, have complete confidence that your government is keeping nothing from you except information that will help the enemy in his attempt to destroy us. In a democracy there is always a solemn pact of truth between government and the people; but there must also always be a full use of discretion—and that word 'discretion' applies to the critics of government as well.

"This is war. The American people want to know, and will be told, the general trend of how the war is going. But they do not wish to help the enemy any more than our fighting forces do; and they will pay little attention to the rumor-mongers and poison peddlers in our midst.

"To pass from the realm of rumor and poison to the field of facts: the number of our officers and men killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7th was 2,340, and the number wounded was 946. Of all the combatant ships based on Pearl Harbor—battleships, heavy cruisers, light cruisers, aircraft carriers, destroyers, and submarines—only three were permanently put out of commission.

[In his report on Pearl Harbor Dec. 15 Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said 2,729 navy personnel had been killed which added to army deaths made a total of 2,897. Total wounded reported were 879. According to White House Secretary Stephen Early the President's figures are final and accurate. The figures as of Dec. 15 have been cut down, he said, by arrivals of men who were on shipboard and unaccounted for or else erroneously reported dead.]

MUCH OF FLEET UNDAMAGED

Says Large Number of Ships Not in Pearl Harbor

"Very many of the ships of the Pacific fleet were not even in Pearl Harbor. Some of those that were there were hit very slightly; and others that were damaged have either rejoined the fleet by now or are still undergoing repairs. When those repairs are completed, the ships will be more efficient fighting machines than they were before.

"The report that we lost more than a thousand airplanes at Pearl Harbor is as baseless as the other weird rumors. The Japanese do not know just how many planes they destroyed that day, and I am not going to tell them. But I can say that to date—and including Pearl Harbor—we have destroyed considerably more Japanese planes than they have destroyed of ours.

"We have most certainly suffered losses—from Hitler's U-boats in the Atlantic as well as from the Japanese in the Pacific—and we shall suffer more of them before the turn of the tide. But, speaking for the United States of America, let me say once and for all to the people of the world: We Americans have been compelled to yield ground, but we will regain it.

"We and the other united nations are committed to the destruction of the militarism of Japan and Germany. We are daily increasing our strength. Soon we and not our enemies will have the offensive; we, not they, will win the final battles; and we, not they, will make the final peace.

Production Special Task.

"Conquered nations in Europe know what the yoke of the Nazis is like. And the people of Corea and of Manchuria know in their flesh the harsh despotism of Japan. All of the people of Asia know that if there is to be an honorable and decent future for any of them or for us, that future depends on victory by the united nations over the forces of axis enslavement.

"If a just and durable peace is to be attained, or even if all of us are merely to save our own skins, there is one thought for us here at home to keep uppermost—the fulfillment of our special task of production.

"Germany, Italy, and Japan are very close to their maximum output of planes, guns, tanks, and ships. The united nations are not—especially the United States of America.

"Our first job then is to build up production so that the united nations can maintain control of the seas and attain control of the air—not merely a slight superiority, but an overwhelming superiority.

"On Jan. 6 of this year, I set certain definite goals of production for airplanes, tanks, guns, and ships. The axis propagandists called them fantastic. Tonight, nearly two months later, and after a careful survey of progress by Donald Nelson and others charged with responsibility for our production, I can tell you that those goals will be attained.

More and More Production.

"In every part of the country, experts in production and the men and women at work in the plants are giving loyal service. With few exceptions, labor, capital, and farming realize that this is no time either to make undue profits or to gain special advantages, one over the other.

"We are calling for new plants and additions to old plants and for plant conversion to war needs. We are seeking more men and more women to run them. We are working longer hours. We are coming to realize that one extra plane or extra tank or extra gun or extra ship completed tomorrow may, in a few months, turn the tide on some distant battlefield; it may make the difference between life and death for some of our fighting men. We know now that if we lose this war it will be generations or even centuries before our conception of democracy can live again. And we can lose this war only if we slow up our effort or if we waste our ammunition sniping at each other.

HIGH AMERICAN PURPOSES

Three Objectives Are Given for Every Citizen of Country

"Here are three high purposes for every American:

"1. We shall not stop work for a single day. If any dispute arises we shall keep on working while the dispute is solved by mediation, conciliation, or arbitration—until the war is won.

"2. We shall not demand special gains or special privileges or advantages for any one group or occupation.

"3. We shall give up conveniences and modify the routine of our lives if our country asks us to do so. We will do it cheerfully, remembering that the common enemy seeks to destroy every home and every freedom in every part of our land.

"This generation of Americans has come to realize, with a present and personal realization, that there is something larger and more important than the life of any individual or of any individual group—something for which a man will sacrifice, and gladly sacrifice, not only his pleasures, not only his goods, not only his associations with those he loves, but his life itself. In time of crisis when the future is in the balance, we come to understand, with full recognition and devotion, what this nation is, and what we owe to it.

"The axis propagandists have tried in various evil ways to destroy our determination and our morale. Failing in that, they are now trying to destroy our confidence in our own allies. They say that the British are finished — that the Russians and Chinese are about to quit. Patriotic and sensible Americans will reject these absurdities. And instead of listening to any of this crude propaganda, they will recall some of the things that Nazis and Japanese have said and are still saying about us.

One Persistent Theme.

"Ever since this nation became the arsenal of democracy—ever since enactment of lend-lease—there has been one persistent theme thru all axis propaganda.

"This theme has been that Americans are admittedly rich, and that Americans have considerable industrial power—but that Americans are soft and decadent, that they cannot and will not unite and work and fight.

"From Berlin, Rome, and Tokio we have been described as a nation of weaklings—'playboys'—who would hire British soldiers, or Russian soldiers, or Chinese soldiers to do our fighting for us.

"Let them repeat that now!

"Let them tell that to Gen. MacArthur and his men.

"Let them tell that to the sailors who today are hitting hard in the far waters of the Pacific.

"Let them tell that to the boys in the flying fortresses.

"Let them tell that to the marines!

Dedicated to Common Cause.

"The united nations constitute an association of independent peoples of equal dignity and importance. The united nations are dedicated to a common cause. We share equally and with equal zeal the anguish and awful sacrifices of war. In the partnership of our common enterprise, we must share in a unified plan in which all of us must play our several parts, each of us being equally indispensable and dependent one on the other.

"We have unified command and coöperation and comradeship.

"We Americans will contribute unified production and unified acceptance of sacrifice and of effort. That means a national unity that can know no limitations of race or creed or selfish politics. The American people expect that much from themselves. And the American people will find ways and means of expressing their determination to their enemies, including the Japanese admiral who has said that he will dictate the terms of peace here in the White House.

"We of the united nations are agreed on certain broad principles in the kind of peace we seek. The Atlantic charter applies not only to the parts of the world that border the Atlantic but to the whole world; disarmament of aggressors, self-determination of nations and peoples, and the four freedoms—freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear.

Know Fury of Nazi Onslaught.

"The British and the Russian people have known the full fury of Nazi onslaught. There have been times when the fate of London and Moscow was in serious doubt. But there was never the slightest question that either the British or the Russians would yield. And today all the united nations salute the superb Russian army as it celebrates the 24th anniversary of its first assembly.

"Tho their homeland was overrun, the Dutch people are still fighting stubbornly and powerfully overseas.

"The great Chinese people have suffered grievous losses; Chungking has been almost wiped out of existence—yet it remains the capital of an unbeatable China.

"That is the conquering spirit which prevails thruout the united nations in this war.

"The task that we Americans now face will test us to the uttermost.

"Never before have we been called upon for such a prodigious effort. Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much.

"'These are the times that try men's souls.'

Written on Drum Head.

"Tom Paine wrote those words on a drum head by the light of a campfire. That was when Washington's little army of ragged, rugged men was retreating across New Jersey, having tasted nothing but defeat.

"And Gen. Washington ordered that these great words written by Tom Paine be read to the men of every regiment in the Continental army, and this was the assurance given to the first American armed forces:

"'The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the sacrifice, the more glorious the triumph.'

"So spoke Americans in the year 1776.

"So speak Americans today!"

Roosevelt Speech Gets Top Play in London Papers

LONDON, Feb. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—President Roosevelt's speech was given top play in some London morning papers and all carried it prominently, giving particular emphasis to his declaration that the United States must first all around the world.

100 MILLION NOT ENOUGH! OCD TO SEEK DONATIONS

Ask Civilian to Pay Costs of Block Offices.

Even as President Roosevelt signed the 100 million dollar appropriation for the Office of Civilian Defense yesterday, OCD headquarters in Chicago said block captains will soon be knocking at doors asking for donations.

These gentlemen will be seeking money to take care of the expenses of the district defense offices—rent, telephone, and printing bills that command no share of the OCD melon.

Funds for Regional Units.

The huge appropriation will be spent to maintain the regional offices and their staffs and to finance such purchases as air raid precaution signals, fire fighting equipment, and other paraphernalia deemed essential for the protection of civilians.

Returning to the subject of the block captain at your door.

Recognizing the probability of false representation, OCD headquarters stressed two precautionary measures each citizen should take. It is believed they will cut derelictions to a minimum and are:

1. Insist the solicitor present his credentials.

2. Be sure he gives you a receipt for the full amount you donated and see that he records the amount on his books.

Each to Determine Costs.

Each of the civilian defense districts in Chicago has been asked to determine its budget. The amount to be collected is then prorated to the block captains.

However, not all districts have chosen to conduct their fund campaign on the straight solicitation basis. Some will hold benefit dances.

As another safeguard, OCD headquarters has asked complete financial records of all transactions be kept and open to inspection at all times.

Some indication of the amount required is furnished by the drive now under way in the Beverly Hills district. Each home is being asked to contribute 50 cents which, it is estimated, will run the district for 16 months.

Should you notice any suspicious circumstances in the fund campaign, you are asked to notify OCD headquarters by calling Randolph 3760.

250 WAR PLANTS IDLE AS WORKERS ASK DOUBLE TIME

35,000 Walk Out Over 10 Hour Day.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 23 [Special].—In the face of an urgent government request to keep vital industry producing, 17,000 workmen in 250 west coast war equipment plants took the day off because of a Washington's birthday pay dispute and 3,500 CIO workers in a San Pedro shipyard walked out in protest against a work day they considered too long.

The work stoppages were taking place as President Roosevelt was emphasizing in his speech last night that "war production must be uninterrupted" and was telling the world that "we shall not stop work for a single day; if any dispute arises we shall keep on working while the dispute is solved by mediation, conciliation, or arbitration—until the war is won."

Insist on 8-Hour Day.

CIO members walked out at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation yards in what spokesmen said was a protest against a 10 hour day, initiated Feb. 12. The spokesman said the night shift would quit work at the end of eight hours. About 5,000 men work in two shifts at the yards.

"This definitely is no strike," the spokesman said. "We merely called the men off the job at the end of eight hours to bring the company to terms."

The AFL men knocked off work for the day because employers said they couldn't pay the double time called for in contracts and union leaders said they could not ask their men to work for less. The action was taken despite the request of Donald Nelson, War Production board chief, that war industry continue operating on the holiday.

The walkout closed small war industry plants around San Francisco bay, at Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. The interruption was the more important because most of the machine shops involved normally work only five days a week.

Big Plants Operate.

Many of the shops declined to pay the double time overtime rate because it would mean a loss. Max Lowe, secretary of the California Metal Trades association, said: "Employers in general can't pay double time because their contracts with the government don't provide for it."

The big plants, producing warplanes and ships, kept operating, their contracts covering the situation. A few of the 200 machine shops on San Francisco bay and about 10 of the 50 small industrial plants at Seattle operated with employers paying holiday wages and digging into their own pockets for the overtime.

In contrast to the walkouts, 550 men in Berkeley worked for nothing as a patriotic gesture and employers paid overtime out of their pockets. Workers at the Hall Scott Motor Car company, makers of marine engines for Britain, donated their day's pay of time and a half to the Navy Relief society.

ILLINOIS GUARD DIVISION NOW IS STREAMLINE UNIT

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Feb. 23 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commanding officer of the 33d [Illinois] division, announced today the unit has been streamlined from an old "square division" of four regiments to a modern, harder hitting "triangular division" of three regiments.

The organization was carried out Saturday, he said, with no lost motion since one of the division's infantry regiments already had left camp for an unannounced destination. The regiments of the new 33d, he said, are in the process of being brought up to their full strength of 3,325 men each. The old type of division included some 18,000 men.

Brig. Gen. D. S. Myers remains with the 33d as assistant division commander while Brig. Gen. Albert S. Culberton has left on a new assignment, Gen. Lawton said.

JOINT BUREAUS TO HANDLE WAR PRISONER LISTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Establishment of a clearing house for information on prisoners of war and enemy aliens was announced jointly today by the war and navy departments.

Two bureaus, in the office of the army's provost marshal general, the prisoners of War Information bureau, and Alien Enemy Information bureau, expect to exchange information with enemy countries thru the International Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland.

Thus far, the announcement said, very little information is available on Americans in the hands of the enemy.

Requests for information, the announcement said, should be sent to the Information bureau, American section, Office of the Provost Marshal General, war department, Washington, D. C.

NAVAL OFFICERS' INSIGNIA.

Many persons have written to this department asking for an explanation of the insignia worn by commissioned officers of the navy. They say that, while they have become able to recognize the various grades of army officers, the gold stripe identifications are too much for them.

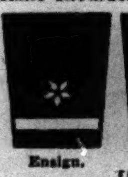
The stripe insignia are worn in two ways. On the officers' service coat [the short undercoat which corresponds to the suit coat worn by the civilian male] the insignia is worn at the cuffs of the sleeves. On white summer uniforms and on officers' overcoats, the insignia is worn at the shoulder, on what are known as shoulder boards, which resemble epaulets.

Following are the sleeve and shoulder insignia worn by the various naval officers:

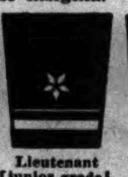
Ensign—One-half inch sleeve stripe; similiar marking on shoulder board.

Lieutenant [junior grade]—One-fourth inch stripe above ½ inch stripe; same shoulder markings.

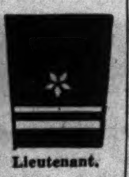
Lieutenant—Two ½ inch stripes; same shoulder insignia.



Ensign.



Lieutenant [junior grade].

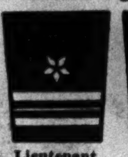


Lieutenant.

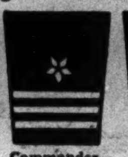
Lieutenant commander—One-quarter inch stripe between two ½ inch stripes; same shoulder insignia.

Commander—Three ½ inch stripes; same shoulder marking.

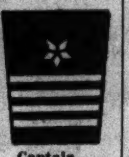
Captain—Four ½ inch stripes; same shoulder insignia.



Lieutenant commander.



Commander.

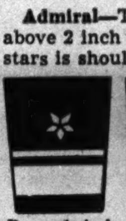


Captain.

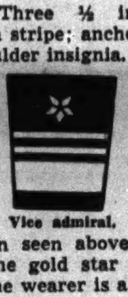
Rear admiral—One ½ inch stripe above a 2 inch stripe; shoulder marking is an anchor with two gold stars on a background of gold lace.

Vice admiral—Two ½ inch stripes above 2 inch stripe; shoulder insignia is anchor with three stars.

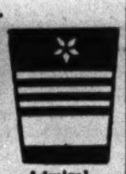
Admiral—Three ½ inch stripes above 2 inch stripe; anchor with four stars is shoulder insignia.



Rear admiral.



Vice admiral.



Admiral.

Most often seen above the sleeve stripes is the gold star which indicates that the wearer is a line officer.

[Tomorrow: Duties of the Marine Corps.]

QUESTIONS.

S. L. asks: "Does one have to have a college education to join the naval air corps? Do you have to be classified 1-A to enlist?"

ANSWER: One of the requirements for appointment as a naval aviation cadet is that the applicant must have successfully completed at least two years in an accredited university or college. Draft classification has no bearing on the applicant's appointment.

J. F. F. asks: "What is the vision requirement for a yeoman or storekeeper's rating in the navy?"

ANSWER: A minimum vision of 15/20 in each eye is required for enlistment in the navy. This would apply also for any rating.

H. M. writes: "The Tribune's recent article on Chanute field interested me very much. I would like to know the qualifications for admittance there."

ANSWER: Men for the ground crew of the army air corps are trained at Chanute field, and enlistment in that branch is now closed until further notice.

F. W. F. asks: "Is it now possible to get into the army air corps with bad teeth, or must they be fixed first?"

ANSWER: Applicants must have a minimum of 12 good teeth, including three pairs of opposing incisors and three pairs of opposing molars. Aside from these teeth, if decayed teeth are found, the applicant would not be disqualified provided the decayed teeth are restorable or that their loss would not mean an insufficient number of natural masticating or incisor teeth.

ILLINOIS G.O.P. IN HOUSE VOTES BROOKS' DINNER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Republican members of the Illinois delegation in the house voted unanimously at a meeting today to tender a dinner in honor of Sen. Wayland Brooks the night of March 4, which marks also the ninth anniversary of the New Deal.

The dinner will be held in a Washington hotel which will be selected by a committee on arrangements headed by Rep. Robert B. Chiperfield of the 15th district.

Attending today's meeting were Representitives Stephen A. Day [congressman at large], Charles S. Dewey [9th district], George A. Paddock [10th], Reed; Noah M. Mason [12th], Anton J. Johnson [14th], Chipperfield; Everett M. Dirksen [16th], Leslie C. Arends [17th], Jessie Sumner [18th], William H. Wheat [19th], Evan Howell [21st], James V. Heidinger [24th], and C. W. Bishop [25th].

Representitives Leo E. Allen [13th], and William G. Stratton [at large], were unable to attend because of official business, it was explained.

BEATEN BY GOONS FOR WORKING ON UNION'S HOLIDAY

Sluggers Attack Meat Distributor in Market.

Caught between War Production Chairman Donald Nelson's edict to workers to work as usual on the Washington's birthday holiday and that of local 710 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters that meat wagon drivers must observe the holiday, Oakley Lester, 38 years old, a meat distributor from Elgin, suffered fractures of the jaw and nose yesterday.

Lester was slugged, reportedly by two union agents, when he attempted to haul meat from the wholesale market of M. Rothschild & Sons, 224 North Peoria street.

Names Union Agents.

Bernie Rothschild of the meat concern told Capt. John Carton of the Desplaines street police station he recognized the sluggers as officials of local 710 of the teamsters' union. Capt. Carton said Lester told him he would ask warrants for their arrest today.

Rothschild said the dispute that led up to the slugging began inside the wholesale house, apparently as an attempt to prevent Lester from buying meat in violation of the union holiday decree.

"The two union men walked into our store after Lester had entered and began talking to him," the meat dealer said. "A scuffle started, and they battled him out onto the sidewalk. Then they let him have it. I didn't see a weapon, but from the looks of Lester I don't see how they could have done that to him with their fists."

Tells of Argument.

Lester told Capt. Carton the two men told him not to buy meat, since the union was observing a holiday. He said he told them he does not belong to the union. Then, he asserted, they threatened him, after which he told them he would do as he pleased.

"They started to push me around," Lester continued. "I pushed back. They got me out onto the sidewalk and beat me."

The Elgin distributor said he had taken the Nelson edict at face value. "I thought it was up to patriotic workers to obey such requests, and that's why I was working," he declared.

PUBLIC INQUIRY ORDERED ON NAVY DUD AMMUNITION

Move to Hold Probe in Secret Is Blocked.

committee to Jacobs when questioned Thursday about Winchell's gossip collecting in New York night clubs while wearing the uniform of a lieutenant commander.

In his broadcast Saturday Agronsky said that when the convoy was six hours at sea the American warship picked up a broadcast from Tokio describing the makeup and destination of the convoy and that 32 Japanese bombers appeared overhead two hours later and bombed the convoy.

He quoted the lieutenant as saying that the warship's anti-aircraft ammunition was of 1930 and 1931 issue.

Agronsky said the lieutenant added he would like "to tie to the foremast the gentlemen responsible for United States' warships being equipped with this type of ammunition."

U. S. Flyers Outnumbered.

In addition to recounting the description of the ammunition, Agronsky said that as he spoke "the outcome of the allied defense of Bali is not yet completely known," but that "it would take an incurable optimist to doubt the ultimate result. The allied defense there, as thruout the far eastern theater of war, are pitifully weak."

"You must know," he continued, "that every time an American pilot takes off to meet the Japs, he knows before his machine leaves the ground that if he is lucky he will be outnumbered by at least 5 to 1. If he runs into the usual Jap formation, the odds against him will be 15 to 1.

Planes and Pilots Needed.

"You must know that when land fighting starts in Java the odds will be equally great; that in the seas thruout this entire area the sailors of the American and allied forces today, as in the first days of the war, have to face equally overwhelming odds. If 1,000 American fighter pilots and machines and another 500 bomber pilots and machines were to arrive today, the allies would have a good chance of holding Java.'

"The Japs are not supermen. They can be stopped if the lessons of morale and in fact of the entire far eastern campaign are not only recognized but put to use.

"In Malaya the British were not only outnumbered, but outsmarted and outgeneraled. From the first days of the campaign the Japs gained nearly as much from enemy bungling as thru their own well executed attacks. Time and again, in the course of the British retreat, lack of organization gave the Japs intact air fields, petrol stores, and ammunition depots."

Describes RAF Experiences.

He told of experiences related by members of the RAF. A shipload of pilots from England spent the entire voyage organizing as a unit so they would be ready to go into action immediately when they landed in Singapore.

Realizing the Singapore air field might not be usable when they arrived, they laid out on their maps streets from which they could take off with fighters.

"Every detail of assembly of the crated planes had been worked out beforehand," Agronsky said. "They believed they could have their planes in the air and be functioning as an operational unit within 24 hours of landing.

"When these men arrived in Singapore they found no one at the docks who even knew they were expected.

Told to Go to Java.

"After much searching they reached an RAF headquarters officer and asked that they be allowed to go into action immediately. Instead, they were informed that as they apparently were not expected in Singapore they could not operate there but would have to go to Java and receive instructions from the high command.

"All of this time their ship was being heavily bombed at the dock.

"They finally got back to Java. I cannot reveal the number of their casualties.

"The officer ended this story with the laconic remark, 'It did not improve the morale.'"

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

Have you any way of predicting a change in the weather without the aid of a weather man?

WHERE ASKED.

Hotel Sherman.

THE ANSWERS.

Lorna Lynn, actress, 49 West 77th street, New York City—My head of hair is the best weather prophet anybody would want. I can always tell when it's going to rain because my hair starts to get curlier and by the time it's actually raining my hair is real curly. Course I can't always predict much about the temperature but that's not so important.

Paul Chapman, food manufacturer for bakers, 1400 Lake Shore drive—I'm not one of those lucky individuals gifted with a rheumatic toe that begins to throb whenever there's a change in the weather. My safest bet is just to raise the window and look out. If people are carrying umbrellas I figure they're anticipating something, but my umbrella stays right in the closet just the same.

J. J. Kelly, flour broker, Mundelein—There's a friend of mine who, as a weather prophet, is great. Just by the way he mixes cocktails I can tell what kind of a day it's going to be. Five shakes means fair weather and 10 means a cold wave is coming.

C. J. Burny, president Burny Brothers, Inc., 1426 Clinton place, River Forest—The weather, rain or shine, has never meant much to me so I haven't learned to be independent of government forecasters. But I do know that when we have a clear, dry day like this one, it means cold weather is in store for us.

Harry Freeman, paper manufacturer, 819 Gunnison avenue—As far as I am personally concerned there are only two kinds of weather, clear flying weather and the other kind. I can't predict weather and rely completely on whether I can book passage on planes within the next day or two. If I can't I know it means stormy weather in some vicinity.

Victor E. Marx, editor baker's trade journal, 1541 Birchwood avenue—There's a lot to be deciphered in the color of the clouds and sky. Once the veil of smoke lifts and reveals the real color, I've learned to distinguish the difference between a rain cloud and a harmless one. I know a sunrise in a red sky often means more precipitation.

SEEK 2 GUNMEN WHO KIDNAPED MRS. COMISKEY

Police were searching last night for two gunmen who early yesterday morning kidnaped Mrs. Grace Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox baseball club, and robbed her of $12 and a diamond ring valued at $1,500.

She was sitting in a lounge adjoining the bowling alleys at 2011 East 71st street, owned by Ted Lyons, veteran White Sox pitcher, while her son, Charles, 16, was bowling. They were about ready to leave, she said, when one of the bandits came up behind her with a gun and forced her to walk outside thru a crowded room.

Another man was waiting outside. The two bandits forced Mrs. Comiskey into their car and drove her to 63d and Stony Island avenue, where they took her jewelry and cash. They returned $1 for cabfare. Mrs. Comiskey is the widow of J. Louis Comiskey, who inherited the White Sox organization from his father, the late Charles A. Comiskey.

SENTENCE SEVEN EX-INMATES OF TRAINING SCHOOL

Chicago Tough Attacks Pair of Keepers.

Seven former inmates of the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles yesterday were sentenced to prison terms by Charles D. Page, Elgin city judge, who was sitting in Kane county Circuit court in Geneva.

Carl Smidt, 15 years old, was sentenced to 2 to 6 years for an assault last month on Mrs. Leona Rausch, house mother, just before he escaped. He was captured after 24 hours. Smidt, an orphan whose foster parents live in Norwood Park, struck Mrs. Rausch over the head with a heavy iron skillet, leaving her unconscious as he fled.

Four Plead Guilty.

Four others who were among 13 who fled the institution in a mass escape on Jan. 25, pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile. They were captured after the car which they had taken from a farmer broke down in a side road. Two of the four, Charles Logan, 16, of Lawrenceville, and Robert Sommers, 15, of Duquesne, were sentenced to two to six years. Donald Hoffman, 16, of Granite City, and John Hardesty, 16, of Danville, were sentenced to two to three years.

Henry Pattison of Elgin, a parolee, from the school, who pleaded guilty to the theft of a car last Jan. 26, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years. John Quillman was ordered to serve four months at the Vandalia prison farm after he pleaded guilty to stealing $6 from a janitor in the Baker-Rockwell Memorial center, St. Charles, while the janitor was asleep. Both Pattison and Quillman are 21.

Another disorder at the training school was reported yesterday. Noah Betts, Chicago Negro inmate, attacked two of the keepers with a heavy mop handle.

Betts, 17 years old, was overpowered and then lodged in the Kane county jail in Geneva on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Inmate Since July 18.

An inmate since last July 18, Betts has a long record of rebelliousness and impudence, Russell W. Ballard, managing officer, said. He was sentenced to the institution on a charge of armed robbery. Betts' home is at 4154 Cottage Grove avenue.

Custodian Marcus Jones said he had trouble with Betts Sunday night. Yesterday he was reporting the matter to Alfred Vance, house father, when Betts struck him. Betts then rushed to the basement, seized the mop handle and attacked both Jones and Vance before he was overpowered.

DON'T LET DRAFT STRIP THE FARMS, HERSHEY WARNS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Approximately 70 per cent of all selective service registrants classified so far have been deferred, Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, said today.

He said that percentage, however, is expected to drop sharply as a result of the army's recent relaxation of standards for teeth and eyesight.

Gen. Hershey said the supply of essential civilian workers, such as farm laborers, should not be depleted by the draft. Questioned by the house agriculture committee in a study of a threatened farm labor shortage, he said many farm boys were reluctant to seek deferment lest they be thought unpatriotic.

Hershey said he was striving to educate local boards to the necessity of refraining from exhausting their farm labor rolls. At the same time he said many workers in shipyards and aircraft factories expecting exemption "are in for a rude awakening" because many of them can be replaced more easily than farm workers."

M'KELLAR OFFERS BILL ABOLISHING CCC AND NYA

Tydings Measure Puts the OCD in War Department.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. McKellar.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Bills calling for the abolition or consolidation of 12 federal agencies with more than 31,000 employés were introduced in the senate today by Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], ranking majority member of the appropriations committee and one of the most influential members of the senate.

The stated purpose of the McKellar proposals is "to avoid unnecessary appropriations, to eliminate wasteful expenditures, to prevent duplication of functions," and to make their employés available for transfer to agencies engaged in war work.

Would Abolish NYA, CCC.

One McKellar bill would abolish the Civilian Conservation corps and the National Youth administration. The other would abolish five federal housing agencies and consolidate all others under a single new "national housing agency."

Other developments affecting the federal burocracy and demands to streamline it for a more efficient and less costly prosecution of the war included:

1. Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] and Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] introduced separate bills to abolish the Office of Civilian Defense and transfer the function of protecting the civilian population against enemy raids to the war department. The President already has signed the 100 million dollar OCD appropriation bill.

Hits Ink Brigade.

2. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenburg [R., Mich.], speaking in the senate, demanded a demobilization of the "printer's ink brigade" engaged in the government's so-called "information services." He placed in the record figures showing that a total of 2,995 full time employés and 31,618 part time employés are engaged at an annual cost of approximately $27,000,000.

3. Sen. Tydings, chairman of an appropriations subcommittee investigating the possibilities of pruning the "federal jungle," completed and sent to the printing office a questionnaire calling upon every employing agency, division, or subdivision, however small, to justify its existence and the maintenance of each person on the pay roll.

4. Altho Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has resigned as assistant director of the OCD, she announced at a press conference today that the activities of the volunteer participation division, which she headed, will be continued as a function of a new civilian mobilization branch, to be headed by Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., newspaper publisher.

Sen. Tydings told the senate that the purpose of his bill to abolish the OCD and transfer its functions to the war department "would be to have an office of civilian defense devoted primarily to that objective."

A similar bill calling for shifting OCD to the war department was offered in the house by Rep. Charles J. Faddis [D., Pa.].

Would Kill 5 Housing Units.

The bill introduced by Sen. McKellar relating to federal housing activities is much more far reaching than an order which President Roosevelt will issue tomorrow. According to a White House announcement, the order will place all housing agencies under one head with the exception of the so-called defense housing unit of the federal works agency. None, however, would be abolished.

McKellar's bill would abolish the United States Housing authority, with 2,041 employés; the Public Buildings administration, with 11,708; the Federal Housing administration, with 5,460; the Federal Home Loan Bank board, with 430, and the division of Defense Housing coördination, a White House adjunct, with 290.

The other McKellar bill would give the NYA until Dec. 31 to wind up its affairs but would forbid the undertaking of any new NYA project unless it could be completed by July 1. It would give the CCC until Dec. 31 to wind up its affairs but no person could be enrolled by that organization for any period beyond June 30. At present the NYA has 3,181 administrative employés and the CCC has 1,134. The CCC has about 115,000 enrollees. Appropriations for the NYA for the current fiscal year total $151,767,000 and appropriations for the CCC total $246,960,000.

YOUNG PACIFIST SCULPTOR SIGNS DRAFT PAPERS

David Nyvall Jr., 20 years old, yesteday reconsidered his refusal to register for the draft and was taken to the office of United States Marshal William H. McDonnell, where he filled out a questionnaire as his father and mother watched. Young Nyvall, a sculptor, was then returned to the county jail, where he is held in bond of $5,000 awaiting arraignment March 9 before Judge William Campbell in the federal District court on a charge of draft evasion. He is expected to seek to avoid service in the armed forces because he is a conscientious objector.

Divorce Tragedy

Mrs. Rose Burianek, whose husband, Laddie, was killed in an automobile accident. She called it suicide. She began a divorce action against him last week.

A statement that her husband's death in an auto crash Sunday was not an accident but suicide was made yesterday by Mrs. Rose Burianek, 30 years old, 1438 Kedzie avenue. The husband, Laddie, 25, of 1507 South Spaulding avenue, was killed when his speeding car left Archer avenue at 98th street and overturned after plunging down a 10 foot embankment.

Mrs. Burianek, who had a divorce action pending, told Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker that Burianek called on her Sunday, that he had been drinking, and that he told her she would never get a divorce because he was going to drive his car into a gully at Archer and 98th. She said she made him drink 10 cups of black coffee, and, with the aid of her landlady, placed cold towels on his head.

They argued for some time, she said, and Burianek, after telling her she would get no money because he had placed all his in another woman's name, stormed out of the house. He asked her to come with him, she said, but she refused. It was 3 p. m. when he left her home, Mrs. Burianek said. The Willow Springs station of the sheriff's police said the crash was at 3:28 p. m.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death, but after Mrs. Burianek's version of the crash had been disclosed Deputy Coroner George Mrazek asked that the inquest be reopened.

PRESIDENT BALKS WIFE'S CLEAN-OUT OF FAMILY ATTICS

Roosevelts Are Savers, She Declares.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is finding out that a President's wife can't just clean out attics and closets and burn letters—even her own—as she pleases. It seems her husband has a historian's viewpoint and keeps an eye on what she might be tempted to destroy.

Right now Mrs. Roosevelt is trying to dispose of the many and varied personal possessions of her mother-in-law, the late Mrs. Sara Roosevelt, at the latter's Hyde Park, N. Y., home and in her town house on East 65th street, New York. Mrs. Roosevelt today let her press conference in on the difficulties.

"Never Threw Away Anything."

To begin with, the elder Mrs. Roosevelt, in the words of her daughter-in-law, "never threw away anything." In her long life—she died last October in her 87th year—she saved souvenirs from her girlhood and later family mementos.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she came across letters she had written to her mother-in-law on the first trip she and her husband took to Europe—a sort of belated honeymoon. Mrs. Roosevelt wanted to burn them.

"No, you don't," the President protested, "remember their historical value."

The President wants the Hyde Park home, where he was born, kept very much as it was during his mother's lifetime, Mrs. Roosevelt said. He may set up a Sara Delano Roosevelt collection in the library he built on the estate to house his public papers.

May Sell Town Houses.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she is having difficulty also in getting her five children to decide what they want of their grandmother's Victorian possessions. She added—a bit firmly—that she was sending all the children things they ought to have whether they want them or not. Among the things they're going to get, "willy-nilly," she indicated, are some water color sketches their grandmother had made of them as children.

Mrs. Roosevelt said the joint town houses, 47 and 49 East 65th street—one occupied by the late Mrs. Roosevelt and the other by her son and his family—might be sold shortly.

Letter Found at Burglary Scene Leads to an Arrest

A letter led to the arrest yesterday of Robert Blayloch, 38 years old, 131 Germania place, as a burglary suspect. Ralph R. Hopson, 1614 East 84th street, found the letter Saturday night on the back porch of his burglarized flat. It was addressed to Blayloch. Police seized Blayloch and in his home found a topcoat and a set of binoculars taken from Hopson's flat.

PRESIDENT ASKS 57 MILLIONS FOR POWER PROJECTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an additional $57,125,000 to expedite construction of hydroelectric projects for war industries. Principal items are the Bull Shoals and the Table Rock dams on the White river in Arkansas and Missouri, respectively, for which the President sought $1,025,000 to initiate construction before the end of the present fiscal year and 25 million dollars more for construction during the year beginning July 1.

The President's message recommended a separate appropriation of $1,300,000 to continue construction of a hydroelectric power plant at Fort Peck dam, Mont.

WHAT! A girl training men to fly for Uncle Sam?

● The name is Lennox — Peggy Lennox. She's blonde. She's pretty. She may not look the part of a trainer of fighting men, but —

She is one of the few women pilots qualified to give instruction in the CAA flight training program. And the records at Randolph and Pensacola of the men who learned to fly from Peggy show she's doing a man-sized job of it. She's turned out pilots for the Army . . . for the Navy. Peggy is loyal to both arms of the service. Her only favorite is the favorite in every branch of the service — Camel cigarettes. She says: "They're milder in every way."

DON'T LET THOSE EYES and that smile fool you. When this young lady starts talking airplanes—and what it takes to fly 'em—brother, you'd listen, too . . . just like these students above.

SHE MAY CALL YOU by your first name now and then, but when she calls you up for that final "check flight," you'd better know your loops. It's strictly regulation with her.

YES, and with Instructor Peggy Lennox, it's strictly Camels, too—the flier's favorite. "Mildness is a rule with me," she explains. "That means Camels. There's less nicotine in the smoke."

Flying Instructor PEGGY LENNOX says:

THIS IS THE CIGARETTE FOR ME. EXTRA MILD—AND THERE'S SOMETHING SO CHEERING ABOUT CAMEL'S GRAND FLAVOR

● "EXTRA MILD," says Instructor Peggy Lennox. "Less nicotine in the smoke," adds the student, as they talk it over—over Camels in the pilot room at right.

Yes, there is less nicotine in the smoke of slower-burning Camels ...extra mildness...but that alone doesn't tell you why, with smokers in the service . . . in private life, as well . . . Camels are preferred.

No, there's something else...something more. Call it flavor, call it pleasure, or what you will, you'll find it only in Camels. You'll like it!

The smoke of slower-burning Camels contains 28% LESS NICOTINE
than the average of the 4 other largest-selling cigarettes tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!

● BY BURNING 25% SLOWER than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested — slower than any of them — Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

REFORMS IN BRITAIN.

The news from London these days is, in a measure, encouraging. Something is being done to solve the old and stubborn problem of India. Something is being done to shake the incompetents out of the army and its administration. It is true that both of these matters are receiving attention only because disasters have forced the government to take action, but necessity has often proved a wise master.

The Japanese in Burma are hammering at the eastern gates of India and there is reason to fear that the Germans may attempt to push toward India from the west. If India is lost, as the Malay States and the positions on the China coast have been already, nothing of consequence will be left of Britain's oriental empire. The boast that the sun never sets on the Union Jack will no longer correspond to the facts.

Evidently there is now a realization in London that the defense of India depends in large measure upon the allegiance of the Indian people, and under the pressure of necessity measures granting a large degree of self-government to India are being pushed. It is to be hoped they have not come too late to save the situation. The fact that the Indian people have reason to fear the Japanese more than the British suggests that a satisfactory arrangement can be reached. The British on their side and the Moslems and Hindus in India on theirs are all under pressure to adjust their differences in the presence of the common enemies.

The shake-up in the British government, and particularly in the war office, has also been long overdue. There is now some reason to believe that the reforms in the army which Hore-Belisha tried to introduce before the war may be achieved after all. He sought to break down the semifeudal caste system in the army and was making some progress when the old guard, which had always resented him and his ideas, finally brought about his dismissal.

Hard luck could account for one or two reverses but it cannot explain such a succession of disasters as has attended British arms. The generals have been found to be lacking in imagination and unable even to learn from the enemy. The staff work has been slipshod. There have been few evidences of the kind of skill and resolution displayed by Gen. MacArthur and his army on Luzon. No English soldiers have fought better than the Filipinos are fighting today and it is doubtful if any English army of equal size has fought as well.

The British government, observing this loyalty on the part of so-called natives, may well have been encouraged to give the Indians the same reasons for defending their country that have inspired the Filipinos. At any rate it is clear that without Indian help and without an extensive shake-up in the army the British empire is not likely to survive much longer.

THE JARGON OF CHAOS.

There is a new jargon in American industry. An excellent specimen of it appeared Monday in the business section of THE TRIBUNE in a letter from the director of purchases for R. G. Le Tourneau, Inc., to the local office of the War Production board. The letter dealt with the Le Tourneau company's difficulties in getting raw materials with which to turn out its large war orders for heavy grading machinery, and is replete with references to A-1-A priority rating, forms PD-25 and PD-25-A, PD-3 extensions, preference rating order P-90, and so on.

But what any one can understand is that on Feb. 9 the company, which has 5 million dollars in unfilled orders from the army and navy, most of which have the highest priority ratings, had to shut down some of its assembly lines and lay off 400 employés for lack of materials. Any one can understand how it would be difficult for its subcontractors to get two ton orders of special steels and special rollings. Steel companies are not setting up their mills for orders of that size today.

Any one can understand the bewilderment of the company officials when, after they had made designs and specifications to use special steels containing the smallest possible amount of such scarce metals as chromium, nickel and molybdenum they received a recommendation from the War Production board that they substitute so-called "victory" steels which contain appreciably higher quantities of the alloying metals which America is finding it difficult to get for its rearmament program. The engineers in the production plant had outstripped the planners in Washington in economy.

The city of Washington isn't contributing a single weapon to the nation's rearmament program. Its only contribution to physical production is an unprecedented quantity of waste paper, most of which is franked thru the mails and clutters up the desks of busy men thruout the country before it finally reaches the paper balers. What Washington is contributing to the rearmament program is chaos, idle machinery, and idle workmen. It is unfitted to be and incapable of being the nerve center of industrial America and in its effort to direct it has only succeeded in hindering.

It is a mistake to charge off this blundering to the incompetence of the men in power in the capital. There are incompetents there, but that is the minor evil. The major evil is the one that has been building up for nine years, and that is the concentration of power in one spot. In the friction and waste of the armament program we are merely paying a heavier price than we paid in peacetime for the centralization of government in Washington.

It isn't so much that the burocrats are incompetent as it is that they are burocrats. The best minds in the country wouldn't do a great deal better if they kept the same system of forcing every one else in the country to go to Washington for the most trivial authority and instruction in the operation of business. Every activity under the sun is being centered in the capital. Nothing is left to individual ingenuity or local administration. We have the planned society, but the plan has been mislaid.

We can win the war if Washington will lay down general policies and leave their execution to the ingenuity, judgment, and patriotism of industrial America. We will lose it, as we are losing it today, if the administration insists on running everything from the center. Our national tragedy is that there are men in Washington who are quite willing to lose the war in order to perpetuate the controls that they now exercise.

AMERICA'S MAN POWER.

With 9 million men added by the new draft, the nation's pool of men between the ages of 20 and 45 subject to armed service now stands at 26.3 millions. The makings of a vast army are here, but before the shattering power of the nation can be turned against its enemies the men must be trained and equipped. Back of them must stand an army of workers.

A survey made by the Cleveland Trust company discloses that we are still a long way from the goal of mobilizing our full strength. In proportion to our population, less than half as many persons are now engaged in our war effort as at the close of the 1918 World war. In 1918 40 men of each 1,000 were in the armed forces, while but 16 are now. In 1918, 89 out of every thousand persons were engaged in war production as against 41 at present. Thus, in 1918, 129 of every 1,000 Americans were directly engaged in the war effort as compared with 57 now.

It has been asserted that modern warfare requires 14 to 20 civilians engaged in war vocations to supply each man actually enrolled in the armed forces. The Cleveland Trust survey, however, concludes that this assumption is erroneous, because in 1918 there were but 2.23 American industrial workers for each man in service, and there are now but 2.56, while the ratio of civilian workers in the other warring nations, on this assumed basis, could not possibly maintain the armies they actually have in the field.

Altho the armed forces will shortly begin to compete with industry for man power, we apparently need fear no future labor shortage. The labor supply chiefly engaged up to now in civilian production seems adequate to meet the demand for war production when the program of factory conversion is completed.

This year our army will be increased from 1.7 to 3.6 million men, including 1 million in the air force, while 350,000 new sailors and marines will be called. The Wall Street Journal estimates that between the end of 1941 and the end of the present year there will be increases in men in the armed forces from 2 to 4.2 millions and of men and women in war industry from 5 to 15 millions, and decreases in men and women in civilian industry from 29.8 to 21.8 millions, of farm workers from 8.9 to 8.5 millions, of self-employed persons from 6 to 5.5 millions, and of unemployed from 3.7 to 2.4 millions.

Thus, during the year, the biggest shift will be from civilian work to war work, and not from war work to fighting. Two million more workers must be drawn into war production, and it is probable most of them will be women.

In 1943 a very different story is expected, with the biggest shift from working to fighting. The disposition of man power may be approximately like this: Men in the armed forces will increase from 4.2 million at the end of 1942 to 10 million in 1943. Men and women in war industries will increase from 15 to 19 million. It is explained that the relatively small rise in munition workers reflects the expectation that, as munition plants hit full stride, productivity per worker will increase. The fact that but 1.9 workers will be required to support each soldier is not an indication of inadequate plant facilities, but a consequence of the greater efficiency of American industry in comparison with the industry of other nations. We shall need fewer workmen in the factories because they will have more productive tools.

The army of 10 million men projected for 1943 means that more than one of every three American men between the ages of 18 and 45 will serve in the armed forces. Nine-tenths of the 2¼ million men required this year will be drawn from the 1-A group and the 20 year olds who registered Monday, if President Roosevelt places the latter on the draft list when the present 1-A list is exhausted. In 1943, however, the nation must begin calling the men with only one dependent or with persons only partly dependent on them.

Of the men who registered in the first draft of October, 1940, only 0.9 per cent were deferred because their work was necessary to the war, while 64 per cent were deferred because of dependents. As the need for men in the services grows the first of these percentages will rise and the second will fall, but even tho war work pervades all industry, a worker will have to be considered "irreplaceable," rather than "essential," as at present, to obtain deferment in 1943.

WILL WE HOLD HAWAII?

[New York News.]

We reprint excerpts from a dispatch filed at Honolulu Thursday by John O'Donnell, Washington correspondent now in Hawaii having a look at the after effects of Pearl Harbor. We reprint these excerpts because we think they are of great, ominous, and immediate importance:

"Hawaii, America's primary shield in the Pacific, stands today where Singapore once stood. Pearl Harbor and Honolulu can be raided again . . .

"Military and civil authorities in Singapore viewed the Jap threat with smug complacency. In Hawaii military and civil authorities are alert to the danger. The smug complacency about Hawaii is an emotion of the American mainland only.

"The eyewitness knows that Hawaii needs troops—troops by the thousands. It needs planes and aircraft carriers, tanks and tankers, bombers and anti-aircraft, steel, cement, skilled civilian workmen. It needs more food from the mainland, tons of it to replace the beef, mutton, and dairy supplies once imported from Australia and New Zealand.

"But above all Hawaii needs fighting men and the tools of warfare . . . They must be sent here if Pearl Harbor is to be a real base for the Pacific fleet. A naval base is supposed to shelter the fleet. As matters now stand the fleet is protecting the base . . .

"From this knowledge—that it can happen here and that it can happen any night—springs the Hawaiian's awareness of war and his resentment at unofficial mainland and official Washington complacency in the face of his dangers."

It is the phrase "official Washington complacency" in the above quotes from Honolulu that gives us the shakes—literally.

If Hawaii goes, our power to help the allies in the southwest Pacific will go with it. So will the key to our defense of our side of the Pacific, and of the Panama canal from the west. So may go our hope of beating Japan at all.

If these considerations are not enough to stir up official Washington, we might add that if it loses Hawaii the Democratic party will most likely be as dead for as long a time as it was after the Civil war.

A FAMOUS MAN NAMED CHARLES.

"Famous people named Charles" was the subject the radio quiz-master had set, and a young woman with a crisp, cultivated voice accepted the challenge confidently. She rang the bell promptly on Charlie McCarthy, Charlie Chaplin, and Charles Laughton. But when asked, "Who wrote 'Pickwick Papers?'" an $8 question, she stood mute and embarrassed. . . . A trivial incident, of course, but significant of this strange, new world in which there is so much talk about education. Fifty years ago any kindergarten pupil could have answered that one.

This column's favorite Charles is Martel, grandfather of the old standby of the clan, Charlemagne. Charles Martel [the Hammer], at the battle of Tours [A. D. 732] broke the power of Mohammedan invasion and started its ebb tide. He saved European civilization. We could use him now against the Japs.

The heroic Igorots, whose prowess against the Japanese has been highly praised by Gen. MacArthur, were called Igorottes when Americans first heard of them, after the Spanish-American war. Their tribal customs are curious, and at one of the great expositions, perhaps at St. Louis in 1904, there was an Igorotte Village which attracted much attention. To die in battle is an Igorot's greatest pleasure, for thereby he promptly ascends to heaven.

The Japanese invaders of the Malayan peninsula did not dally on the way to Singapore to observe wild animal life, and thus avoided unnecessary trouble. The king of the jungle in that region is a wild ox or buffalo called the gaur or seladang, a huge, horned beast with a murderous temper. . . . See the mounted gaur head in the Cliff Dwellers club, a trophy which fell to the rifle of Carter H. Harrison, who is now collecting your income tax.

BIRDS OF ENGLAND.

In the fury and turmoil how do you fare
With no haven or shelter in earth or air?
If winter goes and the world's at spring,
Will Chaucer's sweet birds return and sing?
Above the death bomb's screaming rush
Can men hear Browning's careless thrush?
Listen, look up! Heaven's gate greets the lark,
And Shelley's blithe spirit—hark, O hark!
Notes in silvery cadenzas outpour,
The nightingale sings for Keats once more,
And still for a poet all forlorn
Leans her soft breast against a thorn.
O, birds of England, in flight or song,
Hasten the morning, the night is so long.

A Vision by Moonlight.

The room was full of moonlight. His face was turned to the wall, his eyes shut tight. He was mortally terrified and his heart beat wildly. He felt in the room an unseen presence, but was afraid to turn about. He heard footsteps shuffling down the hall, but of them he was not afraid. He was accustomed to their sounds. He had heard them all of his life.

He summoned all his strength and turned over, but was yet afraid to open his eyes. The room was full of her presence. He opened his eyes, and leaning over him was a figure in a black dress. It was a characteristic pose he had seen often from childhood on, when he was ill or when she came up in the morning to say that the time to arise had come.

He looked at her and she at him, while the moonlight shone with a brilliant softness thru the open window. She turned quickly, as often he had seen her do, walked toward the moonlighted wall, and was gone.

Tremblingly he arose and walked toward the window. He looked toward the brilliant full moon and the stars beyond, each one a world like the one on which he stood. Beyond the stars, he knew were other stars invisible to his eyes, each one a part of a well-ordered universe, moving about in a space so illimitable that no one had yet measured it, nor ever would measure it, for it had no beginning and no ending.

A little wind came drifting thru the window, turned quickly about and, touching gently his face, went out into boundless space, murmuring quietly his name. He looked upon the uncounted stars, in whose divinely-charted courses he believed implicitly, and asked of them a simple question:

"Was it a dream?" Roy Engel.

Ah there, my worn and trusty friend
  And how are you today?
I hope your blood pressure is right
  And all your treads O. K.
Watch out . . . I thought I saw a nail,
  But no, I breathe again;
Keep out of gutters please, I beg
  Lest shattered glass you maim.
Stop urging me to greater speed,

The "peace tree" on the Northwestern university campus, planted to be cut down when the first member of the student newspaper board of 1938 died in war, should be rededicated for the term of its natural life to Ensign Harald J. Christopher, who died at Pearl Harbor as Northwestern's first casualty of this war. He was a member of the staff of the Daily Northwestern in 1938 and its business manager in his senior year, 1940-'41.

"Fillers" at the bottoms of newspaper columns, especially in the rural press, often are masterpieces of useless information. As a "filler" to end all "fillers," we submit the following item of our own discovery:

HEALTH OF WOMEN WORKERS—A DEFENSE PROBLEM.

OUR men are going to war and our women are going to work. Not that they have not been occupied hitherto, but thousands are joining the ranks of industry. Offices, factories, and shops will count myriads of new faces.

Does this switch carry with it a health problem? The answer is a positive affirmative. While tuberculosis, on the whole, has been declining for the last generation, it has not reached a satisfactory level. In fact, the malady has made a slight gain in the last year or two. But here is a significant point. In the year 1900, 43 per cent more cases occurred among girls between 15 and 20 than in boys of the same age.

Since that time, year by year, the excess of female over male victims has risen. In 1920, it was 67 per cent; in 1927, 86 per cent. All this is disturbing when we consider that the general death rate dropped during this interval from 195 per 100,000 to 76 per 100,000. Among males the decline was 60 per cent, while among females it was scarcely 45 per cent.

Will our neglect of good hygiene contribute further to this unfavorable situation? As we know, the disease is contagious. It is more likely to strike those who are run down and who burn the candle at both ends. There is a limit to physical endurance. With lowered reserve, some ailment is certain to take advantage of our lack of foresight.

We may well wonder if scanty clothing is not a factor. We have all seen shivering girls in stormy weather, perhaps with head and shoulders well bundled up but the extremities exposed to the elements. Furthermore, the slimming fad can be carried too far. We can consume enough edibles for body warmth, for activity, and for growth.

Perhaps there is danger in the fact that certain young women will become overly ambitious and toil beyond their strength. Can a girl maintain a home, get the meals, and work in an office at some fatiguing job? What are the effects upon well being of hasty lunches, late hours, and a hurried getaway in the morning? Has breakfast become a forgotten meal?

We assume, of course, that the infection is acquired, at least in the majority of instances, in childhood. It remains latent until adolescence or early adult life. Then it is that a drop in physical stamina gives the organisms a chance. They have been sleeping and will continue to drowse unless something happens to cause them to run amok.

There is no condition in which the adage "A grain of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is quite so true. With the disorder well established, it means many months or even years of assiduous care for which somebody must pay. While sanitoria are plentiful, no one of them can guarantee a speedy cure.

Every young person wants and is entitled to recreation. But this must not be at the expense of health. For fatigue, there is just one cure—namely, rest. We must recognize loss of weight, a finicky appetite, a dragging feeling, or a hacking cough as danger signals which must be heeded. We cannot forget that the strong are not immune. If you are well today—stay that way for there may be more strenuous days ahead.

NOT "RICH" BLOOD.

L. W. writes: Would a blood examination determine the cause of pimples?

REPLY.

Doubtful. Look to a skin infection or some failure of digestion. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne.

NOT AS A RULE.

O. K. writes: Can an impediment in speech be caused by asthma?

REPLY.

Only that occasioned by choking or struggling for air. Stammering originates usually in some psychic disturbance. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on speech defects.

LIFETIME SMOKER.

F. D. A. writes: Would it be dangerous to deprive a person of tobacco after he has smoked for 50 years?

REPLY.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

"SCARED TO DEATH."

Gilman, Ill., Feb. 19.—Your editorial, "The Military State of the Union," expresses the same sentiment as a letter we wrote a radio commentator after his two broadcasts this week about the complacency of the middle west.

Our town of 1,600 understands too clearly what it's all about. Our best boys are in the far corners of the earth in danger spots. We are scared to death when Washington plays politics instead of putting competent men from both parties on the war drive. We in the small towns of the middle west have put away politics and our leading Republicans are working with our leading Democrats. But we are all praying that our leaders will decide to forget politics and be as hard working Americans as Churchill is a Briton! MAUDE AND HOWARD HICKS.

WORD TO WASHINGTON.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Since our leaders have so thoroly succeeded in jolting me out of my "complacency" [which actually was nothing more heinous than confidence in these same leaders] it is only fair that I try to return the service. It is time our superbrains who are preoccupied with problems of prestige and power priorities, awakened to the fact that this is the last haven.

The only place you can go from here, boys, is into oblivion.

ONE OF THE MILLIONS.

KOWTOWING.

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 20.—Permit me to suggest that commentators and newspapers refrain from the usual reference to "imperial troops and subjects, his majesty's this and that, lord and lady so and so," and all other disgusting kowtowing to so-called nobility. Some of the radio dandies take keen delight in rolling around in their mouths these sounds which a long suffering public generally associates with a dead civilization.

E. V. ANSTON.

PROVIDENT OR UNPATRIOTIC?

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Much has been said about the so-called sugar hoarders. Just what is a hoarder? All our married life we have prided ourselves on our pantry. We never wait until we need anything but buy in large quantities when on sale.

Therefore, we have on hand everything that we use and haven't bought anything since the "shortage" started. But we think it would be an injustice to brand us as "hoarders." 1918 WAR BRIDE.

VINE STREET ACES.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—This is to let Hollywood know that during wartime the movie industry can dispense with trashy, love-sick pictures. Now is the time for those Hollywood aviators like Errol Flynn, Fred MacMurray, and Robert Taylor to show America they are grateful for what America has done for them by entering the armed services of this country. MRS. N. DEAN.

QUOD ERAT DEMONSTRANDUM.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Old-fashioned arithmetic tells us we cannot win the war as we are going—if the Japs continue to use 90 per cent of their forces and we to use 1 per cent, and the first thing which we should accomplish—the relief or reënforcement of our only fighter, MacArthur, and his 1 per cent—will not be accomplished.

W. W. STRONG.

BUCK PRIVATES.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Hats off to Gen. Pershing's and Sen. Vandenberg's sons—true sons of their fathers. They did not choose to start as captains, did they?

H. J. M.

REPLY TO A CRITIC.

Anderson Ind., Feb. 20.—In reply to a Scottish critic: What THE TRIBUNE said in its editorial of Jan. 14 relative to the failure of the British to stand up to the Japanese and the Germans has been true thruout the war, regardless of the questionable and minor instances which Mr. Wright cites as evidence to the contrary.

Perhaps he can tell us why Britain has for a long time and is now keeping 3½ million fully armed and trained soldiers sitting tight and doing nothing on its smug little island. The answer is obvious. First, it is afraid to venture forth, and secondly, it is waiting for some one else, particularly the United States, to win another war for it and its rich possessions. The English and the Scotch should hold their tongues until they have something worth while to talk about. To date their record is about as disgraceful as our own, due largely to selfishness and incompetence. CONRAD S. ARNKENS.

UNION EXPERIENCE WITH FIREARMS.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Exempting labor leaders from the draft is a willful waste of the services of many trained specialists. Good use could be made of the calloused trigger fingers of the Nitti "labor leaders" who lead the theatrical stage workers. Exempting Bioff, Browne, and Circella can't be avoided, but how many of their stooges who took orders and associated with the racketeers can be classified as labor leaders? PUZZLED.

WHEN IT'S TIME TO RETIRE.

Arlington, Ill., Feb. 19.—Why all this excitement and indignation about pensions for our congressmen? Wouldn't it be much better and cheaper for our beloved country if we really forced lame ducks to accept retirement pensions, rather than have them kicked upstairs into higher salaried jobs after they have demonstrated their unfitness?

JUSTA WORKINGMAN.

A DEMOCRAT FOR BROOKS.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—I am a "Curly" Democrat—and proud of it. Furthermore, I am urging every voter in Illinois to do his or her utmost to have Sen. Brooks reëlected, because he served with distinction in the first World war and is now serving with distinction in the senate. ALEK HERSKIND.

COMMISSION FOR AN ARTIST.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Congratulations on publishing that splendid colored portrait of Gen. MacArthur by Oskar Gross. This portrait will find its way into more American homes than even THE TRIBUNE can imagine. The great human appeal of this general's informal attire [and ruffled shirt] minus medals and even coat, in itself bespeaks a man of action—may I boldly suggest Mr. Gross be commissioned to make the portrait of the aviator who drops the first bomb upon Tokio! PHILIP D. LLOYD.

DOESN'T WANT TO DIE HEALTHY.

Colchester, Ill., Feb. 19.—In case of an air raid over our city, I'd rather have an anti-aircraft gun than perfect health. In case of an invasion, I'd rather have a machine gun and know how to fire it than how to do a dance. It seems to me that air raid shelters, guns, and military training of men, women, and children in each town by Legionnaires should come first, or at least go hand in hand with the nutrition program. A healthy person can die awfully dead when hit by a bomb. COLCHESTER.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

RIGHT TO ESTATE.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A husband died in 1917 and his widow never married again. The husband had an older brother who as far as was known had never married. This brother went to New Jersey to live with his people and a few years later the report came that he had died, altho to my knowledge no announcement was in any paper. Suppose the report was a mistake, could the brother in any legal way claim anything belonging to the widow of his brother? S. L.

The question whether the widow would have taken the entire estate even if the brother had not been missing depends on the jurisdiction in which the question arose. If the brother was entitled to a share the question whether his rights had been barred by lapse of time would depend on additional facts, such as if he was a minor. We suggest going over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

Test Your Horse Sense By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. Which one of these words is inappropriate for this general grouping?
   Mare Gelding Steer Stallion.
2. Which one of these sports often requires use of a bridge?
   Hockey Billiards Skiing Skeet.
3. Which one of these would most likely be included in a man's clothing?
   Chenille Madras Challis Gingham.
4. A silent whistle is used to call which one of these animals?
   Hog Cow Dog Horse.
5. Which one of these terms is associated with music?
   Cleft Quarter Back Split Second Diminished Fifth.
6. A boy purchased a bag of jelly beans. He counted them by twos, but had one left over. So he counted them by threes, but again had one left over. When he counted them by fours, he also had a lone jelly bean left over and this was the result when he counted them by fives and by sixes. But when he tried counting them in lots of seven, he came out even. How many jelly beans were in the bag when he started?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

$5,000 IN CASH PRIZES!

A Delightful Test of Your Skill!

Name the Other One

Nothing to Buy!
Nothing to Sell! Just Have Fun!

EVERY man, woman, boy and girl is invited to join in this game of fun. It is presented solely for the entertainment of Tribune readers. It is entirely FREE. Nothing to buy—nothing to sell.

Just test your skill solving this series of puzzle pictures. A new one will appear in the Tribune each day.

Note that each puzzle represents two things that usually are thought of together, such as "Tall and Short," "Sugar and Cream," etc. One is named. Can you name the other one?

The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the best answers in accordance with the rules. You may win as much as $1,000.00.

You can start with the first two puzzles printed above.

★ THE RULES ★

WHO CAN ENTER? This offer is open free to everybody—men, women, boys and girls—excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live. You don't have to pay a penny—NOW OR LATER.

WHAT TO DO? Each week day a Puzzle Picture representing the names of two things usually spoken of together will be published in the Daily Tribune until 42 have appeared. One of the things will be named. You are invited to "NAME THE OTHER ONE." Write or print the missing name on the line provided. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the most nearly correct complete sets of Puzzles in accordance with the rules. First prize is $1,000.00. Facsimilies are acceptable. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 42. Do not send them in separately.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Names," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address, and telling in 50 words or less how you expect to use the First Prize money of $1,000.00 if you win it. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in solving the Puzzles. Entries must be in the office of the Chicago Tribune by midnight one week after Puzzle No. 42 has appeared.

BASIS OF AWARDS: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept the judges' decisions as final. Each entry must be the original thought and effort of the person who submits the entry. If, in the sole opinion of the judges, any entry is found to be based upon answers purchased from anyone whomsoever, or upon deceit or intent to deceive, such entry will be disqualified. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

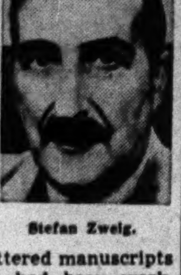
STEFAN ZWEIG, 60, AND WIFE DIE IN BRAZIL SUICIDE

Author Fled Austria When Hitler Seized Land.

PETROPOLIS, Brazil, Feb. 23 (AP).—Stefan Zweig, Jewish author who fled his native Austria before the marching Nazis, died here today locked in the arms of his wife, who joined him in suicide. Both had taken poison.



Stefan Zweig.

The bodies of the author and his 33 year old Austrian born second wife were found amid the scattered manuscripts upon wrich Zweig had been working, including a finished work on the life of Balzac.

President Getulio Vargas ordered funeral services for the couple to be held Wednesday at government expense. Burial will be in the Municipal cemetery here.

Weary from Wanderings.

Zweig thanked Brazilians in farewell for their kindness in receiving him, and said:

"After I saw the country of my own tongue sinking, and my spiritual country—Europe—destroying itself, and having reached 60 years, I knew immense force would be necessary to reconstruct my life, and my energy is used up by long years of peregrination as a man without a country.

"So I judged it better to end at once a life which I dedicated exclusively to spiritual work, considering human liberty and my own as the greatest wealth on earth."

Among the letters left was one to the author's former wife, Mrs. Frederica Zweig of New York.

Were Naturalized Britons.

Both Zweig and his second wife became naturalized Britons in 1940, but they recently had talked of becoming citizens of Brazil.

Zweig fled Austria when Adolf Hitler's troops entered in 1938. His books were banned and immediately were burned in Nazi organized public demonstrations.

From England the author went to the United States and then came here to gather material for a book, "Brazil, Country of the Future," which appeared late last year in English and Portuguese.

WROTE "MARIE ANTOINETTE."

Among Zweig's most popular works were the biographies "Marie Antoinette" and "Mary, Queen of Scots." He visited Chicago in January, 1939, speaking at Orchestra hall and a Caxton club luncheon.

Zweig was born in Vienna of well to do parents. He was educated thoroly and published two volumes of verse before his university career was done. He became a globe trotter and his restless search for new experiences was evidenced in the wide scope of his writings—criticism, biography, drama, short stories, and novels.

FIREBUG ADMITS SETTING 12 TO 15 BLAZES IN ZION

Sibrand Bloom, 30 years old, 3220 Eschol avenue, Zion, said yesterday he set between 12 and 15 buildings on fire in Zion last fall because he hated the world. He was seized by Chief Alven Ruesch for starting a fire Sunday night in the home of the Rev. Harold M. Kelley of the Zion Methodist church, 3212 Echol avenue.

Sibrand Bloom.

Bloom said he came to Zion three years ago from Escanaba, Mich., after he had served eight years of a prison sentence in Michigan on a charge of burglary. He believes he was unjustly convicted, he said, and every time he drank too much he sought to avenge himself by starting fires.

Most of the fires were started in September, October, and November. The worst fire was at the Lucy Feed and Furniture store, just south of Zion, last Oct. 15, in which damage was estimated at $15,000. Bloom admitted robbing the Rev. Mr. Kelley's house before starting a fire there.

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS HUNTED AFTER FATAL ACCIDENT

Police were searching yesterday for a hit-run driver whose car killed an unidentified Negro, Sunday evening, at 446 East 31st street. The victim wore a Masonic ring bearing the name "David Driver."

Carl Carlson, 60 years old, a bricklayer, died last night in Belmont hospital of injuries suffered a week ago when he was struck by an automobile at Central and Lawrence avenues. He lived at 6016 Melrose street. The driver of the car was Charles J. White of 1223 Granville avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 121 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 95 died in Chicago, where 3,082 were injured during the same period.

N. SHORE LINE'S VOTING ON UNION TO START TODAY

Eligible craft employés of the North Shore railroad were ordered yesterday by the National Mediation [railroad] board to start voting today on whether they want to be represented by the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America or by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who dominate the steam roads.

Officials of the Amalgamated, which is appealing the board's election order, have indicated they would not coöperate in the voting. Under the board's ruling only about 436 craft employés of the line's 1,000 workers are eligible to cast votes on the issue. The election will last thru Thursday and results will be sent to the board in Washington, D. C.

The tieup of service which began Jan. 31 when members of the Amalgamated refused to switch North Shore trains onto the Chicago elevated tracks ended last Wednesday in a compromise after Federal Judge Michael J. Igoe intervened. The amalgamated has accused the brotherhoods of "raiding" Amalgamated members.

WATCHMAN SLAIN IN BANDIT BATTLE ON A STREET CAR

Robert Luster, 33 years old, colored, a watchman for the Pennsylvania railroad, was shot and killed last night in a gun battle with three nervous, quick shooting colored bandits on a Cottage Grove avenue street car at 41st street. Ten passengers in the car were endangered by the bandits' shots.

The bandits had taken $10 from the conductor, Roy Winette, and were about to flee when one of them fired his gun by accident. Luster, a passenger in the car, heard the shot and opened fire at the bandits who were on the rear platform. In the exchange of shots Luster wounded two of the bandits who were captured.

They gave their names as Clinton Simpson, 15, of 562 East 51st street, and Sam Moore, 16, of 4848 Prairie avenue. Their companion, whom they named as Sam Gilespie, escaped. Luster lived at 3558 Cottage Grove avenue.

UNIONS WRANGLE, SO GUESTS PITCH IN TO AID HOTELS

Sweep, Make Beds; Police Seize 27 Strikers.

More than 1,000 guests in three north side hotels found themselves without maid and kitchen services last night as the result of a strike of 130 employés arising from a jurisdictional dispute between two rival AFL unions.

Some inconvenience resulted, but not much, because other hotel employés—managers, engineers, telephone operators—and even guests, pitched in and made beds, served meals, swept floors, tidied wardrobes, and did a hundred other chores.

All on Lincoln Park West.

The hotels affected are the Belden-Stratford, 2300 Lincoln Park West; the Webster, 2150 Lincoln Park West, and the Parkway, 2100 Lincoln Park West.

The strike was called by local 593 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, run by James Blakely, secretary treasurer of the local and vice president of the international.

Blakely placed pickets at all the hotels, but the picket lines were soon broken up by police under Capt. Dan Gilbert of the state's attorney's office and Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail. Blakely, his business agent, Martin Dunne, and 25 pickets, 15 of them women, were arrested and booked for court appearance tomorrow on charges of disorderly conduct.

Capt. Gilbert ordered the arrests on the ground the union has no right to pursue a strictly union grievance at the expense of innocent victims, namely the hotels and their guests. Moreover, Capt. Gilbert said he wasn't quite sure why the strike was called.

Versions of Dispute Differ.

Three versions were offered. One, the striking union's, was that the hotels had rejected wage demands. Another, the hotels', was that the union had demanded a closed shop and that the demand had been rejected. The third, voiced by police, was that the union is fighting with the Building Service Employés International union for control of the hotel employés. The latter union is run by William L. McFetridge.

Both unions claim a majority of the employés. Under previous arrangements, Blakely's union took in hotel maids, housemen, porters, and certain kitchen help, while McFetridge's took in elevator operators, janitors, and engineers.

Now, it is said, the McFetridge organization proposes to take over the union employés of all hotels where 51 per cent or more of the guests are permanent residents, leaving transient and commercial hotels under Blakely's wing. Blakely rejected the proposal, it is reported, and has threatened to extend the strike to all hotels serviced by his followers. Blakely has been a union power for many years and is said by police to owe allegiance to Danny Stanton, old Capone gang chieftain.

RADIO PROGRAM WILL BE SALUTE TO ALLIES OF U.S.

Musical salutes to nations allied with the United States in the war against the axis powers will be featured on the Northerners program over W-G-N at 9:30 p. m. each Tuesday, beginning tonight. Tonight's offering will be dedicated to the Netherlands' empire. Lois Wallner is the singing star of the show.

Mrs. Donald M. Nelson, wife of the chief of the War Production board, will make a radio appearance as guest of June Baker on her home management program on W-G-N at 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

Little strokes fell great oaks

SO SAID Benjamin Franklin at a time when the steady perseverance of our pioneer forefathers was carving a nation out of a wilderness.

It is this same American spirit of perseverance which has created the institution of life insurance. By wise foresight and steady effort, repeated again and again, millions of Americans have built in a hundred years a strong, dependable system of family security.

And today, when we are engaged in a great war for civilization, our life insurance not only gives us family security; it provides also a steady stream of money for the war industries on which our national security depends.

B'nai B'rith Members Give 125 Pints Blood to Red Cross Bank

Members of the Chicago lodge B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal order, celebrated Washington's birthday yesterday at Red Cross headquarters by donating 125 pints of blood for use in emergency battlefield transfusions.

The blood is to be taken to Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago and converted into blood plasma.

Physicians of the Red Cross medical staff at 624 South Michigan avenue began drawing blood from 125 lodge members at 9 o'clock in the morning. It was the first mass blood donation made to the Red Cross in Chicago for war purposes, according to Red Cross physicians.

Children's Suits Play Copycat to Their Elders

BY REA SEEGER.

If shopping for clothing for your young girls has been a major problem because the apparel was uninteresting or because the herd instinct of the very young left precious little individuality in dress the problem is now solved! At last the designers have some slick little ideas and finished models that promise everything for small fry, even tho the youngsters persist in wearing something just like little Susy's next door.

Pleated skirts of children's spring suits are microscopic copies of grown-up models with sharply pressed pleats and a wide band of the same wool with an extra belt of narrow calfskin. Plaids are offered in designs as big and bold and as good looking as anything ever devised to take the eye. That's why these are so amusing to the older shoppers and so successful with the youngsters.

Jackets are made with the same swanky pockets, notched collars, and tailored details. Separate or extra jackets for these 7 to 14 year olds are also exceptional. The popular middies are trimmed with brass buttons and double rows of gold colored braid. Bright red models are likewise nautically ornamented with braid and doo-dads. Yellow is the surprise color in this collection. Canary yellow skirts, jackets and topcoats of smooth flannel are ready to contrast with pastels and dark street plaids. Red top jackets, black and white checked skirts, navy blue with bright red skirts and the yellow with pale blue, dark blue and cherry red are some of the other novelties. It's going to be a definitely gay season for the youngsters!

More Women Dentists Urged by Draft Aid

America needs more women dentists, Commander C. Raymond Wells, national chief dental officer of the Selective Service system, told a gathering of thousands of dentists attending the 78th annual midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental society last night at the Palmer House.

"The dental laboratories should train more women as dental technicians and more girls should consider dentistry as a vocation because as time goes on there will be greater need for more practicing dentists," he said. The Selective Service system, he added, recommends that women take up dentistry because it will release many men dentists for service in the armed forces.

The dental meeting, which opened a four day session yesterday, is said to be the largest scientific gathering of its kind and is expected to draw 7,000 dentists from all parts of North and South America.

More than 20 per cent of the men rejected by local draft boards for army service were turned down because of bad teeth, Commander Wells declared. "That means 10 per cent of those who applied for physical examinations were turned down. Most of the dental defects came from missing teeth.

"There seems to have been one dental advance that has been misdirected and that is the dental application of theory of focal infection.

"Physicians encourage the dentist to extract teeth in the hope that he will obtain spectacular recovery of some illness attributed to focal infection. In many cases this is based on flimsy diagnosis.

"The public has been led to believe that teeth are responsible for most bodily illnesses."

Commander Wells is former director of oral surgery at Queen's general hospital, Jamaica, N. Y.

He praised the dental profession for having perfected to a high degree techniques for removing teeth and making dentures, but he criticized it "for devoting too little time to the problem of saving pulpless [dead] teeth."

Earlier in the day Dr. Le Roy E. Kurth, 34 year old graduate of Loyola university school of dentistry, was presented with a first prize award of $300 by the Chicago Dental society in a nation-wide competition for an original scientific investigation "of new significant value to dentistry."

Dr. Kurth's paper, "Mandibular Movements in Mastication," analyzed in an entirely new way the movements of the lower jaw in the chewing process. His highly technical analysis was hailed as an aid to dentists in perfecting the construction of artificial teeth.

Women in War Work

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Two mobile units—a mobile blood bank unit for the Red Cross and an ambulance for the British-American ambulance corps—have been added to the defense ranks by women in the last few days. From St. Louis, Mo., on Sunday came a call to Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Evanston, president of the national WCTU, that the Missouri WCTU has sent $1,500 to the Red Cross in Washington, D. C., for a blood bank unit. This afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Exhibition hall of the Hotel Sherman the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will dedicate their $2,000 ambulance and present it to the midwest chapter of the British-American Ambulance corps.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith.

At a meeting in Evanston last month the WCTU voted that all state unions should strive to raise money for the blood bank units. The Missouri group raised its sum in less than a month to be the donor of the first WCTU unit. The mobile units collect blood, refrigerate it, and deliver it to laboratories where it is reduced to plasma and dried.

In addition to pushing its drive for the purchase of a mobile blood bank unit, the Illinois WCTU has asked each of its members to contribute a "Sunshine bag" for a service man. These sunshine bags contain personal and toilet articles much like those included in the comfort kits which were distributed in the last war and which Bundles for Bluejackets is sending to sailors in this war. Illinois has been divided into four sections for closer coördination of the WCTU war work.

The Illinois Federation ambulance arrived from New York on Saturday and has been so camouflaged in tan and gray that even the name, "Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs," printed on the sides, is just faintly visible. Mrs. Florence Barrete, director of the British-American Ambulance corps here, will receive the ambulance for the corps. Mrs. E. E. Byerrum is in charge of the dedication program. Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw is president of the federation.

Side shows, clowns, and barkers will be features of the "V for Victory Fair" which the YWCA League of Industrial Girls will give on Thursday, March 5, in the loop center YWCA, 59 East Monroe street. Part of the proceeds of the fair will be donated to the war work of the World YWCA, especially the group in China. Miss Florence Chesser of Evanston is in charge of arrangements for the fair.

Tonight the YWCA members engaged in defense industries will present a defense industry exhibit at the loop center YWCA of the defense articles they are helping to make. A machine dance and a group of Negro work songs also will be presented.

"Dangers of Electricity and the Handling of Bombs During an Air Raid" will be discussed by William C. Bremner at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Kenwood church, 4608 Greenwood avenue, as one in a series of talks being given at the church in a course on civilian defense. Mr. Bremner, who is a construction engineer with a utilities company, was an army engineer until a year ago. Mrs. John J. Jordan is in charge of the course.

Starting tomorrow, members of the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators will take charge of a defense stamps booth in the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, 605 North Michigan avenue. The decorators will serve in two shifts every day of the week. Miss Mabel Schamberg, past president of the Illinois chapter, is in charge of the booth. She is being assisted by Mrs. Florence Barker, Mrs. Nina Bingham, Miss Dorothy Collins, Mrs. Emily Dow, Mrs. Beckwith Lee, Mrs. Mildred N. Prindiville, and Miss D. Loraine Yerkes.

Miss Mabel Schamberg

A new first aid class will be opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Garfield Park fieldhouse, 100 North Central avenue. An advanced first aid course for adults who have completed the standard course will begin o nThursday. Evelyne Hall and Del Frank, park instructors, are now teaching 200 persons in seven current classes. The park also has home nursing and nutrition classes on Wednesday. Enrollment for the new sessions of these classes may be made thru L. J. Sterling, park supervisor.

Miss Marion Clare, star of the Chicago Theater of the Air program broadcast over W-G-N-Mutual, will present her new record album, "Romantic Melodies of Herbert, de Koven, Kalman, and Lehar," to the Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock and will autograph her pictures for the service men. The album will be added to the library of the music appreciation room which is being furnished at the center.

An additional proof that a use may be found for everything these days lies in the request of the Service Men's center for discarded leather purses and wallets. A WPA craft project worker in the library at the center has found that old purses and wallets may be cut up and made into leather notebook covers for the service men.

If mothers think their little boys have tremendous appetites, they should take a look at the quantities consumed in two days by the men who use the Washington street Service Men's center. In one week-end the men consumed 5,000 egg salad sandwiches, 200 pounds of roast beef for sandwiches, 1,150 pounds of hot dogs, 18 gallons of chili, 1,800 layer cakes, 590 dozen cups of ice cream, 65 cases of cola, 12 cases of oranges and apples, 100 cartons of cigarets, and 480 quarts of milk. Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, head of the canteen at the center, compiled these figures.

Finds Girls Seeking Careers in Business Rather Than Movies

Thousands of girls who formerly had movie ambitions now are planning careers in business, J. S. Mendenhall, national director of the Junior Achievement movement, told Chicago leaders and presidents of 23 businesses managed by teen aged youth last night.

The national Junior Achievement movement which is composed of 5,000 boys and girls who have formed 114 miniature manufacturing firms will double its membership by 1943, despite the loss of many boys to the draft, Mendenhall predicted. "Our membership now is 20 per cent girls and by 1943 we expect it will be nearly 50 per cent," he said.

"We must encourage women to take their places in the business world by inviting girls to take part in the Junior Achievement movement which gives them practical business experience," Mendenhall declared. He announced that the Junior Achievement groups thruout the country are manufacturing many small articles for civilian defense. In the east several groups have produced a substitute for bone needles for the Red Cross, he said.

Exiled French Educator Talks Here Saturday

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE presence of an Indian, a French refugee, a Jugo-Slav, and a Belgian are providing Chicagoans with a number of interesting meetings, both private and public, during the week. Knowledge of the French language will be a qualifying factor in the public's enjoyment of a lecture to be given next Saturday morning in the Alliance Française clubrooms by Gustave Cohen, a French exile and former professor at the Sorbonne in Paris, for he will speak in French. Thru the Rockefeller foundation, he now occupies the chair of visiting professor at Yale university.

The alliance feels that the meeting with Mr. Cohen will prove to be one of the most important on its winter calendar. There will be a luncheon for him afterward at the Arts club. Mr. Cohen was removed from the Sorbonne faculty by German authorities after the fall of France, and was forced to give up his subsequent teaching assignment at the University of Aix, in unoccupied France, because of the new statute against Jews.

Mr. Cohen was wounded 10 times in action in the first World war and was decorated with the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre. He is a leading authority on the literature and theater of the middle ages, and is one of the founders of the Ecole Libre des Hautes Etudes, the French university that was opened in New York this month.

Luncheon Plans Headed by Mrs. Moise Dreyfus.

Mrs. James Winston, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Ralph Cornelisen, Dr. and Mrs. Bernadotte Schmitt, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Place, and Mrs. Morton Bodfish are some of those who will be present at the luncheon for Mr. Cohen. Mrs. Moise Dreyfus is in charge of luncheon arrangements.

Two of their daughters are in Washington, D. C., with Sir Girja and Lady Bajpai, and one son is at Harvard. Sir Girja is the minister plenipotentiary of India to the United States, and will speak on "India's Claim to Coöperation with a Union of English Speaking Peoples." He will dwell on the importance of India's part in the Pacific conflict.

Sir Girja, who was educated at Oxford university and at Allahabad college in India, will be accompanied by his aide de camp, Capt. Chaudhuri of the Indian army, who has seen service in Libya, Syria, and Iraq in this war. They will stay at the Drake. At the speakers' table tomorrow will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hecht Jr., Miss Eloise ReQua, Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, who is chairman of arrangements for the luncheon; Mrs. Walter Brewster, Edward L. Ryerson, and Lewis Bernays, British consul-general, among others.

Sir Girja Will Give Public Lecture at U. of Chicago.

Sir Girja will give a public lecture at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the University of Chicago in the Social Science Research building. On Thursday night he will be a special guest at a dinner meeting of the British Empire Association of Illinois at 50 East Huron street.

The Jugo-Slav is Zlatko Balokovic, the violinist, who is married to a former Chicagoan, Joyce Borden. He will be guest soloist next Sunday in Orchestra hall at a Jugo-Slav benefit. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter is entertaining at tea Friday afternoon for

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

An I for an E.

An advertisment in a Baltimore paper, relayed by Nikki, read:

> WANTED—Stenographer: one who can read her notes and spell.

Glancing over 150 commonly misspelled words in business letters [compiled by a secretarial school for young women] I find that many of them are words which the stenographer would not misspell if [when in doubt] she took time to think of the way the word sounds, syllable by syllable. Regardless of what system of spelling is taught in grade school, the ability to listen to words provides "first aid" for the poor speller.

Such words, included in the list—as administrative, acknowledge, preliminary, subsidy, correspondent, facilities, indebted, or unanimous—lend themselves to the "listening" method.

But others are more tricky and tend to confuse the ordinarily good speller. Such words, among the 150, are: Deferred, commissioners, recommendation, referred, defendants, embarrass, maneuver, occurrence, and superintendent. A short alphabetical list of these trouble makers on a card in the top drawer of her desk is one secretary's solution to the spelling problem.

Relativity.

Overheard on the bus:

"Well, I suppose all things in the office are relative."

A Bell Game.

In one of the administration buildings of the University of Illinois the girls in the offices on either side of a long corridor answer each other's phones when one is left unattended. The other day the girl at the far end of the hall stopped in the first office to say she was going upstairs for a student and would the secretary please "cover up" for her. Shortly thereafter the phone rang in the first office and a voice asked for the office momentarily left vacant. Absentmindedly, the secretary gave the proper extension number, with this disconcerting result: Two seconds later the phone at the far end of the hall rang, and our absentminded secretary ran like mad down the corridor to answer it only to hear a bewildered voice—the same voice—recognizing her own—say, "What IS this? A game?"

Jottings.

On the memo pad: A white collar girl got a long promised and well merited raise via the grapevine route. She told the boss she had another job and he didn't believe her. Finally she told the elevator operator—who told the boss—and then she got her raise. . . . A large bank is using both sides of the paper in correspondence as a wartime measure. . . . Like Father Like Daughter: Vila Graves, the newly appointed assistant secretary of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, is the daughter of a retired Milwaukee road conductor who saw 53 years' service. . . . Like Mother Like Son: The two sons of Myrtle Voss conducted the stenographic school for the government at Camp Forrest, Tenn., while their mother trained lads who are entering the intelligence service of the army and navy. . . . A combination puzzle and vocabulary builder is on the market called "Co-Definitives."

Artistic Merit Reaffirmed by Hugo Kolberg

Recital by Hugo Kolberg, violinist; Hilde Freund, accompanist. Presented in Curtiss hall by the Principia Mothers' club of Chicago, Monday evening, Feb. 23, 1942. The program:

Sonata No. 3, E major	Bach
Sonata, Opus 91, No. 2, for violin alone	Reger
Concerto No. 5, A major [Köchel No. 219]	Mozart
Serenade Melancholique	Tschaikowsky
Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso	Saint-Saëns
Polonaise, A major	Wieniawski

BY CECIL SMITH.

The second Chicago recital of Hugo Kolberg, who last fall became concertmaster of the Cleveland orchestra, strengthened the impression of skill and power which he had created in his Chicago debut a year ago. Rising above the handicap of an accompanist whose pianism was often unmusical, unbalanced, and tonally harsh, he presented a severely taxing program with great finish and directness of communication. He deserves a larger and more general audience.

Vigor and masculinity are the basic attributes of his playing. Whether he is concerned with Bach or with Saint-Saëns, he approaches his music with unfailing artistic earnestness, with disdain for all that is cheap and easy, and with the technical equipment to make his intentions clear. Altho he is variable in the amount of attention he pays to passing details and niceties, he always conceives his music on a large and compelling plan; his playing is continuous in line and sweeping in emotional force.

The almost incredibly difficult solo sonata by Max Reger—so evasive in musical meaning and so tricky in its virtuoso requirements—left him unruffled. Even in its worst moments the intricacies of the piece never robbed the violinist of tonal eloquence and warmth, and there was an air of persuasiveness about a piece of music which really is, I am convinced, rather silly.

The opening Bach sonata stood as an object lesson to the legion of violinists who are always looking for some way of prettying Bach up. Mr. Kolberg was content to play the music straightforwardly, paying Bach the deserved compliment of assuming that the musical ideas are quite able to carry adequate importance without excessive assistance from the interpreter.

The Mozart sonata was robustly conceived, somewhat to the detriment of some of its more gracious attributes. The first two movements were less penetratingly conceived than most of the rest of the program. The rondo, however, reflected the utmost understanding, for it was phrased with great discrimination and delivered with rhythmic verve.

There was no artistic letdown in the shorter works which followed. All in all, the concert attained genuine distinction.

Illinois Symphony Finds New Beauty in Bruckner Opus

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Illinois Symphony orchestra returned to the Eighth Street theater last night after a three weeks' tour and presented a program whose two principal items were the Bruckner fourth ["Romantic"] symphony and the Vieuxtemps fourth violin concerto. The conductor was Kurt Herbert Adler and the soloist Stephan Hero.

Because it received an intelligently planned and a careful performance, the symphony was proved to be not at all the dull, diffuse kind of work which enemies of Bruckner assert to be characteristic of him.

Adler saw to it that each new theme stood out in high relief so that its character could be easily grasped and its beauty sensed. He had been tireless in his search for significant detail, and many an obscure passage turned out to possess an unexpected power to move and to delight.

The sound of the orchestra, while never actually sensuous, was attractive in a sharp, clean way.

The Vieuxtemps concerto, a grandiloquent and outdated work at best, received a performance which, while quite competent, failed to strike fire. Hero's occasional tonal miscalculations were only partly responsible for this. It is hard in 1942 to become greatly churned up over Vieuxtemps—unless his interpreter is persuasive beyond words!

On the same program Radie Britain's "Drouth" and three Lachian dances by Leos Jánacek were scheduled for first performance and first Chicago performance, respectively.

Good Morning!

Those caissons roll along increasingly on the screen. . . . Scarcely a double feature program now that doesn't have its war movie.

"A Yank on the Burma Road" is a comedy drama built around the experiences of a doughty New York taxi driver whose services are solicited by the Chinese government, which wants him to take command of a truck caravan carrying food and medical supplies over the Burma road. . . . Joe Tracey has come to the attention of the Chinese thru his capture, single handed, of two killers who have proved too much for the police.

And so the Yank goes over, hampered considerably by Gail Farwood, a beautiful woman who becomes his passenger to Rangoon. . . . A woman whose passport had been canceled. . . . A woman—well—never mind. . . . But she's none other than Dr. Kildare's defunct [in films] sweetheart, Laraine Day. . . .

One thing about Laraine. . . . Appearances may be against her in a story, but fans know that she's strictly on the up and up and will be saying "I told you so" before the final curtain. . . . [I'll never forgive those responsible for taking her out of the Kildare series.]

Barry Nelson, a comparative newcomer, gives a red blooded portrayal of the Yank. . . . He's a very regular and convincing sort of chap. . . . Brawny, smiling, keen eyed, smart figgering, and packing a mighty punch. . . . May we see a lot of him! . . . [Let you in on something—he pops up, surprisingly and amusingly, in "Dr. Kildare's Victory"—also on the Roosevelt screen.]

This movie is actionful and has some highly exciting sequences. . . . Also several very amusing episodes. . . . Some, too, alack and alackaday, that are labored, as are stretches of dialog. . . . But——

On the whole the film is worth your while.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

A Piece of White Thread.

They were waiting, the three, in front of the department store elevators. One woman, richly dressed, may have been in her late 60s. The man was in his 70s. The other woman, bright-eyed and alert, was on the threshold of 80, and as they waited, she saw a piece of white thread clinging furtively to the hem of the other woman's coat. Quickly and agilely she stooped down and picked it off. The other thanked her warmly. "My," she said, "I wish I had some one as bright-eyed as you around my home." "That's nothing," the man rejoined proudly. "You should see her skip rope."

Or to the Morgue.

A lady doing some research into the quaint field of turtles telephoned a herpetologist at the Field museum. After talking to him, she asked if her call could be switched to the department of anthropology. "Operator," she heard him say, "switch this body to anthropology."

Well, Well.

F. E. Munsch, history instructor at St. Philip's High school, writes that Old Eli of Yale had to answer for many transgressions, but a new accusation was given in a recent class in American history when a pupil wrote: "Eli invented college gin in 1792."

The Dispossessed.

No, I will not be taken in the draft.
There are those to support,
And my health is none too good.
But I went to a party last night for Bob
Who is off to Fort Knox.
Last week it was Rod
Sailing for somewhere
Off on a ship.
Before that Tom, and next week Ted.
Only I stay here as they move on.
It was good with them to have a drink,
This same Scotch and soda that
Now tastes so dead.
Tasteless and useful only to drug
The watching fear that I hold for life
As I stay alone in a world that is done.
—Arnold Albee.

During the busy canners' convention here recently, a canner had difficulty operating his electric razor. Lifting the telephone receiver, he asked, "Do you have A. C. or D. C. current?" After a pause the operater replied, "Sorry, but they are not registered."

This brings to mind the encounter that week of Terence Morgan, a member of The Corn Is Green cast, who wished to see the Rousseau exhibition at the Art institute, but did not know where it was being held. He asked at his hotel and was given information service. "Well," the girl said anxiously, "we have a Count Rousseau here." "No," he told her, "no. The Rousseau show." "O," she said airily, "well, then you'd better try the canners' headquarters."

A Gala Birthday.

We have a rather touching chapter to add to the annals of the Red Cross blood procurement center here. A girl named Marya Waite, whose mother died at her birth, had a birthday and decided to make it memorable by making her first contribution to the blood bank. She did. Then she went shopping and to a matinée.

"I have had happy birthdays," she wrote, "but tonight there is a warm glow in my heart at the thought that the time I spent today may send some boy back to his mother, and of all my birthday gifts my most cherished possession is the little pin that was put on my coat. I don't especially feel that I earned it—it was so little to do—but I am proud that I have the right to wear it."

INSTALMENT XLIV.
CHLOROFORM.

Delia began to come back. She did not know where she had been, but she was coming back. There was a fog with a funny smell—a sweet, heavy smell. Chloroform. The word came into her mind and went out of it again. For a long time there was nothing there but the fog.

Then there were sounds—people moving—talking. Light coming thru the fog—light, and sounds. They worried her, and she wanted them to go away. The first thing she heard distinctly was Barend Ross saying,

"She ought to be coming around."

He held a candle close to her face, moving it to and fro so that the light fell on her eyes. The fog brightened. Some of the wax fell on her wrist, but she did not feel it at all, altho she could hear some one say "O!" in a gasping, frightened way. She sank down into the fog again.

Ina Long snatched the candle out of Barend's hand.

"I told you she wasn't shamming. Why can't you believe me? Now you've burned her."

He gave an uneasy laugh.

"A little candle grease—what does it matter?"

Mrs. Long blew out the candle and put it down on the chest of drawers beside the bed. The room was a small, comfortable bedroom. There was a square of blue carpet on the floor. The rather uneven boards were well polished. There were bright chintz curtains with a pattern of delphiniums and poppies.

Delia lay on a low divan bed with her fair hair loose on the pillow. Both arms lay bare outside the blue coverlet. The clothes which Mrs. Long had taken off her lay tossed down upon an ottoman at the foot of the bed, their blue repeating the blue of the carpet and of the delphiniums in the chintz. It was 8 o'clock in the morning, and the curtains had been drawn back, but there was very little light coming in from outside. A heavy murk that was not quite a fog tinged everything with its own sallow gloom.

Mrs. Long turned round from putting down the candle.

"When are you going to take her away?" she said, half breathless, half accusing.

Barend Ross frowned at her across the bed.

"Is that a reasonable thing to ask? Do you expect me to carry her out to the car like this, in daylight?"

"You shouldn't have brought her here. It wasn't in the bargain—you know it wasn't."

His frown deepened. He came round the bed and stood over her, a big, angry man. Dangerous. The word went thru her mind on a shuddering breath of cold. He said,

"I am always forgetting that women are not reasonable creatures. I will say it all over again very plainly, but I will only say it once. After that you must remember. If you do not, you know who will suffer." He saw with satisfaction that she shrank and trembled. A tiresome young woman, but amenable to a good loud crack of the whip.

He went on in a cold, displeased voice. "It is not for you to talk about bargains, it is for you to do as you are told. You do not imagine that I wished to bring her here, do you—you are not as stupid as that. The house I would have taken her to was a great deal more suitable. There were empty houses on either side and over the way, but since it no longer exists because a bomb struck it, I have to make other arrangements, and meanwhile she must stay here. You will have to go and put your daily woman off. What excuse will you make?"

She looked at him in a frightened way. He would think she ought to have told him before. She didn't know why she had not done so, except that perhaps it had made her feel safer. If he thought Mrs. Clarke would be here by 10 o'clock he would be in a hurry to get the girl away before she arrived, but she had to tell him. She said.

"She isn't coming."

"Why?"

She bit her lip to stop it trembling.

"I thought I could do without her while Ernest was away. She's got a daughter who's having a baby—she wants to go to her."

His face relaxed.

"Well, that is convenient. Now see—you must try to wake the girl. What can you do?"

"I don't know."

"You are a doctor's wife."

"I don't know anything about these things."

It would have given him the greatest pleasure to have shaken her.

She moved away from him nearer the bed and looked down at Delia.

"Perhaps you gave her too much. She looks very white. Some people can't take a lot—I know that."

"Just now you said you didn't know anything. Do you know enough to wash her face with cold water?"

The heavy sarcasm in his voice brought a faint flush to her check.

"I had chloroform once, and I slept all the next day. They didn't try to wake me up—I know that. If you want her to talk you had better let her sleep it off—I know that too. She won't be much use to you with her head swimming and the room going up and down."

He considered what she had said. He thought the crack of the whip had had a good effect and she was talking sense. Actually, it would not be at all a bad plan to let the girl sleep on. He couldn't risk moving her in daylight. In bed and asleep, she would be out of harm's way. He would have to make other arrangements. To do that he must go out. The contacts he must make were personal ones. He couldn't send Jimmy, and it wouldn't be safe to use the telephone.

He considered whether it would be safe to be away for some hours, as he very well might be. He didn't trust Jimmy over much. He was venal, and he would think first of his own skin. He didn't trust Ina Long at all. He had the whip hand of her, but with women you never could tell. She had every reason to come to heel, but at a pinch she might obey her nerves and break away. He couldn't trust her a yard. What then? He must make his arrangements. . . . Must he?

It came to him then how much simpler and less dangerous it might be just to stay here where he could keep Jimmy and Ina and the girl under his own eye. Who was to know that Ina Long had any one in the house? There was enough food—no one of them need go out. In the evening, when the girl had been made to speak, they could drive her away in the car. She would have to be disposed of. It could be made to look like a road accident.

The car—the only real element of danger lay in the faint possibility that the car might be traced. It was so faint a chance that he did not consider it very seriously. The risk—if there were a risk—was confined to the time when they were in the immediate neighborhood of Fourways. They had entered the drive a little before half past 6, well after sunset.

He remembered that they had passed a countrified young woman not far from the gates, but otherwise the road had been empty. Coming out again, he had not noticed any one. His attention had been taken up with Delia—he had been still holding the pad over her face.

He had not noticed Tommy Oaks coming up smoothly on his bicycle from the opposite direction. There was therefore no risk at all. He decided with relief that he would stay where he was, and went downstairs to join Jimmy Nash in Dr. Long's consulting room, which had a very nice private outlook upon an old fashioned garden a good deal overgrown with trees.

Delia lay on the divan bed. The voices ceased to trouble her. She slipped thru the fog into sleep. Presently when Ina Long came to look at her she saw that she had turned on her side. Her breath came evenly and there was color in her cheeks. A load lifted from Ina's mind. She had been tormenting herself for hours with the thought that the anaesthetized stupor might go on until the girl was dead. And then what? Everything in her shuddered with fear. But this was sleep. She went thankfully away and busied herself about the house.

It was not until the afternoon that Delia woke. The day had cleared, and the sun came slanting in at the window. She turned away from it and opened her eyes. She was still heavy and drowsy. What she saw meant no more to her than an image seen in a dream. A blue carpet, cream walls, a blue coverlet, a chest of drawers, a basket chair with a chintz cover, blue flowers on the chintz, her clothes thrown down on the ottoman—these things made a picture before her eyes, but they made no sense. They were like a sentence in a foreign language, or a song of which you cannot hear the words. She didn't say I know this place, or I don't know it. It just meant nothing at all.

"This was match-point duplicate. My partner was South and opened with one heart. West overcalled with a spade, and I passed. [I think you will agree that this was the correct action.] East, just to make things harder for us, bid two spades, and my partner came in at this point with a three club bid. West passed, and I had to consider whether to raise or pass. I knew that I might venture to four clubs, but it seemed incredible that we could make game. I was afraid, first, that thru a bad break, four clubs might be defeated; or, second, that my partner, unduly encouraged by my bid, might venture to five. At any rate, there we stayed at three clubs! Every other team in the room made four hearts, so you can imagine our match-point score on this board.—E. F. M."

My correspondent's share in this debacle was considerably smaller than his partner's. South's three club bid on the second round was incredibly bad. He should have doubled two spades for a take-out. Only in this way could he show the great strength of his hand. It always is absurd to bid a weak four card minor suit before even rebidding a strong six card major suit. The correct bidding thruout would have been:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	2 spades
Double	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

This criticism of South's bidding, however, does not absolve North for refusing to raise the three club bid. It was not up to North to guard against possible error on South's part. North had a raise for three clubs and should have given it.

OH-OH!
GOOD EVENING, WON'T YOU COME IN?
WE ARE IN A BLACKOUT, MADAME, AND I MUST ASK YOU TO PUT OUT YOUR LIGHT.
BUT IT ISN'T TIME FOR THE BLACKOUT YET—UNLESS MY CLOCK HAS STOPPED.
IT IS HERE AND YOU MUST TURN OFF YOUR LIGHT.
MY HUSBAND IS OVER TOWN AND I'M NOT USED TO BEING ALONE IN THE DARK. YOU'LL HAVE TO STAY WITH ME.
I WON'T BE FAR AWAY. I'LL CHECK UP ON THE REST OF THIS BLOCK AND I'LL BE BACK.

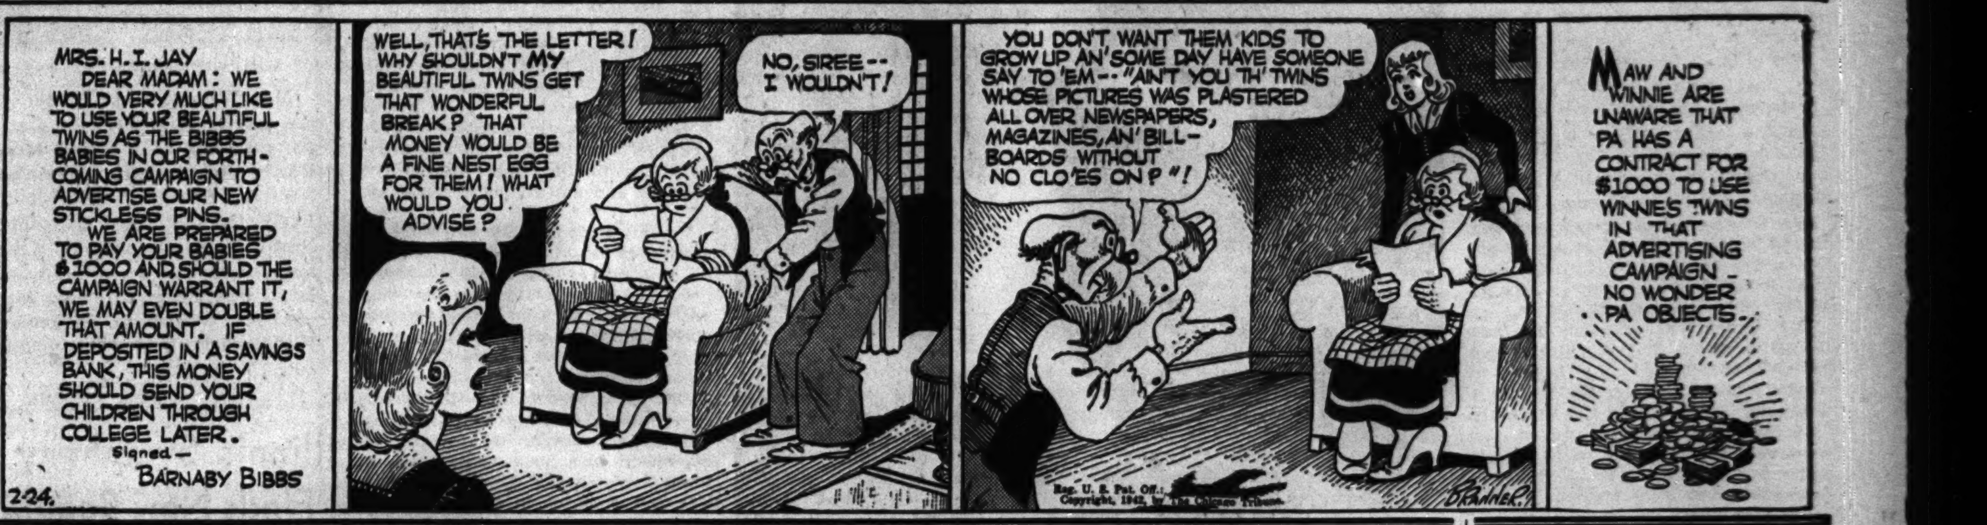
WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Anti-Exposure



MRS. H. I. JAY
DEAR MADAM: WE WOULD VERY MUCH LIKE TO USE YOUR BEAUTIFUL TWINS AS THE BIBBS BABIES IN OUR FORTHCOMING CAMPAIGN TO ADVERTISE OUR NEW STICKLESS PINS. WE ARE PREPARED TO PAY YOUR BABIES $1000 AND, SHOULD THE CAMPAIGN WARRANT IT, WE MAY EVEN DOUBLE THAT AMOUNT. IF DEPOSITED IN A SAVINGS BANK, THIS MONEY SHOULD SEND YOUR CHILDREN THROUGH COLLEGE LATER. Signed— BARNABY BIBBS
WELL, THAT'S THE LETTER! WHY SHOULDN'T MY BEAUTIFUL TWINS GET THAT WONDERFUL BREAK? THAT MONEY WOULD BE A FINE NEST EGG FOR THEM! WHAT WOULD YOU ADVISE?
NO, SIREE—I WOULDN'T!
YOU DON'T WANT THEM KIDS TO GROW UP AN' SOME DAY HAVE SOMEONE SAY TO 'EM—"AIN'T YOU TH' TWINS WHOSE PICTURES WAS PLASTERED ALL OVER NEWSPAPERS, MAGAZINES, AN' BILLBOARDS WITHOUT NO CLO'ES ON?"!
MAW AND WINNIE ARE UNAWARE THAT PA HAS A CONTRACT FOR $1000 TO USE WINNIE'S TWINS IN THAT ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN—NO WONDER PA OBJECTS.

her former sister-in-law's husband and for Mme. David Van Buuren, who with her husband, a professor at the University of Brussels, fled Belgium on the day of the German invasion. Mme. Van Buuren, an honorary member of the national board of the YWCA, will speak at a luncheon meeting Saturday at the Loop center of the Chicago branch of the YWCA.

Albert Keeps Parents of Fourth Child, a Son.

The Albert Keeps' three little daughters, Alice, Lindsay, and Sandra, soon will be sharing their nursery in Sheffield, Mass., with a brother. The Keeps' first son was born on Feb. 21 in the Fairview hospital in Great Barrington, Mass. He has been named Scott for the family of his mother, the former Isabel Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott of Hubbard Woods. The children's paternal grandmother, Mrs. John P. Wilson, learned of the new arrival in Yeoman's Hall, S. C., where she is vacationing with Mr. Wilson. Mr. Keep is headmaster of the Berkshire school, in Sheffield.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cromelin's new daughter, who arrived at the Passavant hospital on Feb. 11, was a third anniversary present for her parents. The baby has been named Josephine Aletta for her grandfather, Joseph Hardy Young, and Mrs. John Root. The Cromelins also have a two year old daughter, Alix, who is noted for her poise.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lill [Eleanor Coit] are being congratulated on the birth of their third son on Sunday at the Passavant hospital. The baby and his brothers, George Lill III, and William Coit Lill, are grandchildren of Mrs. Buckingham Chandler and of the William West Lills.

Drama League to Entertain 'Blithe Spirit' Cast Today.

The ballroom of the Blackstone will be filled to capacity at a breakfast the Chicago Drama league is giving today for Dennis King, Annabella, Estelle Winwood, Carol Goodner, and other members of the cast of "Blithe Spirit," now playing at the Selwyn. In the absence of the league's president, Mrs. M. Lee Alberts, who is in Arizona, Mrs. William E. Vogelback will preside. Lewis Bernays, British consul general, will act as toastmaster.

Some of those who have made reservations for the party are Mrs. Harold Pynchon, Mrs. David Bremner, Mrs. Ira Humphry, Mrs. Walter Cummings, Mrs. Robert C. Griffin, Mrs. Frank C. Engelhart, and Mrs. Winfield Brainerd. Mrs. John L. Kellogg will be among those at the speakers' table.

The Chicago College club is celebrating its 35th birthday with a special tea today from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Harold M. Pulsifier, president; the board of directors, and Miss Nettie A. Bauman, chairman of the ex-presidents' committee, will form a receiving line.

Mrs. T. Philip Swift and Mrs. Frederick Walker are going east this week for the freshman prom at Yale on Friday night. They are members of the patroness committee, which will be entertained at dinner Friday by Norman Buck, dean of freshmen, and Mrs. Buck. Mrs. Swift's son, Edward F. Swift II., and Mrs. Walker's son, Blake M. Walker, are members of the prom committee.

The O'Grady cup for curling will spend the coming year in the trophy room of the Indian Hill club. As a result of Sunday's competition with the Milwaukee rink the Indian Hill's B team won the honor of possessing the trophy for a year. Last year the cup was won by the Skokie club, for whose late member, Capt. William A. de Courcey O'Grady, the cup was named.

Onions, cabbage, and their smelly relatives, leeks, broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, and kohlrabi, require more than usual care in cooking. Perhape I defame these very good vegetables by calling them "smelly," for the truth is that they develop an unpleasant odor only when they are improperly cooked.

Cooked with the loving kindness which their temperamental natures demand, these vegetables have delicate flavor and exceedingly tempting aroma. I think you'll find that the person who dislikes cabbage or broccoli, in nearly every instance has developed his dislike because the vegetable was served to him limp, overcooked, grayish in color, and reeking with odor. This odor is the product of decomposition in the vegetable, and that decomposition naturally accompanies the abuse of overcooking.

I have been happy to notice that in the last year or so, more and more of the better eateries have been putting these strong juiced vegetables into their menus, and have served them so carefully cooked that they seem an epicurean luxury vegetable instead of the plain, inexpensive food they are.

I'm often asked if these vegetables may be cooked by steaming. The answer is no, almost without qualification. Steaming helps to develop that unpleasant, strong flavor and odor, and spoils the color of the green vegetables.

These sensitive vegetables should be cooked in a fairly large amount of boiling, salted water, with no cover on the pan, and for only long enough to become tender, not a minute beyond this point.

It usually is better to have the large vegetables cut into pieces, so that the cooking will be even. Cauliflower may be cooked whole, of course, if you are careful.

Onions may be cooked whole if they aren't too large. Cabbage usually is shredded or cut into quarters or sixths. Leeks may be cooked whole, split once lengthwise, or sliced thickly crosswise. The usual objection to cooking them whole is the difficulty of washing them free of the dirt which is likely to hide at the base of the leaves.

Broccoli is prettiest when cooked in portion sized stalks. Tough stalks should be trimmed a bit, peeled, and slashed once thru the middle so that they'll cook tender in less time. Cauliflower usually is cut into flowerets. Brussels sprouts are cooked whole. Kohlrabi must be trimmed, peeled, and quartered.

Salt, pepper and butter are the only seasonings needed for any of these vegetables.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Mrs. John D. Ruppel, 434 Pine Tree street, Kohler, Wis., wins today's prize of $5 for her creamy burnt sugar pudding. This dessert has the flavor of a nut brittle candy. It will keep for a week in the refrigerator. Keep an eye on that browning sugar when you make it.

Have you sent your favorite recipe to the Mary Meade Recipe contest? Any original recipe, family heirloom, or pet economy dish may be worthy of the $5 prize given daily. Write up your recipe in standard form and give clear, complete directions.

Burnt Creme.
[Serves six.]

- 3 cups milk
- 1⅓ cups sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 egg
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- ½ cup chopped nutmeats

Scald all but ¼ cup of the milk in the top of a double boiler. Place 1 cup of the sugar in a heavy saucepan and heat slowly until the sugar melts and begins to smoke. Remove from heat at once. Cool, stirring occasionally until sirup thickens somewhat, but is still liquid. Meanwhile combine remaining ⅓ cup of sugar with cornstarch and remaining cold milk. Add to scalded milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add a little of the hot mixture to the slightly beaten egg and return to double boiler. Cook 2 or 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Pour the hot custard slowly into the burnt sugar, stirring rapidly while adding. Add flavoring and nutmeats. Cool and serve with cream or any preferred sauce.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

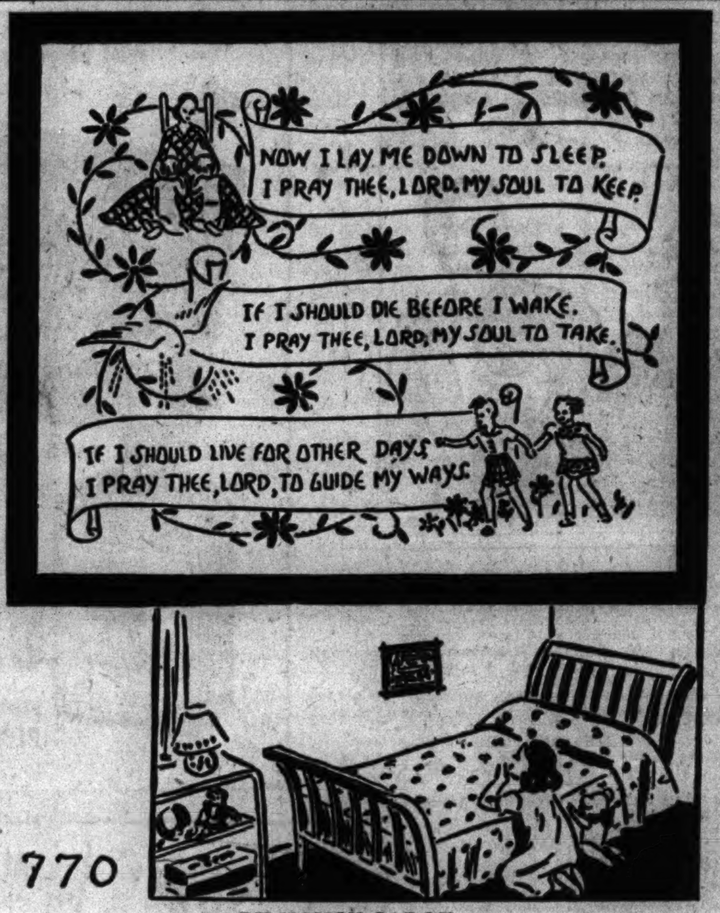
Prayer in Embroidery



NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP,
I PRAY THEE, LORD, MY SOUL TO KEEP.
IF I SHOULD DIE BEFORE I WAKE,
I PRAY THEE, LORD, MY SOUL TO TAKE.
IF I SHOULD LIVE FOR OTHER DAYS
I PRAY THEE, LORD, TO GUIDE MY WAYS

BY NANCY CABOT.

There is no more simple way for children to learn a prayer than when it is embroidered as a sampler and hung over the bed as a constant reminder. This design has simple figures running thruout adding to its charm. Any beginning needleworker may attempt this embroidery task with ease and assurance of success.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 23.—You might call 'em a new Hedy Lamarr and a new William Powell. Hedy and Bill are working together for the first time in "Crossroads," a melodrama about France and spies and amnesia based on an old French movie.

Hedy Lamarr.

William Powell.

Your reporter must confess that while he has always darn near swooned every time he has talked with Miss Lamarr he has always regarded her as stately, serious, and a little frightening. Other people have had the same reaction. Of late the lady has been changing; there is mischief in her eyes, laughter on her lips, gayety in her voice. Other people have noticed the same thing, so maybe Hollywood's most noted beauty really is changing.

Her mother, Mrs. Emil Kiesler of Vienna, arrived here from London about a week ago. When I inquired how she was—using the old Californian opening gambit, "How does she like it by now?"—her daughter said, "Well, she's having sort of a breakdown. It's new to her, and she could not get used to seeing oranges rotting under trees.

"She will be all right. It takes time. Look at me! I'm only just beginning to get used to it."

That is, doubtless, why Miss Lamarr is increasing in charm and vivacity. 'She's used to the way people think and talk now, and talking like us is no longer a problem in translation.

Hedy didn't want to make "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," which for my money is her best job to date. "But the studio wanted me to and I had to. I'm not like this girl, Marvin Miles. She was a worker, a business girl. I've never worked and I don't like it very much. She didn't like the snow and I love it. Everything she liked I don't, and everything I like she didn't. So I didn't think I would be any good as Marvin Miles."

"I'm glad to see they've got shoes on you again," I remarked just to change the subject. "You look mighty fit in that suit and that hat. Taken off some weight?"

"About ten pounds."

"Diet?"

"In a way. I don't eat so much. I do it every once in a while, and when I start to get nervous I begin eating again. But you talk about pictures, I loved 'Tortilla Flat.' I got fat on it. All I had to wear was one ragged old dress and it was wonderful."

The new William Powell is deliberately conceived. In "Crossroads" he is in a dramatic rôle—a man with amnesia who doesn't know whether he is a respected French citizen or a petty thief.

"I want to stay in this business as long as I can," he says. "In this business you can drop out of sight like a shot. I'm glad to be playing this rôle because I've been doing so many zany characters and crazy detectives. I should think the customers would be getting tired.

"Mind you, I'm not sighing to play 'Hamlet' or anything like that, because all I want to make is entertainment. But I'm glad of the change.

"The late Irving Thalberg, who was a sagacious little guy, had me pegged for a change. He called me in one day and said, 'Bill, it's time we thought of something new for you.'"

Something new turned out to be a picture which couldn't be made—"The Forty Days of Musa Dagh." This novel, a big-scale melodrama about Turkish persecution of Armenians, was right down everybody's alley. It would make a pip of a picture; Bill Powell was afire to do it, but the war ruined the project. Turkey is still a potential ally of ours, and we have to be polite.

"Now," says Powell, "I guess it's too late. I don't suppose anybody is interested in Armenians any more."

Psychiatrist to Be Speaker Before Woman's Aid Today

When the Chicago Woman's aid invited Dr. Rudolph Dreikurs, noted psychiatrist, to speak before its members on the effects of the uncertainties and stress of wartime on children, he wryly offered for his subject, "Parents Are My Biggest Problem." Taking him at his word, the aid has scheduled his lecture under that title for 11 o'clock today at its headquarters at 185 North Wabash avenue.

Two-Timer Is Poor Choice for Marriage

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"About being jealous, Miss Blake: don't you think that, in some cases, one of the two does give real cause for the other to be jealous, and that it isn't always a sense of inferiority expressing itself, as you said recently about jealousy?

"Take my case. I have been going around with a young man for over a year, and there is an 'understanding' between us. He used to go with a married woman for two years before he met me. He tells me that he does not see her any more, but I have found out that he does. Moreover, he has been seen with her by others. A friend of his told me he'd seen them out together.

"I really like him, but I am beginning to be doubtful, so I would like your advice as to whether I should drop him or give him another chance. I hate a two-timer, because I'm honest with him. A number of others have asked to date me, but I refused on his account. If you think it is best, I will simply drop him.—Wally K.

We cannot see where jealousy enters your problem, Wally. You cannot care much for the chap if you'd drop him on our say so. From the general tone of your letter, parting forever from the young man wouldn't be much sorrow, we gather, so you wouldn't be able to work up a case of jealousy unless you cared.

If you are square and honest and hate two-timers, we think you ought to be about picking off some of those other dates. From the looks of things, that's what you'll be forced to do eventually, since no young man in love with a girl, and serious about marriage plans, would be courting an outsider, married or single. The married woman angle gives him an additional black mark.

Naturalist to Speak.

Sam Campbell, naturalist and philosopher, will speak on "Rediscovering Our Great North Woods" at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Chicago Academy of Sciences, Clark street and Ogden avenue in Lincoln park.

Thru the Looking Glass

Just at the moment when the winter grows dreary and feminine moods are inclined to go a little somber, we have a new perfume to make spring seem closer.

It's kind of a giddy perfume, even a little saucy—and that's quite all right with us right now. We find that most women are considerably bolstered by at least a dash of sheer luxury now and then.

The perfume is the kind that is immediately indexed as one of those accent-on-femininity scents. It's not heavy handed in its character, and one of its chief charms is that it helps ward off any tendency to be heavy hearted. It makes you think of cheery things—a little romance and a lot of fun and maybe a pretty garden. And tho you must wear functional clothes and keep your nose to the grindstone, a bit of this does things for your sense of femininity.

It's brand new, made possible by some vision and good luck on the part of its creators, and while we describe it as a touch of gay luxury it isn't frighteningly expensive, nor lavishly presented. The perfumers didn't spend a lot of money on new bottle molds nor fancy wrappings; they concentrated on a bright new fragrance, and we think they achieved a good one, especially for these times.

The perfume—and there is cologne to match—is something of a lifesaver with your work-a-day clothes and even more charming as a finishing touch when you doll up in your best.

If the Child Hates Chores, Try Incentive

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

What a groaning chorus of response we would have if we asked all the mothers we know, "Do you have trouble getting your children to do the household chores you've set for them?"

I suppose you would sing in that chorus. And, perhaps, you're one of those who would add: "It's easier to do it myself."

Like so many of the ways of children, there usually is more than one reason back of this, but we can make the blanket statement that children, once they have passed little childhood, have almost no intrinsic interest in the work given them to do at home. They've passed the point where "helping mother" is an adventure. There are two exceptions—the girl who is a natural housewife and the boy who has the handy man instinct—and perhaps the large family, where no one child can "get away with" not doing his share. But to boys and girls in general the task that it given them to do is simply something that uses up time and energy that they'd like to be spending on something else, and this makes it very easy to forget it.

Granted this, we've got to put some sort of incentive into their little job, that, for instance, you have more than you can do without them; that they are a very real help to you; that they make the grounds or house more attractive by their assistance; that they are saving money that could ill be spent; or that it's only fair that they should do their share of the family labor, are all motives that can be so set forth that they appeal to the children.

Doing things together, with you or with a sister or brother, also lightens any piece of work. If you have an only child, you often must do more than set the task or plan out the routine to keep it from being a dry and lifeless duty. Interest and praise give a fillip to any piece of work, especially if they're tucked in while the job is in progress. "You certainly do take good care of your brushes when you're thru painting"; or, "Let's see how the lawn mower works since you oiled it"; or, "It's such a comfort to have a daughter who does the dishes without grouching," are examples of what I mean by praise or interest.

The Housewife

For patriotic parties on Lincoln's or Washington's birthdays the table might be decorated with some attractive new candles that are made in red, white, and blue. The colors are applied to the wax and the effect is of a candle with broad horizontal stripes. An all-white candle that is massive in proportions and that is artistically twisted is also interesting as a table decoration, as are the small ones in the shapes of flowers that can be floated on a shallow bowl of water.

Your Handwriting

Bea Wain, radio warbler, writes a pleasant script. I find that most people aren't satisfied to be told that they are pleasant. It seems to be one of the virtues that is getting old fashioned. So many people are trying to be clever by being rude and ruthless. I admire genius, of course, but

Bea Wain

I am sure I wouldn't like it around for any everyday diet, and I'd hate to depend on it for steady companionship. No, I still think pleasant and agreeable people are mighty nice to have around.

One of the ways to pick your friends that influence you pleasantly is to pick out those who write a rhythmic clear, open script. It should slant forward slightly, as does Miss Wain's, and it shouldn't be too heavy, and the pressure should be even, and the writing look smooth and free flowing. O, certainly, they do have their off-days, but not very often, and they recover their equilibrium quickly. They wear well, and are not wearing! Miss Wain is this friendly type.

Give that old-fashioned beef stew a sophisticated touch by serving the juicy cubes of meat in cabbage cups; surround them with the other vegetables and serve the gravy separately. (Add the cabbage leaves to the simmering stew last, so they'll be cooked just until tender, no more.)

You've just run out of cake flour? Well, substitute all-purpose flour for it, but use 2 tablespoons less, per cup, than the recipe prescribes.

Serve a creamy onion sauce, flecked with bits of parsley, along with your favorite salmon loaf. Mmmm—it's delicious!

Go ahead and beat that muffin batter if you're fond of tunnels in the muffins! Just a few quick stirs, however, will combine the dry and liquid ingredients, and give the muffins a better texture.

There won't be a single turned-up nose at the breakfast table if the cereal's been cooked with a little honey. The flavor is delightful!

Here's a dainty pastel-colored sandwich for afternoon tea. Add a few chopped maraschino cherries to softened cream cheese, with enough cherry juice to give a delicate pink tint, and spread the mixture on rounds of bread. Pretty, aren't they?

Remedy Tip: If the gravy is lacking in color and flavor, perk it up with a few drops of concentrated meat extract. (Your neighborhood grocer will probably have one or more brands of this extract in stock.)

10 TO FACE COURT TODAY IN QUIZ ON ABORTION RING

Physician Is Accused; 11th Suspect Sought.

Ten persons, including a physician, will be arraigned in Felony court today on charges of conspiracy to commit abortions. West coast authorities, meanwhile, have been asked to arrest Dr. Max Gecht, formerly of Chicago, alleged by state's attorney's investigators to have been the head of an abortion ring in Chicago until some years ago and to have maintained nominal contacts with it since that time.

According to Theodore Kucewicz, assistant state's attorney, the main offices of the ring originally were at 190 North State street—offices which the investigators say Dr. Gecht turned over to Dr. Josephine Gabler, whose physician's license recently was revoked. Dr. Gabler, Kucewicz said, then turned the business over to Mrs. Ada Martin. Mrs. Martin's daughter, Ada Jane, was shot and killed last April by Daniel Moriarity, a policeman on the state's attorney's staff, who admitted having been "fixer" for the ring.

Ten Arrested Sunday.

The 10 to be arraigned today were arrested Sunday by 12 squads of state's attorney's office police on secret warrants issued by Judge Charles Dougherty in Felony court. They are:

Dr. S. G. Seinfeld, a physician with offices at 3936 North avenue, 612 Michigan avenue, and 435 West 119th street; Miss Catherine Heideman, a nurse, who was in charge of the 119th street office; Miss Mary Kassak, 25 years old, a receptionist in offices at 3944 Madison street from which patients were sent elsewhere; Mrs. Rita Zini, 54, of 11340 Prairie avenue, assistant to Miss Heideman; Mrs. Nancy Buch, 38, of 735 California terrace, described by Kucewicz as "payoff" and contact woman for the ring.

Nurse Among Those Named.

Miss Cora Belle Turner, 42, of 4523 North Hamilton avenue, a nurse in offices at 1210 North Clark street; Mrs. Katherine Mostaccio, 45, and her husband, Gino, of 1739 North Wells street, the address of a building said to be owned by Dr. Gecht; Mrs. Kate Egdorf, 48, of 4925 Cuyler avenue, described by police as Dr. Gecht's original payoff woman in dealing with druggists, beauty shop owners, physicians, and others who allegedly sent patients to the ring, and Miss Willie Henderson, 32, colored, of 4049 Greenview avenue, who already is under indictment in another abortion case.

Dr. Seinfeld, Miss Heideman, Mrs. Zini, and Miss Kassak, were held. The others were freed after promising to testify against Dr. Gecht and others.

RALPH E. CHURCH FILES FOR G.O.P. SENATOR RACE

Makes Surprise Entry in Final Hour.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—Ralph E. Church of Evanston, former congressman, filed as a surprise candidate for the Republican nomination for senator tonight against Sen. Wayland Brooks and State Treasurer Warren Wright.

Church presented his petitions personally in the office of the secretary of state only 25 minutes ahead of the midnight deadline for filing for the April 14 primary.

Another surprise entrant in the state primary picture was Frank J. McAdams, 33 year old assistant United States district attorney in Chicago, for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large against Benjamin S. Adamowski, who has the backing of the Kelly-Nash organization in Cook county.

McAdams formerly was an assistant state's attorney under Thomas J. Courtney.

Other candidates for congressman at large are: Dr. Bert Roan of Bushnell [R.]; P. J. Cullerton, 5546 West Monroe, Chicago [D.], and C. R. Malone, 6428 Justin avenue, Chicago [D.].

Also Filed for Congress.

Church, who represented the 10th district in congress from 1934 to 1940 previously had filed as a candidate for the lower house in Washington. He can withdraw, however, any time up to Feb. 28.

Church ran unsuccessfully for the G. O. P. senatorial nomination in 1940, losing to Brooks.

Sarsfield Daley, 6323 South Greenwood avenue, Chicago, filed as a Democratic candidate for United States senator against Raymond S. McKeough and Paul H. Douglas of Chicago, both of whom previously had filed.

As the midnight deadline passed, all candidates who had announced their intention to file for state offices had presented their petitions.

Harold T. Halfpenny of Chicago, chief assistant in the office of State Treasurer Warren Wright, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer today only a few hours before the midnight deadline.

Altho Halfpenny's entry led to immediate speculation here that rival "Brooks" and "Wright" slates may take shape in the G. O. P. primary, Halfpenny said "there is no deal of any kind" and that he would run as as independent.

Stratton for Treasurer.

William G. Stratton of Morris, present congressman-at-large, is a candidate for treasurer with the support of many Republicans who are backing Sen. Wayland Brooks for renomination. Treasurer Wright, ineligibe to succeed himself in the office he now holds, is opposing Brooks for the senatorial nomination.

Charles P. MacCauley of Chicago also is in the GOP treasurer race and Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville filed tonight.

Others in the state treasurer race are Charles P. MacCauley and Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville, D. D. Forsyth of Springfield, and Edward J. Barrett of Wilmette, Republicans, and Edward J. Callaghan and John H. Condon of Chicago, both Democrats.

Candidates filing petitions from Chicago and suburbs today included:

SORE THROAT?

At the first sign of Irritation, Sneeze or Sniffle—

GARGLE

LISTERINE, QUICK!

This wonderful antiseptic kills millions of germs on throat surfaces . . . the very types that many authorities say are responsible for the cold misery you know all too well. At the same time it often relieves irritation of sore throats due to colds. Remember, in tests made over a ten-year period, regular twice-a-day users of Listerine Antiseptic had fewer colds, milder colds and colds of shorter duration than non-users. So, at the first sign of trouble, use Listerine Antiseptic and consult your doctor.

MOTHERS! Check children's throats daily with amazing new Listerine Throat Light that actually bends light rays to illuminate throat surfaces . . . Full details at any drug counter.

BIG BOYS BATTLE TONIGHT IN GOLDEN GLOVES

ILLINI BEAT BADGERS, 45-43; CLINCH TIE FOR TITLE

IOWA OUTLASTS INDIANA, 55-52; MICHIGAN WINS

Wolverines Rout Maroons, 61-37.

Big Ten Standings

	W.	L.	Pct.	Pts.	O.P.

Chicago	0	14	.000	445	802

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—Illinois clinched at least a tie for the Western conference basketball championship, held last year by Wisconsin, when it whipped the Badgers, 45 to 43, tonight. Wisconsin threatened most of the way, particularly in the last five minutes, when the Badgers scored seven points to Illinois' one.

The defeat of Indiana by Iowa, coupled with Illinois' victory, insured the Illini sophomores a share in the championship. The margin of two points was the narrowest by which the Illini have overcome a Big Ten opponent.

The Badgers trailed, 44 to 36, with six minutes to go, then put on their spurt. The Illini were stalling and attempted few shots.

Phillip Leads Scorers.

Andy Phillip was high point man with 14 points from six baskets and two free throws. Vic Wukovits was next with 13, while Bob Sullivan, forward, led the Badgers with six field goals for 12 points.

John Kotz, Big Ten leader, scored 11 points to bring his league leading total to 173 for the season, thus failing to equal Jewell Young's 184 for 12 games. Nearly 300 residents of Clinton cheered their fellow townsman, Gene Vance, Illinois sophomore guard.

Illinois led, 27 to 25, after a seesaw first half. Scoring was furious in the last six and a half minutes when Wisconsin got 13 points to Illinois' 11. In this period the score was tied four times and the lead changed hands twice. The score was tied, 27 to 27 and 30 to 30, in the second half before Illinois finally got off to the lead it hung onto until the end. Lineup:

IOWA, 55; INDIANA, 52

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 23 [Special].—Iowa rolled up a 30 to 17 lead in the first half, then snuffed out an Indiana rally in the final period to whip the Hoosiers 55 to 52 before 11,500 tonight.

Tommy Chapman led the Hawkeyes with 21 points, thus breaking an 18 year old Iowa record for conference scoring. Chapman's season total is 153 points, three better than the mark set by Jack Funk in 1923.

CHICAGO BEATEN, 61-37

Chicago's Maroons concluded their third straight season without a home basketball victory last night by losing to Michigan, 61 to 37, in the Midway fieldhouse. It was Chicago's 30th consecutive conference defeat, 14 of which have accumulated this year. Lineup:

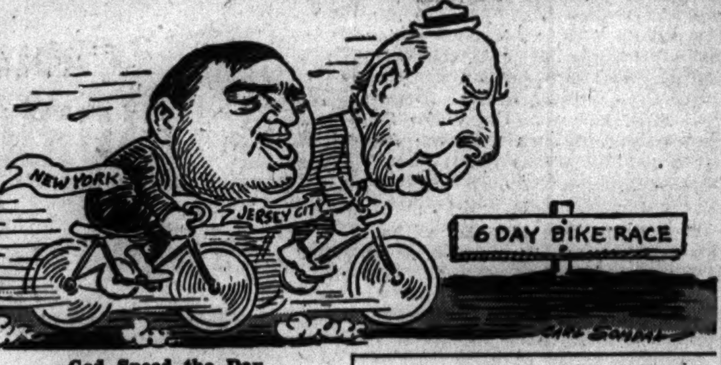
BY ARCH WARD.

A FEW notes on the University of Illinois' youthful basketball team which is setting the pace in the waning Western conference championship race: Gene Vance, the infant of the squad, is 18 years old and receives a cake weekly from home, which makes his room in the Beta house one of the most popular spots on the campus. . . . Jack Smiley, next youngest, was 19 last Dec. 23, and Capt. Bill Hocking was 21 last Sunday. . . . Ace Parker, Chuck Fowler, Ken Menke, and Herb Matter all are nearing their 20th birthdays, Art Mathiesen was 22 last Friday, Henry Sachs will be 23 in October, Vic Wukovits will be 24 in June, while Ray Bergeson, the only married man in the first 12, will be 28 June 30. . . . Leo Durocher, who thinks his Dodgers will repeat in the 1942 pennant race, disagrees with the experts who pick the Cardinals to finish second again. . . . Lippy thinks the Reds will be his chief worry. . . . Johnny Layton, who suffered severe injuries in a Chicago traffic accident more than a year ago, has recovered and expects to return to billiard competition soon. . . . John held the world championship at three cushions eight times. . . . Glenn Presnell, new head football coach at Nebraska, still holds the National Football league field goal record, a boot of 53 yards for the Detroit Lions against the Packers in 1933. . . . The Michigan Boxing commission has vetoed a proposal that Tony Galento be allowed to make a tour of the state as a wrestling referee. . . . Carlos Malacara, Mexican lightweight fighting around New York, has a mustache.

Corp. Henry [Red] Skurnick, former member of the Cleveland Rosenblums and Chicago Bruins basketball teams, is coaching the court squad at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates' 1942 uniforms feature a red, white, and blue color scheme. . . . St. Louis bookmakers rate the Yankees 1 to 3 favorites in the American league and the Cardinals 11 to 5 in the National. . . . All Southern association players will wear Hale America emblems on their uniforms this summer. . . . Two Hawaiian bowling teams have canceled reservations at the ABC tournament because of the war. . . . Before he left San Francisco for Florida, Larry Woodall, new coach of the Red Sox, called the sports editors of the city's four newspapers to thank them for the nice things they had been saying about him. . . . Two of the east's most faithful six day bike race fans are Mayors Fiorello La Guardia of New York and Frank Hague of Jersey City.



God Speed the Day.

Have you noticed that lately the youth one meets
Become fewer and fewer upon the streets?
Of course one is quicker to miss a face
In a town that is rather a little place.
Jack's been drafted, so has Bill,
Bob's in the naval reserve,
Joey and Eddie wanted wings,
Their country's cause to serve.

Have you noticed the hush that lingers after
The fading away of boyish laughter?
In a city such things you perhaps don't miss,
But they leave a deep void in a place like this;
I think it must have been just that way
When the piper of old lured the young folks away—
God speed the day of returning when These streets will ring with their laughter again!

Purdue's Early Attack Beats N. U., 56 to 40

There wasn't much to Purdue's 56 to 40 conquest of Northwestern in the Evanston High school gymnasium last night after the Boilermakers opened up a 20 to 7 lead late in the first half. The Wildcats retaliated with their strongest offensive of the night—six straight free throws—but the Boilermakers went back to work and ended the half with a 28 to 15 advantage.

Purdue rolled in 15 consecutive points at the outset of the second half to lead, 43 to 19.

The defeat was Northwestern's eighth in 12 conference games, just the reverse of the Boilermakers' record of eight victories and four defeats. Lineups:

CUBS GROAN, BUT SURVIVE SECOND DAY OF PRACTICE

Tortured Muscles Rebel After First Drill.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 23.—Next to losing a double header to the Phils, the worst thing that can happen to a National league squad is the second day of spring training.

Today was the Cubs' second day and it was a pathetic sight—those young men hobbling and groaning about in a courageous effort to shake off the aches and pains accruing from yesterday's four hour inaugural drills. Few of the lads were actually wounded. Just weary and stiff. Several, including Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson, were beset with blisters, and Swede Erickson came out to test his nose, broken yesterday by a ball cast by Catcher Clyde McCullough.

Erickson's schnoz is in splints, because of the fracture and he has additional discomfort because of a lacerated nostril which is adorned with two inside stitches. Swede found today that the nose, even with the burden of the decorations did not interfere with his throwing motion so he does not expect to lose any time in the training processes.

May Play First Game Sunday.

The lads are to go thru semi-calisthenics again tomorrow. On Wednesday they will begin to work on baseball procedure. It was thought possible the lads would be ready for an intraclub game next Sunday. After the first competition such practice contests will be conducted with regularity, according to Manager Jim Wilson's present plans.

Perhaps the most exciting thing on the field until the games start is the spectacle of Coach Kiki Cuyler trying to teach Lou Novikoff to run like Ki himself runs. This really comes under the head of herculean projects.

Kiki, as all fans of the Cubs' success era probably recall, had running class and form in addition to speed, that was a source of admiration or envy to fellow players. Kiki may have lost some of his speed but none of his graceful technique, featuring the high lifting of knees.

Doesn't Expect Too Much.

Novikoff, up to this point in his career, has amazed critics by barging stiff legged, rarely lifting his feet more than two inches except when advancing over rough terrain. Manager Wilson has admitted he doesn't expect any one to mistake Novikoff for Cuyler on the baselines but that he does think Ki can make a trotter out of Lou, at least.

Transportation, such as it is, was returned to the revised normal today after the recent suspension which prevented the Cubs from either receiving mail or getting any off the island. While the near sinking Saturday of one of the water taxies of the type which ferried the Cubs to their self-imposed quarantine here has caused some anxiety about the necessity of using the same carriers for the return to the mainland March 12, that date still seems like a couple of eons away.

O, for Those Other Years!

Then there used to be two or even three shows at the movie house each night. Many of the players would sit thru all three shows, which was not good for the eyes. Now the reel is run thru only once per day, starting at 8 o'clock each evening.

The bowling alleys used to cause the boys to get their minds off baseball evenings but the 10 commandments issued yesterday by Manager Wilson made the kegler pastime tabu, so this hazard has been removed.

In other years beautiful women were wont to come over on the steamer and remain for a spell. Now—no steamer, no beautiful women except native residents, all of whom seem to have their domestic schedules pretty well mapped out.

Harry [Peanuts] Lowrey, rookie outfielder, phoned General Manager Jim Gallagher of the Cubs tonight and said he would arrive on the 10 o'clock plane tomorrow morning to sign his contract. This leaves Billy Myers, veteran shortstop, as the lone Cub holdout.

They Came—They Fought—and Some Won!

Mac Colville Injured; Rangers Recall Burns

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—With Right-winger Mac Colville out for a week with a hip injury, the New York Rangers today recalled Norm Burns, who has been on loan to New Haven of the American Hockey league.

Lake Forest Rallies to Beat Carroll, 46-43

After being outplayed by a smooth working Carroll basketball team in the first half, Lake Forest college came back strong in the second period to beat the Pioneers, 46 to 43, last night in Lake Forest.

Phil Moreland —There Is a Boxer for You

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Visits to Golden Gloves headquarters and to the Chicago Stadium last night revealed the customary amount of enthusiasm on the part of the trainers and coaches over their favorites' chances. Each was certain that he had at least six champions, if not eight, on his squad. Of the newcomers, however, the boy receiving the most prefight support was Phil Moreland, colored heavyweight on the Kansas City Star team, who makes his Tournament of Champions debut tonight.

The 195 pound Philip comes up to tonight's battling with a real fighting background. His father, 80 years old, was a sparring partner of James J. Jeffries in the early days of the latter's career. Phil is only 17 himself, and is one of 16 children, including 5 brothers and 10 sisters. A waiter in the dining room at Wentworth Military academy in Lexington, Mo., young Moreland is now in his first year as a boxer. He won his 13th bout in the finals of the Kansas City tourney from Willie Hayes, former New York Golden Glover who is now stationed at a Missouri army post. Hayes, by the way, had eliminated Al Jordan, finalist in last year's Golden Gloves and National AAU tournaments. His trainer is Joe Sandels of Richmond, Mo., who yesterday praised

PLACE—Chicago Stadium, 1800 West Madison street.

TIME—First bout at 7:30 p. m.

CONTESTANTS—Amateur boxers of the 147, 160, 175, and heavyweight classes from a field of 304 entries who are survivors of tournaments conducted in Chicago and 37 out of town centers.

BOXERS' INSTRUCTIONS—Fighters of 147, 160, 175, and heavyweight classes report in CYO gymnasium at noon for weighing and physical examination.

ADMISSION—Reserved seats at $1.10, 75 cents and 50 cents on sale at Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower lobby until 6 p. m. or at Gate 2 of the Stadium after 10 a. m. Balcony general admission tickets 30 cents.

RADIO BROADCAST—W-G-N at 10:45 p. m. tonight and tomorrow with Bob Elson giving ringside accounts.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions, boxing's most entertaining variety show, opened last night in the Stadium amid the thud of punches on a three ring scale.

From 7 o'clock until nearly midnight the best amateur fighters of Chicago and 37 out of town centers pounded away. The lights glinted upon colorful uniforms from all over the vast Golden Gloves territory, which includes 23 states from which contestants are drawn by newspapers, radio stations, and army camps cooperating with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Boxers of the four lighter weights performed last night. Now it's the turn of the boys in the 147, 160, 175 pound and heavyweight classes. They'll join in the battle tonight in a show which is expected to match in speed and exceed in power the display which was put on by the smaller youngsters.

Three Chicagoans Lose.

Chicago's fighters experienced one of the most disastrous opening nights of many seasons. In three out of the four divisions they were beaten. Harold Dade alone, Chicago's representative in the 118 pound class, was left in the battle at the conclusion of the evening engagements.

Dade encountered a sturdy, determined youngster from Milwaukee named Juste Fontaine. They fought almost on even terms thru the early stages but eventually it was Dade's superior experience which decided it.

Meanwhile Al Noto, Elbert Adams, and Bob Dorgan, Chicago's representatives in the 112, 126, and 135 pound classes, were being eliminated.

St. Louis Wins Five Bouts.

St. Louis, Cleveland, and Minneapolis made the strongest showings, each sending all four of its representatives thru their engagements in the 112, 118, 126, and 135 pound classes. In accomplishing this, the St. Louis boys were forced to win five bouts for the best record of the evening. Cleveland and Minneapolis teams each accounted for four victories.

The honor roll of St. Louis fighters who blazed so brilliant a record consists of Ralph Berrera, Charles Riley, Ed Hemenway, and Julius Menendez.

The Cleveland squad which strode so doughtily thru the first night of fighting included the boy who conquered Chicago's favorite, Dorgan. This was James Walker, a rugged,

THE HEAT IS ON!

And the going is as tough as it only can be in Golden Gloves. Tonight and tomorrow night the lights glare down on three rings in Chicago Stadium where the nation's finest amateur boxers are battling their way farther along the trail to Golden Gloves. It's Tournament of Champions time, that season in the boxing year packed with thrills enough to last you another 12 months. They're eager, they can punch, and they can take it, too. Don't miss this great show!

You still can get tickets at the Tribune Public Service offices from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at 1 South Dearborn street or in Tribune Tower lobby. Tickets also will be on sale at the Stadium at Gate 2, Madison street, starting at 10 a. m. General admission tickets will be placed on sale at 7 p. m. at Gates 1, 3 and 6. These tickets are for the first and second balconies. Tournament of Champions prices:

TONIGHT
50 cents, 75 cents and $1.10
TOMORROW
75 cents, $1.10 and $1.65

RETRIEVERS ADD A BRIGHT NOTE TO SPORTS SHOW

Shore Event Gives Casters a Test of Skill.

BY BOB BECKER.

Frank Hogan of Barrington, Ill., and his troupe of trained Labrador retrievers last night participated in the International Sportsmen's show for the first time since the show opened Saturday.

Hogan's dogs were one of the hits of last year's show, but were not put on the program this year because Hogan was scheduled to go into army service this month. This week he was notified that he would not be called to service until April, so he rounded up his Labradors and started regular performances. His act will be a part of the show each afternoon and evening until March 1. There are two floor shows given at the amphitheater every day, one at 3:30 p. m. and the second at 9 p. m.

Tyke Is a Life Saver.

The dogs which perform in Hogan's act are not merely exhibition dogs. They have won numerous awards in field trials all over the country and have been used for retrieving ducks, pheasants, and other game in the field.

Tyke, the black Labrador which is one of the stars of Hogan's troupe, is one of the few dogs in the middle west trained for life saving work. This 80 pound animal is such a strong swimmer he can "retrieve" a drowning man and tow him to shore.

First place in The Tribune's shore casting event last night was won by Milton Huguelet, 3253 North Oakley avenue, with score of 96. Second place went to Bob Cammack, 3913 North Kedvale avenue, with score of 93. Steve Tures, 4948 Kennedy avenue, East Chicago, Ind., and Layman Caliban, 10701 avenue F, Chicago, tied for third with scores of 92.

More Than 40 Compete.

Contestants were required to make some of their casts from a sitting position as if they were fishing from a boat and trying to throw a lure at a spot that would produce a game fish.

More than 40 Chicagoland fishermen and casters took part in this shore event last night, the only contest of its kind in any casting tournament in the middle west.

WISCONSIN WINS FROM CHICAGO MATMEN, 16-14

Two dollar mutuels paid: The Rhymer, $6.40 straight, $3.70 place, $3.30 show; Ship Biscuit, $9.90 place, $6.10 show; Arestino, $6.10 show.

THE RHYMER well ridden. He was kept in a good position to the far turn where he was sent up, came in between horses in final furlong, took lead but was ridden out at end. SHIP BISCUIT well up all the way, made a game effort. ARESTINO closed gamely. IN QUESTION was taken wide around turn and tired in stretch. LASSATOR had speed for seven furlongs then tired.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $1,200. Four year olds and up. One mile and a furlong. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 5:10. Off at 5:10½. Winner, b. f., 4, by Jamestown-Keepsake, by Delhi. Owner, R. J. Randolph. Trainer, N. Ray. Net value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:52 2-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Jimson Belle, $22.10 straight, $8.40 place, $5.40 show; Mr. Grundy, $3.80 place, $3.30 show; Hornblende, $8.10 show.

JIMSON BELLE, under good handling, followed pace close to stretch, took lead and just lasted to win. MR. GRUNDY was pounds the best. He was bumped at start and trailed far back to top of lane then closed with a rush and would have won in a few more strides. HORNBLENDE ran a good race. ONE TIP quit badly. BUFFLHEAD tired badly.

EIGHTH RACE—Purse $1,200. Four year olds and up. One mile and a furlong. Start good. Won driving, place easily. Went to post at 5:40. Off at 5:41½. Winner, lt. ch. g., 5, by Gen. Two dollar mutuels paid: Hill's Palm, $10.80 straight, $4.40 place, $3.80 show; Border's Boy, $3.40 place, $3.00 show; Migal Fay, $9.90 show.

HILL'S PALM away good, was blocked several times but finally got thru on inside then came around BORDER'S BOY and closed fast. BORDER'S BOY had good early speed, made a game effort. MIGAL FAY ran a good race. KING'S ERROR closed very fast.

DIXIE WALKER REACHES TERMS WITH DODGERS

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—The list of unsigned Brooklyn baseball Dodgers dwindled to two today as Fred [Dixie] Walker, veteran outfielder, came to terms with Larry MacPhail in a telephone conversation from Birmingham, Ala. Walker's salary was not announced. He told MacPhail he would leave immediately by plane for the Dodger camp in Havana.

Boland Leaves Purdue; Takes Radio Position

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 23 [Special].—Joe Boland, Purdue university football coach who was in charge of the Boilermaker line last fall, announced today that he had submitted his resignation to the university board of trustees in order to accept a position as sports broadcaster for station WSBT in South Bend, Ind.

Boland, third member of the Purdue staff to resign within the last week, joined the Boilermaker football forces a year ago after serving as line coach at Notre Dame for seven years. While at Notre Dame he also held a part time position as sports broadcaster at WSBT.

Boland's resignation followed closely the announcement last Wednesday that A. H. [Mal] Elward, head football coach, was relinquishing his post to return to the navy as a lieutenant, junior grade. Saturday, G. H. [Herb] Duggins, former Purdue star who has been end coach for the last two seasons, accepted a position as line coach at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Boland's resignation reduced the Boilermaker varsity football staff to Guy [Red] Mackey, M. H. [Mel] Taube, and Sam Voinoff, all former Purdue stars.

The board of trustees is expected to take action within the next week on the selection of a new athletic director and head football coach. Before Elward's resignation, the board announced that the duties of athletic director and coach were to be separated.

12 YANKEES OPEN DRILL, WATCHED BY 12 HOLDOUTS

Champions Off to Worst Start in 18 Years.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—A skeleton crew of 12 New York Yankees shivered thru the world champions' first workout of the 1942 season today with an equal number of holdout players watching the drill from the stands. The chilly weather and the long list of holdouts combined to make it the worst start of a Yankee squad in the 18 years of training here.

Of the dozen players in uniform, seven were pitchers, three catchers and two outfielders, George Selkirk and Mike Chartak.

CASEY SAYS HE'S REFORMED.

HAVANA, Feb. 23 (AP).—Hugh Casey, the huge moundsman who won 14 while losing 11 for the Brooklyn Dodgers last year, is determined he is going to have a better season during 1942.

Casey, used mostly in relief rôles, admitted he weighed 222 at the close of the world series but now is down to 208 and hopes that he will have shed three more pounds when the New York Giants arrive Saturday for their two game series.

Don Padgett, Jack Graham, Arky Vaughan, and Billy Herman did some long distance clouting off the offerings of Curt Davis, Johnny Allen, and Bob Chipman.

MIZE, TWO MATES SIGN.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—Business Manager Bill Terry was the busiest man in the New York Giant spring training camp today, signing First Baseman Johnny Mize, Infielder Joe Orengo, and Pitcher Harry Feldman to 1942 contracts. No details of the salary to be paid Mize, purchased during the winter from the St. Louis Cardinals to add zest to the Giants' attack, were announced.

In the afternoon workout, Mize was on first, Mickey Witek at second, Billy Werber at third, while Dick Bartell and Orengo alternated at short.

REDS' BATTERYMEN DRILL.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—Cincinnati Reds' battery men today got the best workout of three in which they have engaged since opening of spring training, thanks to a mechanical hurler and a couple of hours of fungo hitting by Manager Bill McKechnie and coaching staff. Pitcher Les Hinckle and Third Baseman Bert Haas reported for action—Haas a full four days ahead of time.

CARDS SIGN BRECHEEN.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 22 (AP).—Pitcher Harry Brecheen signed his contract today, but too late to participate in the St. Louis Cardinals' first spring workout.

Other pitchers who missed the drill because of unsigned contracts were Harry Gumbert, Max Lanier, and Murray Dickson, and Manager Billy Southworth was advised Henry Nowak, right hander from the New Orleans club, would be lost to the army next Monday.

The battery men went thru a two and one-quarter hour drill today. The entire squad is not due until Friday.

SKEETER NEWSOME SIGNS.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23 (AP).—Receipt of the signed contract of Lamar [Skeeter] Newsome, a utility infielder, was announced tonight as Boston Red Sox officials prepared to entrain for the spring training camp at Sarasota, Fla.

Club officials, coaches, and baseball writers will depart early tomorrow morning and Manager Joe Cronin will put his battery squads thru their initial paces Thursday.

Four players remained unsigned—Pitchers Ken Chase, obtained from Washington; Tex Hughson, recalled from Louisville; Mike Ryba, the iron man relief hurler, and Frankie Pytlak, first string catcher.

HARRIS PICKS PITCHERS.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators at this early date is counting on Sid Hudson, Dutch Leonard, Jack Wilson, Early Wynn, and Walter Masterson to be his starting pitchers this season.

"Naturally, I'm starting with an open mind," Harris said, "but I must operate with a goal in view and that's the setup."

Mention of Masterson as a starter was a little surprising; the tall hurler in three seasons with the Senators has won only nine games.

They'll Call 'Em Again in A. L.

Harry Geisel. William McGowan. John Quinn. Edward Rommel.
William Summers. Cal Hubbard. Steve Basil. Art Passarella.
Ernest Stewart. William Grieve. Joe Rue. George Pipgras.

Above are the 12 men who were announced yesterday as comprising the American league's staff of umpires for the 1942 season. All are holdovers from last year.

A. L. Names Umpire Staff; All Holdovers

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The American league managers won't have to await even one introduction this spring before beginning to pop off to umpires about decisions which might not be strictly correct. Introductions will not be necessary because the entire staff, as announced yesterday by President Will Harridge, is a holdover from last season.

The name of Emmett [Red] Ormsby, who retired last fall, is missing but his place was not filled, leaving 12 instead of 13 judges under the direction of Umpire-in-Chief Tommy Connolly. Thirteen were carried last season because of the uncertainty about the work of two newcomers—Art Passarella and Ernie Stewart—but they weathered their freshman course with ease, thus earning contracts for the 1942 jousting.

McGowan, Geisel Co-Deans.

The retirement of Ormsby left vacant the title of "dean" of the guessing department but in due time William A. McGowan and Harry Geisel may be able to decide where the honor belongs. They came into the league the same year but one may have been signed an hour, a day or more before the other. The complete staff is as follows:

William A. McGowan, Harry Geisel, Steve Basil, William Grieve, Cal Hubbard, George Pipgras, John Quinn, Edward Rommel, William Summers, Joe Rue, Art Passarella, and Ernest Stewart.

Assignment of umpires for spring exhibitions hasn't been completed but at least two already have received their travel orders. Stewart will start out with the White Sox and George Pipgras with the Athletics. They'll switch places in mid-March.

Report Goletz Enlists.

The White Sox may be without Stanley Goletz when the first squad starts for the Pasadena, Cal., training camp tomorrow noon. At the moment the big southpaw from the Oklahoma City club is listed as "whereabouts unknown." A letter to him from the club bounced back with a notation that he left no forwarding address. Yesterday Secretary Joe Barry learned thru an indirect source the lad had enlisted in the army, but no official notice has been received.

Including Coaches Mule Haas, Bing Miller and Muddy Ruel, and Trainer Eddie Froelich, there will be about 25 in the White Sox party leaving aboard the Santa Fe Chief. Bill Dietrich already is in camp, Ted Lyons is driving from his home at Vinton, La., and Johnny Humphries will go direct from New Orleans, possibly after a delay caused by an addition to his family. Catchers George Dickey and Tom Turner and First Baseman Murrell Jones from the Shreveport club also will travel direct to the training base.

Consolation: It Can't Happen to Our Hawks Again

What recently shouldn't have happened to the Blackhawks—three straight road defeats by Detroit, Montreal, and New York—won't happen again this year, if that's any consolation to Chicago hockey fans.

It can't happen because the Hawks have no additional three game road sojourns on their schedule. They will play four games away and four at home before the playoffs, leading off with a return bout with the Canadiens in the Stadium Thursday night. The Hawks will then play the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night and hop back home to meet the Leafs again in the Stadium Sunday night.

Two of the Hawks' cripples—Art Wiebe and Cully Dahlstrom—expect to return to work Thursday, but the third, Willie Mosineko, probably will not play for another 10 days.

Manager Paul Thompson has decided to give the Hawks this afternoon off—partly because the boys need the rest, partly in reward for their achievements of last week-end. No, the Hawks didn't beat the Canadiens Saturday nor the Rangers Sunday, but the five goals they accumulated in their losing efforts did break the all-time 118 goal record established by the 1934-'35 outfit.

FIELD OF 2,000 FOR STATE MEET AIM OF BOWLERS

300 Aurora Teams Will Seek Title.

The Illinois Bowling association is shooting for a record entry of 2,000 or more teams for its 45th annual tournament on the Sylvandell recreation alleys, Aurora, starting April 10. Secretary Al Sindelar already has received assurances that Aurora will supply 300 teams; Joliet, 68; Elgin, 50; Peoria, 30; Ottawa, 12, and Waukegan, 25, in addition to the numerous Chicago teams. Entries, which close March 21, are being taken by Jim Kalivoda at the I. B. A. headquarters, Room 1514 at 32 West Randolph street.

The 14th American women's tournament, which is to open Saturday at Bowling Lanes and Playdium, will be the largest women's bowling event of all time. The total entry is 25,214 and the prize list will be in excess of $25,000 plus merchandise. The team entry will total 2,014, an increase of 28 per cent over last year's total. The entry also lists more than 7,000 doubles and 7,500 singles.

The Polish-American Bowling association announces joint men's and women's tournaments, the 15th annual in the men's sequence and the first in the women's, will be held March 28 to May 3 in the Congress Arcade, 2047 Milwaukee avenue, with entries closing March 21. Dr. M. J. Kutz and Lucille Drzewicki both of Chicago, are men's and women's presidents, respectively.

The Mineralites fired their third successive big series in the circuit by rolling 3,231 to whip the John Tomans in three games in the Windy City Major league last night. Bud Wright, who has boosted his average from 196 to 205 in five weeks, paced the Mineralites with a 685 series.

BIG BOYS BATTLE IN TOURNEY OF CHAMPS TONIGHT

Three Chicagoans Lose; Dade Triumphs.

hard pounding lightweight. His teammates are Leroy Jackson, Chuck Hunter, and Sammy Derrico.

The Minneapolis squad which still is intact is made up of Matt Hammond, Jack Graves, Tom Sperling, and Bill Franczak.

Texans Lose Two Boys.

Fort Worth, the team which sent three boys all the way thru the Tournament of Champions last year, lost two representatives last night. But Morris Corona still is in there punching and so is Arlo Roye. Both are veterans of Golden Gloves competition. Corona was forced to the limit of his skill last night to beat Leonard Patton, Gary lightweight. The decision was exceptionally close.

Roy Lewis of Muncie, Ind., a 1940 champion, looked better than ever in his bout last night. He scored a quick knockout over Richard Douglas of Quincy.

Cleveland, which won the welterweight and heavyweight titles last year, will send out Bobby Richardson and George Roscoe, respectively, tonight, in defense of these championships. Roscoe is a farm boy with a reputation for hitting power.

The Peoria team will have a pair of Bradley college boys in the ring tonight. These are Roy Nelson, a light heavyweight, and Ralph Nelson, a heavyweight.

Stephens Is Durable.

Streator has a heavyweight who is supposed to be particularly hard to handle—John Perzel. This delegation also is pretty high on the chances of its 175 pound representative, Bert Yount, who works for a tractor company.

One of Chicago's sturdiest representatives, Harry Stephens, will make his first appearance in Tournament of Champions competition tonight. Fighting from a southpaw stance he's likely to be very difficult to deal with. And even if he does get hit, it may not matter because he's already demonstrated his ability to take a tremendous amount of punishment and still come back to win.

The field for the Tournament of Champions numbered more than 300 when the fighting began last night. By the time the last blows fall tomorrow only 32 boys will remain unbeaten. These 32 will disperse to their home towns where they will continue training—and they'll be back again on March 6 for the semi-finals and finals in the Stadium.

DUQUESNE FIVE HANDS DE PAUL 36 TO 35 DEFEAT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 23 [Special].—Duquesne university's Dukes, held to 12 points in the first half, doubled that figure in the second to defeat De Paul tonight, 36 to 35. It was the first time in three meetings that the Dukes had beaten the Demons. Lineup:

AAA CANCELS ALL RACES FOR WAR'S DURATION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The American Automobile association announced today that all official automobile racing activities under the sanction of the AAA contest board would be canceled for the duration of the war.

The primary reason, the association said, was the fact that the war effort is vitally in need both of the rubber, fuel, and strategic materials used in racing, and of the full time efforts of the highly skilled young man power represented by the racing fraternity.

LAWRENCE BEATS RIPON, 41 TO 35, ON FREE THROWS

Ripon, Wis., Feb. 23 [Special].—Lawrence defeated Ripon, 41 to 35, in the final game of the season here tonight. Lawrence led, 21 to 20, at the half. Superior free throw accuracy won for Lawrence, the winners making 11 in 12 attempts. Ripon collected 7 in 14 tries. Miller, Lawrence forward, led the scoring with 16 points.

PRIVATE OLIVER (GOLFER) WEDS LIEUT. (NURSE)

Fort Dix, N. J., Feb. 23 [Special].—The private married the lieutenant today when Private First Class Edward S. [Porky] Oliver, nationally known golfing star, took Second Lieut. Clara E. Hee, an army nurse of Allegany, N. Y., as his bride. Both are stationed at the Tilton General hospital, Fort Dix.

North Central Wins; Ties Millikin for First Place

North Central moved into a tie with Millikin for first place in the Illinois college conference last night by trouncing Wheaton, 78 to 43, at Wheaton. Wedsworth and Anderson of North Central scored 17 points each. Baptist was high for Wheaton with 13 points. Wheaton frosh defeated the North Central freshmen, 34 to 31, in the preliminary game.

WHERE SOME SUCCEEDED, OTHERS FAILED

Another Tournament of Champions, the 15th, is on! Skillful youngsters arrayed against each other in three rings last night as the three day show got under way in the Stadium. Boxers in the four heavier weight divisions will be in continuous action tonight in three battle pits.

Corp. Bud Weiser crams the fighting fists of Private Con Schuemperli into gloves for the latter's first round fight in the lightweight class. They're from Camp Polk, La.

Phil Moreland —There Is a Boxer for You

his charge's stamina and his ability to deliver punishing body blows.

Moreland isn't the only competitor with a boxing background. Ralph Rockenbach, St. Bede's student who will carry the welterweight hopes of the Streator Times Press, is a nephew of Jimmy Connors of Springfield, Ill., one of the best flyweights in the game at the turn of the century.

One of the most interesting father-and-son combinations in the history of the tournament will be seen this evening. The fighting will be done by Bill Marshall, 147 pounder from the Minneapolis Star-Journal team. The cheering will be handled by a tall gentleman known as Bobby Marshall, still active enough to merit the nickname with which he distinguished himself in football at the University of Minnesota. Marshall Père starred for the Gophers as an end on the 1904-'05-'06 elevens. It was he who kicked the field goal that defeated Walter Eckersall and Chicago's Maroons in 1904. Mr. Marshall played professional football until he was 56 years of age. Last year, at the age of 60, he managed to work in a couple of chores as baseball catcher on a Minnesota town nine.

Fist Dever, Grand Rapids Press lightweight, went into action last night probably the happiest and most inspired man in the tournament. He had received word that he was a father and that wife and child, both in a Grand Rapids hospital, were doing well.

Siggy Landers, professional middleweight, and Al Braverman, heavyweight who served as a sparmate for Lou Nova for the latter's conquest of Max Baer, are serving as co-trainers of the soldier fighters from Camp Livingston, La.

One of the shortest heavyweights in this evening's competition will be Bill Jackman of Camp Polk, La., who stands only 5 feet 10 inches but weighs 205 pounds. Chuck McCarthy, former professional fighter from Chicago, trainer of the boxers of the 3d armored division at Camp Polk, says Jackman is a roughhouse battler who will make things interesting for his rivals. The Camp Polk standard bearers, whose chaplain, Lieut. Walter Ryan, accompanied the delegation, have established quarters at the United Service organizations' headquarters in the Elks club at Madison and Wells streets.

Of the 156 fighters to be examined at Catholic Youth organization center gymnasium yesterday afternoon, only eight were rejected, Dr. William Rothman, head of THE TRIBUNE's staff of physicians, reported last night. These included Pat Roberts, Memphis Commercial Appeal bantamweight; Jimmy South, Kansas City Star lightweight; Stanley Olson, Omaha World Herald lightweight; Diego Hidalgo, 135 pounds, and Bill Morris, 110, of the Burlington Hawkeye Gazette; Andy Franks, Joliet Spectator featherweight; Bill Taylor, Springfield, Ill., State Register, and Don Vogel, 118 pounder of radio station KSO, Sioux Falls, S. D.

Private First Class Jim Lynch, Camp Polk, La., light heavyweight, is a member of the 28d engineers, under Sergt. Howard Kelly, Mayor Kelly's nephew.

One of the biggest upsets of the evening occurred when Tom Sperling of the Minneapolis Star Journal eliminated Elbert Adams of Chicago in a featherweight encounter.

James Shepard of Memphis, who is attached to the army air corps at Jackson, Miss., is believed to be the only southpaw in the light heavyweight division and is all ready for the best in his weight class this evening, including Charley Crump, Trafton's gymnasium color bearer, who is favored to succeed Hezzie Williams as 175 pound title holder. Such professionals as Lem Franklin, Tony Zale, Booker Beckwith, Jimmy Bivins, Nate Bolden, and Altus Allen, all of whom have distinguished themselves in previous Golden Gloves tournaments, have predicted Crump will be hard to beat.

For a spell there last night, three of the spectators in the front pew, on the Warren avenue side became so engrossed in drawing pictures that they forgot to look at the bouts. The impromptu artists, of course, were designing football plays, and why not? The trio included Bob Zuppke, Illinois' retired coach; Charley Bachman of Michigan State, and Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin. They presently were interrupted by the arrival of Dr. Eddie Anderson, coach of Iowa, and E. G. [Dad] Schroeder, the Hawkeye athletic director, and a few minutes later, Frank Leahy, coach of Notre Dame's undefeated 1941 Irish, joined them. Later Tom Stidham and Con Jennings, head coach and athletic director, respectively, of Marquette, came in to cheer the Milwaukee entry.

The collegians held no corner on the football picture, for the National Football league was well represented by George Halas of the Champion Bears; Charley Bidwill of the Cardinals, and Fred Mandel of the Detroit Lions. Baseball had its man in Tom Sheehan, manager of the Minneapolis Millers.

Joining the above sports celebrities in the annual Golden Gloves party which followed last night's bouts in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House were Maj. Bernie Bierman of the marines and Minnesota; Fritz Crisler of Michigan; Mal Elward, who recently left Purdue to rejoin the Navy; Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National league, and the Northwestern foursome of Tug Wilson, Lynn Waldorf, Burt Ingwersen, and Wesley Fry.

That sportsmanship is part of the Golden Gloves pattern was proved in convincing form in an incident which began during the Chicago tournament in the Coliseum, and concluded last night. In the Chicago finals, Leonard Stalker was rejected in the 147 pound novice class because of an injured hand. The championship medal was awarded to his opponent, James Williams, by default. The latter said he would accept the medal only on condition that Stalker get his hand in shape and box him in a carry-over bout on last night's program. The bout was held last night, and the medal is now officially the property of Williams, who knocked out Stalker in the second round.

FRANKLIN RULES 5 TO 8 FAVORITE OVER BOB PASTOR

Victor Tonight May Fight Louis in Summer.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 23 (AP).—The winning streaks of the two heavyweight contenders, Bob Pastor and Lem Franklin, will collide tomorrow night and out of the ten round collision the winner may get a midsummer night's dream with Joe Louis—if they're still dreaming this summer.

Franklin is the 5 to 8 choice among the local price makers.

The fistic faithful are flocking 'round in large numbers for the festivities. With some $44,000 in advance sales already in the strong box, the promoters wouldn't be surprised if some 13,000 cash customers cram the arena and kick in to a gross gate of $55,000 by the 10:30 p. m. [EWT] post time tomorrow.

19 in Row for Franklin.

Franklin has won 19 in a row since 1939 and Pastor has taken 10 straight since he bowed to Billy Conn in September, 1940. Some time after Louis' scheduled chore with Conn in June, Mike Jacobs is figuring on an outdoor extravaganza, with possibly the army, navy, and marines cutting in. The fellow on whom Louis tries his target practice on that occasion may very well step up front and center here tomorrow.

Pastor Wants Some More.

Pastor already has had two cracks at Louis, riding his bicycle to go the 10 round route once and coming up off the floor six times to last 11 rounds the second time. However, in the last 17 months he has operated successfully on such subjects as Turkey Thompson, Booker Beckwith, and Gus Lesnevich.

AMERICAN TENNIS PLAYER INTERNED BY JAPANESE

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 23 (AP).—Philip Harmon, 21 year old Berkeley, Cal., tennis player, was among those interned by the Japanese after the fall of Hongkong, a representative of the United China relief committee said today. He was advised by a telegram from Shiukwan.

Loyola Deals Omaha Five 48-29 Defeat

Loyola won its 16th basketball victory of the season by defeating the University of Omaha, 48 to 29, at Loyola last night. Capt. Mickey Rottner scored eight baskets and one free throw to run his season's total to 282 points.

Both teams played cautiously for the first 10 minutes, scoring only six points apiece. Rottner pushed in 11 points in the second half of the period to give Loyola a 25 to 15 half-time lead.

In the second half Loyola continued to pull away and controled play until the end of the game. Mike Dougherty, who had been out of action for three weeks, started the contest and showed evidence of his lay-off. He scored only three points.

The Loyola freshmen defeated the Navy Pier Sailors, 15 to 14, in a preliminary contest. Lineup:

LOYOLA [48].	B	F	P	OMAHA [29].	B	F	P

Loras Beats Parsons, 58-44, for 7th Conference Victory

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 23 [Special].—Loras tonight won its seventh Iowa conference basketball game by defeating Parson, 58 to 44. It was Parsons' seventh conference loss against five victories. Loras has lost three league games. The Dubuque team led at the half, 29 to 24. Gerald Wagner of Parsons scored 20 points with eight baskets and four free throws.

Notre Dame to Battle Butler Five Tonight

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 23 [Special].—Several aims will motivate Notre Dame's basketball team in its game against Butler here tomorrow night. It will be the final home game of the year, and the last at home in Notre Dame uniform for Capt. Art Pope, Chicago guard; Frank Quinn, Indianapolis center, and George Sobek, Hammond, Ind., forward.

The Irish will be after their eighth straight victory in a chain that started after Butler's 49 to 43 victory in Indianapolis. The Bulldogs are the only team to defeat Notre Dame in its last 12 starts.

Capt. Wilbur Schumacher, who has been out recently with a bad shoulder, scored 21 points in Butler's victory last month, and the Irish, who held him to one field goal in the second half, are anxious to apply the same treatment tomorrow night. Schumacher returned to action in Butler's victory over De Pauw Saturday scoring eight points. The Bulldogs played without substitution in the previous Notre Dame game. Lineup:

SALE OF 12 GAUGE SHOTGUN BARRED BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The government called a halt today on deliveries of 12 gauge shotguns for sporting use, in order to make the weapons available for war plant protection and guard duties.

Manufacturers of the 12 gauge gun favored by duck hunters as well as by law enforcement officers were forbidden to sell them except to federal, state, and local governments, and to the lend-lease countries.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

IDLE ALUMINUM ORDERED SOLD TO U. S. AGENCY

Sale or Seizure Is Edict of WPB.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The War Production board today notified 500 manufacturers using aluminum to surrender idle inventories or face seizure by the government. J. S. Knowlson, director of WPB industries operations division, said he expected this move to provide 20 million pounds of the metal, enough to produce 1,300 warplanes.

J. S. Knowlson.

A price schedule ranging from 18 to 50 cents a pound was announced for requisitioning this material.

The Metals Reserve company, subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has designated the Federated Metals division of the American Smelting and Refining company as its agent in this roundup.

Ban 12 Gauge Shotgun Sales.

The WPB also issued orders today to manufacturers of sporting fire arms directing that no further deliveries of 12 gauge shotguns be made except to agencies and offices of the federal, state, and local governments, for official use, and to the governments of the lend-lease countries.

The shotguns are wanted for war plant protection and for other local guard duties. The order further specified that equipment for manufacturing the 12 gauge gun shall not be used for making any other size shotgun and that production of other gauges shall be curtailed to not more than 50 per cent of the 1940 output.

All stocks of chlorinated rubber were frozen by the WPB. The principal civilian uses are swimming pool paint, for fast drying paint finishes, and for treatment of fabrics and papers for resistance to chemicals and greases.

There were reports today that the WPB is about to cancel March quotas for production of medium and heavy trucks for civilian uses. The rubber shortage is the main reason.

NO MORE REFRIGERATORS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The War Production board today issued a stop order on refrigerator manufacturing effective April 30, and asked that production meanwhile be restricted to simple models pending complete conversion of the industry to war production.

The order permits manufacture of 489,000 domestic mechanical refrigerators up to April 30, but their sale is prohibited pending rationing for military and essential civilian use. Retail sales already have been curbed. Each dealer has been notified he may sell 100 refrigerators from stock, or 1-12 of his 1941 sales, counting from 10 a. m. eastern war time, Feb. 14, and that the freeze order applies automatically to any stocks remaining after these sales are made.

The refrigerators produced up to April 30, plus those already frozen in warehouses and in the hands of manufacturers, will provide a stock pile of about 750,000 units which will be available only for military requirements and uses essential to public health and safety.

PREMIUM TOTAL OF STATE FARM AUTO IS RECORD

A. H. Rust, executive vice president and treasurer of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance company, Bloomington, Ill., reported yesterday the company wrote $25,046,672 automobile premiums in 1941. This was more than any casualty company ever before wrote in one year and nearly 7 million dollars above the company's 1941 record, he said.

Rust made this statement to the more than 2,500 agents of the State Farm Insurance companies at their convention in the Stevens hotel. The convention marks the opening of the 20th anniversary year of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance company and celebrates the conclusion of the best year in its history.

Rust said premiums of the State Farm Fire Insurance company totaled $1,012,155 last year, a gain of 39 per cent over 1940. The State Farm Life Insurance company made a 29 per cent increase in the amount of insurance in force, he said, lifting the total to $86,345,380.

7 Billion Tax Boost Hearing Starts March 3

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Hearings on the nation's biggest tax bill, to obtain 7 billion dollars in new levies, will begin on March 3, the eve of the ninth anniversary of the New Deal, it was announced today.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. will unveil the administration's tax plans at that time before the house ways and means committee. He will be followed by other fiscal officials. In the following week, beginning March 9, the committee is expected to hear representatives of industry and the public.

An increase of 2 billion dollars in social security taxes, in addition to the 7 billions in other new levies, will be considered later in a separate bill expected to involve expansion of the social security program. The total of 9 billions in additional taxes will push the annual tax bill to approximately 27 billion dollars, the highest in American history.

No Change in Budget Figure.

Secretary Morgenthau told newspaper men today that there has been no change from the budget estimate of the new taxes needed in the 1943 fiscal year to help finance the war program. He said the estimates also take into consideration the possibility that millions of taxpayers will be lost to the government by going into the armed forces.

"It will be the privilege of those who stay behind to make up the difference," he said. "The noncombatants must pay heavier taxes to make up for the loss from men going into the army and navy."

He said that the administration is still opposed to enactment of a general sales tax, thereby indicating there is little likelihood that sanction for such a tax will come from the treasury, altho there is growing sentiment in congress for this tax as an easy method of raising part of the new revenues.

Will Meet With Doughton.

Morgenthau is scheduled to confer later this week with Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, and Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the senate finance committee, on the prospective tax program.

George has favored some new form of taxation such as a sales tax or withholding tax on salaries to finance the war program rather than any sharp boost in existing rates on corporation and individual income.

George has expressed the opinion that the basic policy of excess profits taxation will be retained. Under this policy in existing law a corporation is allowed to use a base of either average earnings for the years 1936-'39 or the rate of return on invested capital during those years, whichever is more advantageous.

Believes Exception Will Stand.

Meantime, Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], chairman of the special senate committee on taxing of government securities and salaries, said he believed congress would not remove tax exemption of outstanding state and municipal bonds.

In a letter to Edward J. Jeffries Jr., mayor of Detroit, Brown said, "I base this view upon the views of the special committee and on my talks with various members of congressional committees having charge of this legislation."

Brown said that he was "in general accord with what he understands to be the program of the treasury with respect to taxes, but he did not favor retroactive taxation of municipals nor the so-called wage deuction tax.

Steel Mills Lift Operating Rate Again for This Week

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Steel operations this week will be at the rate of 96.3 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. The rate compares with 96.2 per cent last week.

Food Containers Available

Tin Cans

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Deliveries of tin cans for home canning use will not be affected by the recent curtailment order, the War Production board announced today, because the government hopes that an increase in home preserving will relieve pressure on commercial canners.

Can manufacturers may sell home canning type cans to hardware stores and other distributors for resale to household users and institutions, WPB said.

It was estimated that not more than 50 million cans would be needed for home and institutional purposes in 1941, and that this number would require only about 100 tons of tin.

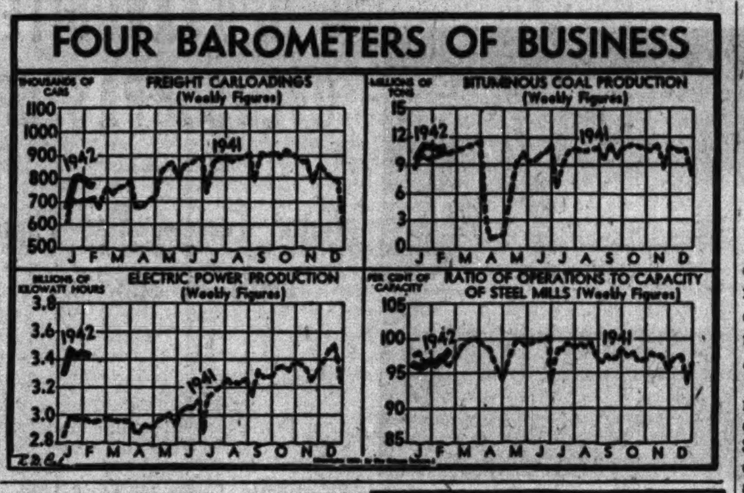
Kraut Barrels

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP).—If the cooperage industry has its way, you'll have sauerkraut with your spareribs—and that's no rib.

Faced with statements by Ohio kraut producers that tight cooperage facilities weren't available to replace tin cans lost in the national defense shuffle, the coopers in the person of Fred P. Hankerson, executive secretary of the Associated Cooperage Industries of America, arose with barrel staves rampant.

"We can furnish cooperage to pack every ounce of sauerkraut in Ohio," he asserted.

Hankerson, who said his organization represented 90 per cent of the coopers in the nation, declared that nearly five million more barrels could be made annually.



U. S. Synthetic Rubber Plans' Value Doubted

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Members of the special senate committee investigating the war production effort, headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], asserted today that the administration's synthetic rubber program offers little room for optimism.

Members revealed that Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, has set back until Jan. 1, 1944, the date for attaining an annual production of 400,000 tons of synthetic rubber. The $400,000,000 program announced by Jones on Jan. 12 called for a production rate of 400,000 tons a year by July 1, 1943.

Jones Sidesteps Blame.

According to committee members, representatives of the rubber industry express doubts that the goal can be attained by Jan. 1, 1944. The rosy figures announced by Jones are bad for the country, leaders of the industry testified, because they will encourage complacency. The United States has on hand some 600,000 tons of crude rubber, enough for its military requirements for about two years.

Members of the Truman committee blamed Jones for failing to build up a large rubber stockpile in anticipation of war and the loss of supplies from Malaya and the East Indies. However, they said Jones refused to shoulder the responsibility. They say he acknowledged that congress voted the money and authority to build up stockpiles of war materials, but did not order him to get the rubber.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has asserted that the 400,000 ton synthetic rubber program is "just a gleam in Jesse Jones' eye." Members of the committee said Henderson was just about right.

Uncertain as to Process.

The most discouraging aspect of the program, according to committee members, is the absence of any definitive information as to what process or processes to use. Neoplene will require for 200,000 tons of rubber several times the United States production of carbide and 90,000 tons of scarce chlorine, according to the committee's data. Perbunan will require 19,000 tons of nitrogen, which is required for munitions. The same amount of buna would require 18,000,000 gallons of benzol, half the annual production of the country.

CIO DISPUTES HALT WORK ON ARMS ORDERS

Granite City, Ill., Feb. 22 (AP).—The Granite City plant of American Steel Foundries, making armor plate and gun mounts, was closed today after the CIO Steel Workers Organizing Committee threw a picket line around the entrance to collect delinquent dues from 75 of its members.

In telegrams to government defense officials, company executives charged the action was in "direct violation" of the union contract and that "several hundred employés were forcibly prevented from working, which necessitated our suspending operations."

The company, which employs 2,300 men, has an open shop contract with the CIO union, which claims a membership of 2,000 employés.

Strike at Ohio Plant.

Columbus, O., Feb. 23 (AP).—A walkout of CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee unionists at the Ralston Steel Car company, manufacturing railroad cars needed to meet increasing war transport demands, was reported today by Howard Porter, SWOC subregional director.

Porter said 70 per cent of the 736 employés were affected and that production was at a standstill.

Transit Liens Revive on War Revenue Boom

BY ROBERT YOUNG.

Expanding industrial activity and prospective restriction of private automobile use have reawakened interest in traction securities, brokers reported yesterday. They said that the upswing in market activity and prices, beginning in the latter half of 1941, has been increasing with the growth in revenues of transportation companies.

Traction securities as a class have not been popular as investments in the last decade. The industry reached its peak during the first World war when the automobile was a minor transportation factor. Securities of the various street car and elevated companies were in demand in the 1920s, but the traction market entered an extended depression when the automobile began to cut more and more into passenger revenues.

Report Growing Demand.

Interest in transportation securities is the most active in eight years, brokers said. One broker reported he has received a steady flow of inquiries about traction securities from all sections of the country and added that "dealers are hungry for them."

The recent market revival is said to be based on the fact that generally higher operating expenses, including increased wages and taxes, have been favorably offset by a rapid rise in passenger revenue in the last year. The use of local and interurban transportation is closely allied with industrial and business employment.

Buyers of traction securities apparently believe that passenger revenues are large enough to insure substantial profits over an extended period.

Senior Bonds Favored.

In some instances it is predicted that the new prosperity will provide the basis for reorganization of companies which have been in receivership. The buyers reason that as a result securities, particularly senior bond isues, will increase sharply in value.

The improved earnings of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad are cited as an example of the new traction prosperity. The line serves the industrialized Chicago-Milwaukee region as well as Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes naval training station.

DECEASED'S EXEMPTION.

Would you please explain what personal exemption is allowed for a deceased person? Is it necessary for the executor or representatives of the deceased's estate to report the deceased's income on a special form?—L. E. M.

Answer: For income tax purposes, a deceased person is considered a single person from the date of his death to the end of the tax year. Altho the return of a decedent covers his income earned or accrued from the beginning of the tax year to the date of his death, the return is deemed to cover the entire year. Therefore, the deceased is allowed the full personal exemption even if he died during the first week of the year and a return was necessary.

In computing a decedent's personal exemption, the credit is prorated among the months of the year, according to the length of time the different credits were applicable—as in the case of a change from single to married status, or vice versa.

Thus, a married man who died July 1 would be allowed 6/12s of $750 [one half of the married person's $1,500 exemption] and 6/12s of the $750 single person's exemption for the period following his death, or a total of $750 for the full year. If his widow wished to do so, she could apply her share of a married couple's exemption for the six months preceding his death to her husband's income for a total of $1,125.

A special form is not required for reporting income of deceased persons. The regular individual form or, where applicable, the new optional form may be used. The decedent's name is entered, followed by the word "deceased." The return is signed by the person filing it.

INSURANCE DIVIDEND.

Are the dividends I receive on a life insurance policy taxable? The policy was written by a mutual company.—W. B.

Answer: Payments from a mutual life insurance company which are classed as dividends are not taxable. They are an adjustment of premiums paid.

UNPAID SALARY.

A former employer owes me a sum of money representing unpaid salary. He is insolvent and in 1941 I learned that I will never be able to collect. May I deduct this amount as a bad debt in reporting my income?—N. B. J.

Answer: You may not deduct this type of debt if you report your income on the cash basis. If you use the accrual method and reported your salary as income when it was due, altho not actually receiving it, and paid a tax on it, you may deduct the unpaid amount.

Earnings of 2 Large Chicago Concerns Rise

Slightly improved earnings for 1941 despite much larger tax bills were reported yesterday by two large Chicago corporations, Container Corporation of America and Fairbanks, Morse & Co.

Container corporation disclosed its net income last year was $2,327,177, equal to $2.98 a share, compared with $2,227,682, or $2.85 a share, in the preceding year. Before arriving at that amount the company had to provide $4,415,000 for federal income and excess profits taxes, against $1,187,000 in the preceding year.

President Walter P. Paepcke informed stockholders that net sales totaled $46,714,221, or 53 per cent more than the $30,464,677 in the preceding year. Unit volume was 24 per cent larger than in 1940, he said.

30 Per Cent for Defense.

"It is estimated 30 per cent of the product of our corporation is at present going into defense requirements," he declared. "As industry is swinging more and more into wartime production this percentage is already increasing a great deal. It is practically impossible to estimate how many of our company's containers finally find their way to cantonments, lend-lease shipments and consignments to our allies thruout the world."

Paepcke said some of the "more interesting" specialized packages developed are for army field rations for parachute troops and tank corps, lend-lease shipments of powdered as well as frozen eggs, various types of dehydrated foods and small arms ammunition.

Fairbanks Nets 2.9 Million.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. reported its 1941 net income was $2,920,618, equal to $4.87 a share, compared with $2,749,698, or $4.59 a share, in 1940. The 1941 net was after setting aside a special $750,000 reserve for protection against inventory losses and adjustments in eventual return to peacetime economy.

Provision for all taxes, except sales taxes, jumped to $6,834,608 in 1941 from $3,354,045 in 1940. Provision for federal income and excess profits levies was $2,767,359, against $2,408,000 in the preceding year.

President Robert H. Morse said "the greater part of the company's manufacturing capacity is devoted to defense work at present and the proportion is growing daily."

The report showed 1941 sales of $48,520,958 were the largest in the company's history.

TOP HOGS REGAIN PRICE PEAKS AS RECEIPTS SLUMP

Farmers drastically reduced hog supplies at all major packing centers again yesterday, forcing prices up 5 to 15 cents over last week's close. Top kinds regained all of the recent losses caused by the government warning to packers to keep live costs in line with what lend-lease buyers want to pay for pork. The $13.25 a hundred pounds top equaled last week's peak.

Only 14,000 hogs arrived at Chicago during the day, including direct shipments to packers. This was the smallest Monday total since last October.

Slaughter lambs declined 15 to 25 cents. Best steers and yearlings advanced 10 to 25 cents. Stronger prices weret paid for most other cattle.

Big Wrigley Sign on Times Square to Be Dismantled

The William Wrigley Jr. company sign on Times square, New York City, said to be the largest electric sign in the world, will be dismantled to conserve electric power, President Philip K. Wrigley announced yesterday. The sign, erected six years ago, includes 35,000 lamps and 1,084 feet of neon tubing and consumes enough electricity to light a city of 10,000 persons.

LACK OF FATS AND OILS IN '42 HELD UNLIKELY

But Bigger Output Needed Next Year.

America faces no shortage of fats and oils in 1942 but must conserve its present supplies for a possible deficiency in 1943, a survey of marketing interests disclosed yesterday.

Domestic demand for fats and oils in the next two years will be the largest in more than 20 years, the department of agriculture reports.

"Without increased domestic production, the United States would face a possible deficiency equivalent to 8 to 10 per cent of total requirements for fats as a result of curtailed imports of oilseeds and oils from the Pacific area," the department's bureau of agricultural economics says.

Need Increased Output.

"This deficiency probably could be covered by withdrawals from stocks on hand, but a material increase in domestic production will be needed if expected requirements are to be fully met in 1942-'43 and if stocks are to be maintained at a safe level."

Domestic consumption of fats and oils last year was approximately 11 billion pounds, a new record, compared with 9.7 billions in 1940, the previous record, the bureau reported. Estimated consumption of the principal fats and oils in the first nine months of 1941 included, in millions of pounds:

Butter, 1,369.3; lard, 1,009.4; tallow, 1,216.3; fish oil, 122.7; cottonseed oil, 1,242.3; linseed oil, 604.5; coconut oil, 540.2; soy bean oil, 425.8; palm oil, 227.2; corn oil, 128.1; peanut oil, 121.5; castor oil, 110.6; tung oil, 52.8; total all fats and oils, 7,529.1.

Domestic Output to Rise.

The bureau said that the revised acreage goals for 1942 crops provide for an expansion of more than a billion pounds in domestic production of vegetable oils. These included larger crops of peanuts, soy beans, flaxseed, and cotton.

If the goals are attained, the department of agriculture looks for a 600 million pound increase in the output of peanut oil. Soy bean oil production is expected to increase between 300 and 400 million pounds.

Dealers in fats and oils say the potential shortages are in oils for industrial uses and not in cooking fats. Industries likely to suffer are paint, glycerine, tinplate, textiles, and soap. The paint makers have had to find substitutes for tung and other drying oils while domestic flaxseed production has been insufficient to meet linseed oil requirements.

The soap makers have had their sources of olive oil almost entirely shut off. Coconut oil is used extensively in soap making as well as in the manufacture of oleomargarine and vegetable shortenings.

The bureau reported that the consumption of drying oils showed striking gains in the first nine months of 1941. Use of linseed oil was up 38 per cent. Dehydrated castor oil, used particularly as a substitute for tung oil, recorded a 78 per cent increase in consumption.

DELAY BUTTER TRADE.

Officials of the Chicago Mercantile exchange announced yesterday they had received word from the Commodity Exchange administration that trading in storage butter contracts for April or later delivery should be deferred until further notice. The CEA said it issued its announcement at the request of the Office of Price Administration, according to exchange officials. Trading in April butter contracts was scheduled to start tomorrow.

MARKETS REOPEN TODAY.

Security and commodity markets which were closed yesterday in observance of Washington's birthday will reopen today.

CENTRAL WEST MOTOR STAGES, INC.,
By WILLIAM RESNIK,
Its President.

STATE OF ILLINOIS.
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS.
DIVISION OF WATERWAYS.

Sealed proposals for furnishing all labor, services, equipment, materials and doing all work necessary for the construction of an overhead power cable with supporting bents and other appurtenances over the Illinois Waterway immediately down stream of the Brandon Road Bridge in Joliet, County of Will, State of Illinois, will be received by the State of Illinois, Department of Public Works and Buildings, Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe Street, Springfield, Illinois, until 10:00 A. M., Central War Time, March 5, 1942, and then publicly opened and read.

Among other items, the project includes the fabrication and erection of approximately 21,000 pounds of structural steel and 400 feet of electric power cable.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe Street, Springfield, Illinois, in the Chicago District Office, Room 1424, 188 West Randolph Street, Chicago, Illinois, and in the Lockport Office, 803 State street, Lockport, Illinois, where they may be obtained free of charge, by interested parties. The prevailing wages to be paid on said work are as listed in said specifications.

Application has been made for a priority rating on this project. The Division of Waterways will extend all possible aid to the successful bidder in obtaining necessary priorities.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Bank Cashier's Check or Bank Draft in the amount of at least ten [10] per cent of the total amount of the bid.

The State reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
